HERO'S JOURNEY

Before you become an Artist

KEY TAKE AWAYS

- I use this 4 step process to always turn a tribulation into triumph.
- This system of writing is an abbreviated version of the 12 step hero's journey
- The key is to very deliberately transmute emotions, and be open to new perspective
- Why? Because our heart chakra alters our reality ("acceptance" on the right)
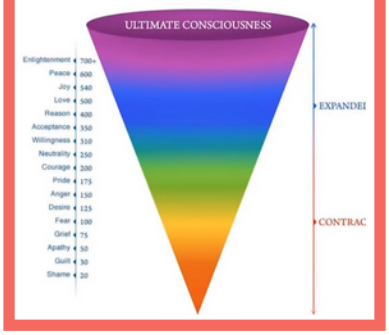
- There is value in "recapping" one's own Hero's Journey before becoming an Artist.

Emotions as Frequency:



RECAP YOUR HERO'S JOURNEY

Dream	Nightmare	Obstacle	Dream II
What's your dream?	What's your biggest nightmare?	What's an additional obstacle they're facing?	Do you have a new dream, or do you attain the original one?

1. What's a dream of yours?

Growth Mindset:

"I'm going to acquire all the skills necessary to achieve this."

2. What 'nightmare' is preventing you from starting?

Transmute Emotions:

"I didn't come this far to stop now."

3. What 'obstacle' is making you give up, or blame others?

Choose Your Meaning:

"This had to happen so that I can unlock X new paradigm."

4. What new 'dream'/goal are you not seeing?
