Deconstructing Your Chart

Centers
The colored or blank geometric shapes are Centers, which correspond to specific functions. If colored, they indicate a fixed and reliable connection, while blank centers imply vulnerability. In essence, they reflect your strengths and weaknesses.

Gates
The Gates, which begin at the energy centers and are marked with numerals, are colored lines that extend halfway or fully between two energy centers. These gates signify your cognitive processes, behaviors, and interpersonal connections.

Channels
A channel is when two gate lines connect to create a strong relationship between energy centers. Channels represent places where you tend to feel particularly in sync or solid.
