Synchronicity (UPDATED) Video Transcript

Amazing. Um, I'm really bad at keeping an eye on people coming in, so if you have a friend in the class that's like, I can't get in, please let me know and I will let them in. Um, because sometimes I forget to look at the bar. Um, but I'm gonna put my phone in front of me as well, so I can see that on the side.

Um, and hopefully that's all good. Okay. Awesome. Let's get started then. Um, how's everyone feeling today? Are you feeling good, excited, tired?

Just nods. Okay. Um, I'm exhausted. I feel like the astrology's been really rough the last week. I feel like I've been doing so much. Um, and in particular I have like Mars in my third house, natally, and it's back there at the moment in Virgo, and I feel like. I'm just like, I'm like overthinking everything, but it's great fun.

I'm like also laser sharp with everything at the same time. So it's a very interesting transit, but I'm exhausted. Um, but anyways, um, I'm Navar and I am actually an alum for pretty much all of the programs at Hey June's run. So I did them like a couple years ago. Um, and since I finished them up, I've been mentoring for.

Like both of them or slash all of them since then. I also help, um, hey June, like do some other stuff in the background, um, and also do like coaching calls with people as well. So I'm a great person to ask questions pretty much on anything and everything. So if you've got bonus ones at the end. Feel free to message me or you've got me on school slash you probably have my email as well.

So anytime you need support, happy to do that. And also the other mentors, um, and the way that I actually got into Feng Shui was like, I think I've always been super like, um, sensitive to energies of a room and almost like clockwork, I would be playing around with the format of my room. Like if it wasn't yearly, it was like every couple of months or something like that.

And I would be like, something needs to change. Um, and so. When I started learning like the technical layer of like all of this stuff, it was very funny to me because a lot of my space had already been optimized in that way and I really aligned with the way that my desk has been set out and like all of that kind of thing as well.

So, um, we'll go through a deep dive of all of that stuff today, essentially. Um, and this is a synchronicity module, so it ties in with what you started last week with portal. Um, and like this is basically the environment sector of. The course, um, or the program. So it's really about thinking about like, how does my outer world connect with my inner world and how can I co-create with that?

So it's not just about like manifesting or changing your mindset from the inside, but making sure that the outside also aligns with that. And while we'll talk about more of like the physical environment today and like. Your home and like all that kind of stuff over like today and tomorrow. Um, I wanna reiterate and echo that this also transcends to like the people around you, um, like community friends and like also like the actions and contracts that you take that are like external to you as well, that like guide your world.

Um, because at the end of the day, like everything's kind of interconnected. So, um, let me move this over here. Okay. So yeah, all the pieces that we'll try and tie in today slash over today and next week will be astrocartography, astrology, human design, feng shui, and numerology. So this is like a really nice like end chapter to everything that we've done to just like bring it all together in a nice little bow.

I know some of, you're probably newer in the course, so some of this stuff might be new, but hopefully as you learn the extra components, you'll be able to tie it back into this as well. Um. Is anyone, is this anyone's first class?

Okay. Awesome. Um, alright, so let's get into it. So synchronicity is like, this module is all about like aligning all three pillars that we've kind of looked at so far. So in the first like section of the program, we really looked at like, where is your mindset? How have you been conditioned? Um, why do you have certain thought, thought patterns, and how does that impact your world and the actions that you take?

The second part was understanding like, how do those emotions like manifest in the body or how can you use your body to kind of align with that as well? Um. And understanding like how those two pieces come together. And so in this third pillar that we are doing, um, including the Astrocartography piece, it's about understanding how your environment comes into play with that as well.

So this is that final chapter that we've been discussing. Um, and we know that all of these things are interconnected. So now as about mastering that and then putting all of that into action to take wherever you're sitting right now, like 10 x. And like aligning you towards your goals as well. So that's where Feng shui comes in.

So there's lots of different modalities of feng shui to like co-create with your environment. Um, hey, June in particular has been working with experts from like celebrities to YouTubers to like. R people with like huge businesses, millionaires and billionaires. Um, and you just have to give it a Google, like, you'll find people like all over the world, um, with like huge names like Eminem, Dr.

Dre, um, that all utilize Feng shui and also the numerology section that we'll talk about next week as well. Um. Uh, because they get it, they get it that everything is interconnected, that like energy is a thing. And it's about utilizing that to connect with your goals and align with your vibration to like, take you like one step further.

Um, and we've had so many incredible stories from people in the past. Um, an example for me is that like I sell some digital resources online. Um, and with my feng shui, I managed to get it to a place where literally I would just move. Um, like one of my crystals from like one side of the room to the other side of the room and I'd make more sales overnight.

Um, and when I wasn't doing that, it was because I accidentally moved something that wasn't meant to be in that space, like into that space. So like that's how much you can fine tune it and that's how quickly you can get it flowing with your vibration if you do that internal alignment plus the external alignment.

So I'm really excited to help all of you achieve your goals, whatever they are, um, which we'll talk about in a second as well. So get ready to type. Um. And like manifest that into your home. And obviously if you have a one-on-one with me, we'll do like a deep dive into exactly what that looks like for you and like actually create a plan, um, over like the next 10 days on like what that looks like, um, to like implement it and get it working in your home.

So. Sometimes when the objective world and the narrative world touch, that's called synchronicity. And that's basically what we're trying to co-create with by making our environment like match, um, the vibration that we're at or what we want to achieve. So when it comes to feng shui, you are gonna see this grid, um, come up over and over and over again.

So this is called the low shoe square. Um, and how many people have actually watched the recordings? Do you wanna just pop it in the chat for me and say me or put your hand up? Even that works 'cause I can see you all.

Okay. And if you haven't watched the recordings, just say not yet, so I know.

Okay, no worries. Um. Okay, cool. Cool. And Lauren, how are we about you?

Okay, amazing. All right, so we have a mixed bag today, so feel free to just ask me questions as we go through, because you're only gonna get out as much today as you understand. So asking questions whenever you need to. Um. Like the chat is a great tool. Otherwise, if you wanna unmute and stop me for a second, I think that's okay as well.

But I'll be intentional to like stop and ask you questions as I go as well. Um, so yeah, this is the low shoe square, so it's used to divide up your home into nine zones. Um. Yep, that's pretty straightforward. Um, which is called the nine star key. Um, the nine star key theory is this idea that there is nine year and nine month solar cycles, and that our life can also be divided into those like nine areas.

Um, so you can start to see some of them on here already. So there's like fame and wealth. You've got career, um, health, um, illness, celebration, misfortune, um, all of this kind of stuff. So. I know it doesn't mention love in here, but the love Star is basically number four. Um, so that's for like relationships and connection, but we'll go into a bit more of a deep dive as I go into it.

Um, some of the key things that we need to understand here is like, obviously time is really important. So the year that we're looking at, or you can also generate this for a day or even a month. Um. There is a theme connected to each star. We've got the low shoe square, which is the big one, the nine stars.

Some of them are auspicious, some of them are inauspicious. So just like we talk about benefic and. FIC in, um, astrology. It's a similar tone of voice here. Um, and then each one has an element and a direction, which we'll talk more about in a second. But feng shui is this study, or flying star feng shui in particular is the study of how this low shoe square changes over time, um, and how it interacts with like the birth chart or the birth, like the moment that you moved into your home as well, or like remodeled it if you did a major remodel.

Uh, any questions there? It's kind of just more foundational. We'll go into it more in a second. I'll continue on. All right, so just a quick disclaimer. Feng shui is like super complicated and it's a very ancient form of metaphysical art. So there's a lot of different schools of thought like Western and Eastern.

Um. And there is, and even the biggest Feng SSI experts in the world like disagree with one another as they develop their own techniques and takes over time. So, you know, a lot of what we talk about today is not do it yourself feng shui, but it's based on real life experiences, not only from hey June, but also myself and then also clients that we've worked with like over the years.

Um. So it's a pretty nice way to do it, but I think I always add like your intuition is always gonna be your best guide. So if there's a nuance that you are like, not sure about should I do this or this, like trust yourself experiment, see what works. And it's about, I think, refinement over time and that's how you'll create that like optimized flow, just like you do with your life and your mindset and that kind of thing as well.

So to get started with the feng shui for your home, um, let's kickstart with writing down these three things. Does everyone have like a pen and paper nearby or something to write with? Amazing. So number one, like what is the year that you moved into your home? And maybe if you can also pop this into the chat, like the three things that I've just mentioned.

So when did you, I have one quick question. I moved into my home originally in 2009. Moved out for two years and then moved back. So would it be 2009 or 2015? Uh, I would use 2015. 'cause that was a deep break. Yeah. Okay, awesome. No worries. And secondly, I mentioned before as well, if you've done a large remodel, like you change the le layout of your home, like the kitchen is not where it used to be.

It's like somewhere new. That would also count as like a new home. Like changing where an entryway is or something like that, um, as well. So, um, if in the chat you can do number one, can you tell me what your goals are right now? And number two, if you can tell me the year that you moved into your current home.

So for me, I don't know what my goals are right now. Um.

Um,

if I switched rooms in my apartment, do I count the year that I moved in or when I switched rooms? Okay, so I'm guessing you're in like a share situation in your apartment. Uh, yeah, my, my old roommate moved out and she had the bigger bedroom, so when she moved out I moved in and then got a new roommate to take over my old room.

Gotcha. So when it comes to apartments, we actually wanna treat the entire apartment as your feng shui space, so not just your room in particular. Same with if you live with family or other people and that kind of stuff. You're treating your entire home. Um. As like one entity. So I think moving within the home doesn't make any difference.

Um, it's more of like, if you physically move down and physically move back in, I would reset that. Um, but Okay. Awesome. And then Lauren also let me know your goals as well for the moment. Um, and then when you moved in, so that would be your original move in date.

Like, yeah, I, I know it's hard when you have like roommates and stuff, but like, honestly, if you wanna do it right, you use the entire space, the, of your apartment, um, try and make it work. Like put things like above shelves or whatever, like hide it a little bit. Um, but yeah. Okay. So we've got love, career, money, and then business, finances, lifestyle for Jack.

Okay. Cool. Career. Business. And. Group relationship. Okay, cool. In 2003. 2003. Awesome. And then 2015. Okay. Nice. Authentically being yourself. Cool. All right. So I think just like on the relationships piece, 'cause I know this is like a more relationship themed, um. Course that we are doing this time around. Um, yeah, the fourth number star is gonna be really important for you and we'll do that in your one-on-ones and that kind of stuff anyway, but okay, these are the three components that you need just to get back to it.

So the year that you moved in, understanding what your goals are, so what you wanna optimize and prioritize first. 'cause otherwise it's overwhelming to think about like, oh, I have to redo my entire home. Um. Understanding what year we're in. 2025. Pretty straightforward. So in period nine. Um, and then the floor plan of your home and which way is north.

So having that written down somewhere. And if we have our one-on-one at some point, make sure you bring that with you. Alright, so number two is understanding the components of a flying star feng shui chart. So we have three main components. So one is understanding what are all the different stars. The second is understanding the relationships between those elements.

So for example, um, we've got like. Fire will drain a wood element. Um, sometimes the elements are not so straightforward, so it's always good to give it a quick Google before you go in and like start implementing it into your home. Um, and then we have the low shoe square and like how these numbers or the stars are arranged over time and there will never be duplicated in the same spot.

Um. There's nine stars and nine boxes. So each one is unique. That's kind of what I meant to say. Um, so when it comes to the nine stars, this is kind of what it looks like. So each one has, um, a number, an element, a color, and a theme associated with it. These are very height level themes. Okay? Like when you think about an astrology house, like the fourth house is a house of the home, but it's also ancestry like Europe.

Internal, like, well, dynamics, like all of this kind of stuff. Like there's so many more things that come out of it, very similar to these ones. So. Even though you just see like fame and wealth for the first start, start, this is really about like being perceived well by other people. So if you're someone who wants to work on their personal brand, um, the way that you show up, well, like in relationships, like being perceived better, that is a great one to optimize.

And typically when I talk about relationships, we're optimizing for this star. And then when we're talking a little bit more about like romance in the home. We're optimizing. Start on before a little bit more, um, just to call those things out. Um, some of them have duplicate elements. Um, and then the other thing is to remember some of them are auspicious, some of them are inauspicious.

Um, there is only one fire element. Um, and this tends to be the most auspicious start and rules, like all things great and amazing. Um, so just being mindful of that. So also these colors are actually connected to the elements. So if you added purple into any room slash you have purple in any room, that is connected to the fire element.

So being wary that also that is like a secondary thing that is like applies to all of these elements in your different rooms. Obviously you can't always change the color of things, but something to keep in mind. Um, any questions here? I think it's pretty straightforward. Right? Okay, cool. So these are the five elements.

So, um, I don't think you'd be too un unfamiliar with all of them. Um, each one does have an associated direction as well. Um, and they have an associated number. So just we, like we talked about like the nine stars in the last slide. Here. So we are just mapping this in like a different way and this gives us an understanding of the relationship between them.

So for example, if you wanna optimize for that star number one of being perceived, well, you'd wanna make sure that you're not accidentally adding wood, which is gonna drain water in that area of your home, to put it really simply. Um, so they either drain, nourish, or control one another. Typically I recommend, don't worry about like this inside portion, unless you're getting like super nuanced and detailed.

Typically, we just stay on the outside portion of like drain and being nourished, um, for everything. It's just like a more direct approach. The controlling approach is like very nuanced, um, and it can feel like overwhelming, especially when you first start. So maybe like leave that for next year when you wanna go into it.

All right, next up is the low shoe squares. So. Each month period, um, day has numbers that move into new boxes. And Chinese astrologers publish these every year to see, um, so you can see how they're updated. Um, I do have a resource that I'll send out afterwards slash it should be in the portal anyway that you can see everything.

Um, and that has like all of the past years. So in case you've been living in your house for a long time, it's got, um, all the data in there for you. So as an example, this is how the Stars moved in 2023 to 2024. So we can see that like all of the white stars were like in the southern corner, and then in the next year they were kind of all in the north corner.

So they shift around basically it's just a one, like what I wanted to say. Um. So basically we're like, what the astrologers believe is that, um, we live in cycles of like nine. So we're currently in period number nine, which you've probably talked, Hey, June Heard, Hey June, talking about, so we're in this fire period number nine that started in 2024.

That is gonna last for 20 years. So this is the chart for. Um, period number nine, to give us an understanding of like what areas of your home are being influenced by what energies in these 20 years, um, you need to use the period that you moved into your home. So using this structure is great. So I think for Danielle, like you were period eight, I think everyone was period eight actually.

Um, so anywhere between 2000. Four in 2023 is period eight. Let me actually double check really fast. 20 15, 20 13. Yeah. And most of you were pretty recent anyway. Um, I moved into my home in 1999, so I'll be using the period seven chart for my home's feng shui, which you'll see me talking about in a second.

So just keep that in mind. Um. So, yeah, we live in 180 year cycles. We're in the completion cycle. It's gonna be fiery intense, it's gonna be very innovative. You can look up all the themes associated with period nine to like deep dive into that, but just to give you an indication of like what we're going through, it's also a very feminine ruled, um, period as well.

But again, like, Hey, Adrian has so much content on this stuff, like if you wanna deep dive as well. Any questions at this point?

Yes, go for it. No, thank you. So basically you, you used the, the year that you moved in as like, um, like as a foundation for, so for instance, for us, we'll be period A and then eventually, like every rotating year will be a different, so you'll, you'll add into that. Yes. So we'll do an example in a second, but basically you have your period chart of, um, when you moved into your home.

So that will be your period eight chart, I think, for everyone. And then on top of that, you will add yeah, the current year's chart on top of that. So the only thing that's really changing is the current year on top of it. So if you wanna make any permanent changes to your home, I always say look at the period chart, because that's never gonna change.

Right. And understand like what. Areas of your home should be optimized for what thing? Um, and then decide, um, what you wanna do based on that. And if any of you are thinking about moving, I love saying to people like, just look at that period nine chart. Look at like, where is the water element that's like auspicious.

Make sure that there's a bathroom in that location, right? Like really simple stuff like that can help you understand like, actually what is my life gonna play like out like in this space? And if there's any in auspicious stuff that's like naturally connected to that chart, like period nine chart, for example, if you were to move in somewhere now, then you know that you're gonna have to do extra to cure that space, right?

And being intentional about that, like as soon as you move in, essentially. Um, does that answer your question? Yes. Awesome. Is there any other questions?

Awesome. All right. How are we all feeling at this point? Is anyone confused?

Maybe can I get a vibe check in the chat? I feel like I'm drinking water out of a fire hose right now, but, um Okay. I'm hoping it'll make some more sense as we. Get more into it. Totally. Yeah. I think it's very, like, I've just kind of given you the baseline knowledge, so now we'll put it into action and I think that's when it comes together.

Um, so that'll help you out. Um, all right, let's continue on. Um, but again, just, just tell me if you have questions at this part. Like this is probably the most confusing bit, so putting it all into action. So to create your flying star feng shui chart like we just discussed, we wanna look at two things. So when did you move in?

What was that period? So we're gonna use my home for an as an example here. So like, I'm in, what was it, 1999? Um, so that is period seven. So you can see it's in this one. Um, so this is the chart for period seven, and then we are in 2025 this year. So this is a plan that I put together to do the feng shui for my home for this year in particular.

Um, so this is what that looks like. Um, and then what you wanna do that I've like circled here is make sure that the corners are, um, aligned. So making sure that the southeast is next to the southeast of the other one. You don't wanna accidentally have it rotated depending on the website that you look at.

It will have north at the top versus south at the top, all of this kind of stuff. And then obviously, the orientation of your actual home also matters here. So. Your objective is to find the five areas of your home or the five, um, stars of your home that have unsupportive energies and cure them. And then you have the four areas of your home with supportive energies and you wanna amplify them and spend more time there.

And ideally you're spending a little bit less time in the ones that you have to cure. Um, does, is that all pretty straightforward for everyone? Um, how do you find that, uh, the areas that are unsupportive and which are supportive? Yeah, great question. So remember I said that like each of these stars is either auspicious or inauspicious.

Um, I'm trying to see if there's another slide that I can go to. Let me go to this one. So some of them are auspicious, some of them in inauspicious, and they usually in a chart, you'll see them marked in black or red. Always double check if red means bad or good. 'cause in, um, Chinese culture, I think it typically, typically it means good, so it will be reversed.

But basically looking at which ones are auspicious, which ones are inauspicious, that will tell you like, is this a benefic like area of my home or a maleic area? And how do I balance that? Does that answer your question, Carol? Hmm. Yeah, I think I'll, it makes more sense when I have my one-on-one with you too.

Okay, no worries. Um, I think when we apply it in the next section, it will make more sense to you as well. Um, so keep it in mind. If it doesn't get answered in the next couple slides, tell me. Um, so. What, what we use in particular is flying star feng shui, which is this idea that your chart changes over time.

So some people use like, it's like a different mode of feng shui and it uses like the orientation of your home more so than like time as well to like balance it all out. This is what we found is like the most effective and so that's why we're teaching that, um, this particular module in this part of your home.

So. Um, yeah, the whole mission here is like once you've got an idea of like, what two stars sit together. So for example, we're looking at water here and then metal here in the southeast corner, we can begin to understand like, how do these two things interact? So we can see that water would drain metal, but metal would nourish water.

So we've got like a weird relationship where the two things are gonna drain each other. So it's about, okay, which one do I care about more? And do I wanna optimize in this area of my house? And then focus on that. Um, again, we'll do an example in a second. So example. So this is an example of everything that I need to pull together to do my home in particular.

So number one, I've got all the stars listed next to me, have the slides up, do whatever you gotta do. Number two is having, um, the relationship between the elements near you. Then we are looking at the current year. So 2025, getting the chart for 2025, and then the period that we moved into our home. So that was, um, period eight for me.

Um, which was in 19 nine or period seven, which is 1999. Um, and then what is the floor plan of your home and which way is north? I know I'm using a square example in this one, but hopefully it will answer questions for non square examples as well. But again, in the one-to-one, we'll do like a fully personalized, um, delivery for you for this anyway.

Um, but if you have any questions specifically on like, my Home isn't a Square, tell Me, and we can do like a. More specific example. So number one here is an example floor plan. Get your floor plan, get it onto some kind of digital tool. So I always actually recommend if I've got it in here, I do not have it in here.

And give me one moment. I have a template for all of you, but my cursor is not, it's not, okay, nevermind. My curse is not behaving. Um, I'll get it to you afterwards. Let me see. Oh, here we go. Got it working.

Let's see if I can bring it up. Okay. Share template link. All right. Let me pop it in the chat really fast and I'll email this out to you afterwards as well. So that and is an example that you can use to do your plan if you need to. Um, and it just has boxes for you to drop everything in, um, and all that kind of stuff.

So number one, get the floor plan. Number two, determine which way is north. Do you all have a phone near you with a compass? Pull it out, have a look. Which way is north? Um. If you have like a digital version of your floor plan and it says it on there, even better, like if you've got like the building scaffolding or whatever, like blueprint.

Blueprint, not scaffolding, um, that's a great way to start. And then number two, what you wanna do is also grab this wheel thingy from Canva or. Just divide up your home into, um, eight equal sections, um, and then put a circle in the center to like recreate this. Um, and this will help us divide up your home directionally into nine zones.

Um, in the past I've taught with a grid mechanism. I personally think that this one is a little bit clearer and better. So if you're looking at past stuff and it says grid, this is like the newer version of it, basically. Um, so I'll show you what that looks like. So what we do is we place this on top of your home and this gives us nine zones.

So it gives us eight like external zones connected to like directions. Um, and basically you'd wanna align the center of this to like, wherever north is. So I think I actually have done it in a future one. We'll look at it in a second. Um. So dividing your home into nine equal parts is step number three, and then what we do is we work out what is the period that I moved in.

So I moved in in period seven in 1999. Here's the grid, which way is south? And aligning that with the south of your home as well. So then what we do is we overlay those stars into those nine zones of your house. So you can see that like, um, the number two star was in the south. The number two star is in the south here.

The number four south star is in the southwest. The number four star is in my southwest corner here. Um, any questions there?

Okay. Are you feeling okay? Are you following? Is anyone not following?

Okay. All right. Tell me if you're not following, please. So the next step is to overlay the second chart, which is the current year that we're in. So we're in, um, 2025. Now. This is the chart for 2025. I've just done the same process, so I've gone, okay, what's the southeast corner? It's a number one southeast corner here is a number one.

So I've popped it in there. Then I've said, okay, the so is a six. The south is a six, and now you get these combinations of squares, right? Um, or stars in different corners. And this is where now we see the elements beginning to interact with each other. And this is where the curing comes into play slash the balancing of the home.

So this is usually the, the like, the least intense bit. The next bit gets a little bit nuanced. So now we look at each square and we're just gonna work through them one at a time and understand which ones need to be enhanced, which ones are connected to my goals, um, and which ones are not good. For example, if we have two red ones, like two red ones in the center, like inauspicious stars, how can we cure that, um, to make sure that we are not accidentally, like creating a lot of illness and conflict in our home by adding the wrong elements into this space?

So. This is my example using period seven in 2025 again. So let's look at this corner over here. So this is the northwest corner, I believe, of my home. Yeah. Um, and so I'm gonna look at like, basically this zone directionally, like where I've got my couch and I've got my living room kind of area that you can see.

There's like a TV up here. But we're gonna focus on this zone that's actually covered by, um, that direction of what we're looking into. So, um, and what I actually did here as well is I rotated my, um, homes plan around, so that south is facing the same direction as the chart that I have as well. So either you.

Like manually do that, or you can just like rotate things to make sure they're the same, just to make it easier on your brain. Otherwise this can be like quite intensive. Um, so we have two elements here. So we have like the wood element, which is a negative one. So we wanna drain this element. And then we have the earth element as well, which is a nourishing, or one that we wanna nourish because it's connected to health, wealth, um, and overall like.

Achieving like it's connected to like the eight numerology as well. So like achieving more wealth essentially over time. Um, but it's very connected to like what we're talking to today. So your environment is an echo of like your internal world too. So keeping that in balance essentially. So we have three key steps that we're gonna do here.

So the first is determine, do we wanna add a salt cure into this space? So. If we have any areas where there is a star two or a star number five, these stars do not. So for example, here, like they're earth stars, they don't have metal involved and they don't have. Um, any water involved. So it's okay for us to add the salt cure into this space because it won't accidentally enhance something that is inauspicious.

Um, that's more of a nuance, but you can just say like, if there's a star two and five, add a salt cure. They're very simple. Um. Only if they don't have inauspicious water elements. Yeah. Okay. We just talked about that. But that's basically how I determine like where am I gonna put my salt cure? Um, I'll talk to you about the salt cure in a second.

Um, the second is to work out like, what do I need to nourish in this particular area? So we've got the number eight star, which is auspicious here. We know it's connected to health, wealth, and like wealth generation. Um, that is a particular goal of mine, so I'm gonna really focus on this one. So the first thing we're gonna do is, number one, direct approach.

Do I already have earth elements here? How can I add more Earth into this space? Right. Very simple. So I already have clay pots here and they're actually already the color white, which is connected to the star, which is awesome. This is a big tick already, like I'm doing the right thing. The next thing we wanna do is try and enhance this.

So I'm gonna look at, oh great. Um. We're gonna try and enhance this. So I'm looking at the earth element in this chart here, and I'm seeing, okay, what's gonna enhance this? So I can see this little circle in the center is a nourish circle. So adding fire elements is going to enhance any earth elements that I have.

So what I wanna do here is add some kind of fire element. So very simply put, adding a candle doesn't have to be lit. We'll be adding a fire element into this space. Things like electronics are also fire elements. Um. And anything that's like, got like lots of angles and high energy basically is like a fire element.

Um, and we could add something red again to like connect to that fire element again, or like purpley as well. Remember there's only one fire element and it's the purple color. Um, so adding a purple candle is like the most ideal state here. Um. And then we are looking at, is anything gonna drain this star?

So because it's the earth star, we're gonna look at this outer circle. So we can see that metal here would drain earth, right? This outer circle is drain. So if I have anything metal in this room, I wanna get it out of there. So I have a metal table in this room. Ideally I just move it out of there.

Otherwise, you focus on adding more Earth into this space and you let it be. 'cause sometimes you can't move stuff around. But always the best approach is gonna be to get rid of it. So I'm like, okay, I actually have another table that is made of clay or marble or something like that. I'm gonna move that into this room and take the metal one out of this room to make sure I'm completely in the, like, the green zone when it comes to this.

Um, the sec. So then the last step is okay. What do I need to, um, look at for the other stuff? So we wanna drain anything related to wood in this area. 'cause otherwise it's gonna bring up quarrels, conflict, um, all of that kind of stuff. So number one is to look at, okay, what do I have in this room? So a lot of people have wooden flooring.

Do any of you have wooden floor? Yeah, very common. Cool. So wooden flooring, obviously you can't do anything about that, but it's something to keep in mind that that's part of the feng shui of your home. So like if you had an area with wood, making sure that you add a so cure there if you can to like clear that space.

Um, number two is adding fire. So yeah, it is basically, oh no, I have wooden flooring in this space. Um, we're gonna look at wood on here. We know that, um, fire will drain wood, so adding a fire element here will help me balance that out. So, especially in this zone, which has a negative star associated with wood.

So again, adding that purple candle or something purple or fiery into this room is a great way to balance that. And then what I also wanna do is reduce water here. 'cause water will actually nourish wood and I can't move that wood out of there. So making sure that my bamboo element that I have that was sitting in a bucket of water doesn't sit in this space.

So moving that to a different area of my home is gonna be the most ideal here to reduce all of that, obviously, like if you don't care about quarrels. It's fine. Um, but ideally you balance your entire home out. But definitely focus on the stars that, like prioritize them in a way and focus on those areas of your house first before you go out and do everything.

'cause it can be overwhelming. Does that all make sense? Is there any questions? Okay.

Are you confused? I mean, I think it's a lot to take in just because it's got like this, you know, you're looking at the year you moved in and obviously the, the current year and like understanding how to, like what drains and what nourishes it just. I totally, you gotta get used to it. Yeah, yeah, totally. So what I've actually done is, um, I know Danielle, you would've seen this before, is like, I've got a little calculator for you guys to make it a little bit easier so you can actually just use that in particular.

Um, can I share my screen again, but, um. Yeah, I'll just show you that really fast. Okay. You can see that, right? The calculator now? Yeah. Amazing. So this is something that I built just to help you like not have so much cognitive load. So popping your like goals into here, like whatever they are. Um. And then you can select whatever period you're in, like when you are, what chart you wanna do.

I'll add 2026 eventually. Um, and then. So we don't, yeah, hide that and then show home chart. Yeah. Okay, cool. So this already does the work for you. So it shows you like what is the current period for the, and what is in the southeast corner. What is the staff of the current year here? It tells you, do you need to add a salt cure slash is it auspicious or inauspicious?

Um, what elements do you need to add here and what do you need to drain in this area? Depending on the, if they're auspicious or inauspicious. So all you really have to do is like, make notes. Do an inventory, like check of like what's in that area of your house, um, and then make the moves that you need to do.

So this kind of acts as like a nice to-do list. So this should take out at least 50% of the load for you all to go through this. And if we do our one-on-one, we'll obviously use this plus, um, chat through like what you have in each area of your house to help reduce that load a little bit. Um, when you're doing this, do you have to just focus on, uh, the main floor or do you have to do the top of the bottom?

Great question. So you wanna treat each floor independently, um, so you do a plan for your top floor and then you would do another plan for your bottom floor independently. Does that make sense? Cool. Any other questions?

Okay, cool. I know you all have another call after this, so I'm just very conscious of time. Um. So let's continue on in the last 10 minutes that we have. But I sent you that link, is that right? It's in the chat. Let me double check, I think. Okay. No, my mouse is being funny. Okay. Anyways, um, I will,

can you say that again?

Your audio is really going in and out. I can't tell what you're saying.

You are asking about the next call, right? Is there a call after this, you said? Yes, I believe so. There's a clarity call. Oh, that's what I was asking for clarification on last night, because I thought it was on this schedule for last night at seven 30. It was, that was for a new intake of students. Is it?

Isn't that the clarity call that we started off with? Yes. If you haven't done it already, then that's why you would be attending. Oh, okay. If you have, yeah. If you haven't done it, you don't need to attend. I mean, unless you really want to, I guess they might not let you in. Better rerun, um, depending on who's there.

But. Cool. Alright. That's why they put them back to back. I was like, why did they put them back to back? I'm like, stretched for time. Um, has everyone been to that call? You can always join the next one if you can't make it. Okay, cool. So, um, but they do need the zoom, so we would, we do need to finish on time if we can.

Um, okay. So. Salt water cures. I know I mentioned them. So basically you wanna get like a little jar, um, maybe like two 50 mil. 300 mils is usually the one that I use. Like a mason jar works perfectly. You want something that doesn't have a lid, um, you're gonna fill it up. Um, a third of the way with any kind of salt, just normal salt works perfectly.

Um, and then you wanna get feng shui coins. You should be able to find them on Amazon. Otherwise, if you've got a Feng Shui store near your house, um, or one around, you should be able to get one from there as well. Um, if you can't find them, message me and we'll hunt together. Um, and I can send you some links.

Um, and just like clear your space, clear your intention, um, and what this does is it neutralizes any energy in a particular space. So if you've get got any spaces with inauspicious stars, if all of this feels overwhelming to you, the bare minimum I want you to do is to create these Salt cures and put them into any places that you've got a red star.

Um, ideally you do two and five with Salt Cures, and then the other one should be a Blue Cure or a Fire Cure. So this is like your cures page, if you will, in the slide deck. Yes, Jack. So, the, the, the inauspicious. Inauspicious. I'm, so is that just like good, good vibes and bad vibes? Like, yeah, basically. Okay.

And so like, so like the second square is just always associated with. Bad vibes. Yes. So the numbers star, um, the theme connected to it and the color always stay the same. That will never change. It's just the location of the star in the grid, that will change over time. Okay. So even if like the second square is in the southeast corner, for example.

Yeah. Yeah. Still gonna be inauspicious. Yes. Okay, so the, yeah, the number, the color, the auspiciousness will always be the same combo. It just moved into a new location. So for example, like you just overall you wanna avoid yellow because it's connected to like illness and misfortune. Like I wouldn't want any yellow in your home in general.

Okay. Like that's a really easy way to think about it. Um. Other ones like a bit more nuanced 'cause some of them double up. But that's like a really simple way to think about it. Okay. Does that answer your question? Yeah. So, and like the elements are like literally those things. So like mm-hmm. Water is like a sink or like a glass of water.

Or something? Yes. Okay. Yeah. Water also includes bamboo. Um, if you have crystals in your house, different crystals are connected to different elements. That one's always worth Googling. Um, some of them are a little bit more nuanced, so I always recommend to just like give it a Google and double check. But earth elements, like things like clay, um.

Anything like made of dirt, any kind of brownish colors connected to that metal is like white. Um, anything metallic? I think that one's pretty straightforward. Water again, is pretty straightforward, but it also includes, um, glass and mirrors. Um, is water fire is. Also includes electronics. It's basically high energy items, light sources as well.

Um, candles, even if they're not lit, would be a fire element. Um, and then anything that's like purpley, um, and then wood, like I think is also pretty straightforward. Um, I. Anything that is like a living plant would classify as wood. Um, and then fabrics also I think fall into that category as well. Like cotton for example is like made from a plant and then like becomes, so like you can think about like cotton in the bedroom.

What are the things that you have in your bedroom that are connected to those colors or connected to different, um, elements? How do they interact with the way that you sleep as well? Like your bed frame might be metal or it might be wood, like that kind of thing as well. Um. Yeah, I'm gonna keep going for the sake of time, but did you have any other questions?

Okay, so we're in the year of the snake. So one call out that I wanted to make is avoid facing the southeast three di direction, so a little bit more to the east. Um, so if your desk is facing that direction, I recommend rotating it to another direction. Um, just for this year in particular, um, that is like the worst corner basically.

And you bring in like bad energy from that corner. Um. There is other things that we can look at as well when it comes to your desk, like making sure that it's in the command position as well. This would transcend that though. So number one is don't make it face this direction. Number two, can you have it in the command position?

I'll let you Google that slash I'll send out resources afterwards on that. Um, really quickly, last five minutes, we connect feng shui with astrocartography. So you did got your astrocartography. Or you had your session last week, um, whether you go and do that yourself or you do your one-on-one with Alana, take those locations and work out what theme or what goal are they connected to, connected to those like nine squares that we talked about, right?

So is yours about being perceived well online, like you were content creator? Is that part of your career? You wanna optimize that number one style, bring in astrocartography elements of that location into that part of your home. Okay. And remember that these combos are not gonna change. So if that location puts your son in the 11th house, for example, so you have really good social media fame, I dunno why I keep talking about this topic, but hopefully this resonates with someone.

Um. That is always gonna be connected to the number one element that is always gonna be the white star. That is always gonna be the fame star. So what you buy could be like, um, a really pretty glass ornament that maybe has like white stuff on it, um, from. Uh, like Cairo, if Cairo is that location for you, right?

And having that in that location of your home, and if this is connected to your homes chart versus a 2025 chart, having that be something that's permanent can be something that you look at as well. Right versus the things that you add for just the 2025 chart that, you know, that's gonna change next year.

So that would be a smaller item that isn't super heavy or like fixed. So I always recommend to people actually like having a small tray of like crystals connected to like the different elements can be a great way to have like the like. Um, agile cures slash enhances, like for your home. But having, like, using things that you already have in your home is always gonna be better 'cause it's connected to your energy.

Um, and it will act better as like a cure or an enhancer. Um, so yeah, some things that you can look at is like the made in location prints related to that location or of that location. Um, buying from there, creating your own piece of art, like from that location is great as well. Um. And yeah, you can also look at, obviously the color shapes, all of that kind of stuff.

There's actually an awesome deck that hey, June's put together, which tells you like, how can you theme an entire part of your home connected to a particular location and a particular star as well. So, um, that will be attached in this deck that you have. Um, the next part is. Actually, we already talked about this.

So for example, if my son is on my mc in Sydney, um, star number six is connected to, um, being perceived well in your career and like Yeah, health and career promotion. So what I did is I found two white metal koalas and I've posted them in those locations of my home. Very simple. Um, feng shui also crosses in with human design.

So depending on what your human design environment is thinking about, like how do I encapsulate these elements into the areas of the home that I spend the most time in. So yeah, these are some descriptions of all of that. So if you are in a market, like do you have a window? Does there, um, opportunity for you to like look outside and interact with people?

Do you have inspiration around you? All of this kind of stuff, like plays into like that element as well, and we can bring that into your home. And then a really last little bit that I wanted to add was, um, the fourth and the 10th house axis. Um. I feel like we're gonna get cut off in a second, but let's see how we go.

Um, yeah, the 10th and the fourth house a axis. So the fourth house represents the home in your astrology chart. So leaning into like, what does that look like for me? Is that a fire sign, an earth sign? An air sign, or a water sign, and how can I bring that vibe into my home on top of like the feng shui layout that I've got as well.

It doesn't necessarily mean the colors, but it's more of the vibe that you're trying to bring into that. Area of your home. Um, and the, what I really love talking about here is like the more that you enable and like create a beautiful foundation in your home, the more it allows you to kind of transcend and like be really, um, authentic in your career in particular, or in relationships as well, right?

It's gonna create harmony there. It's gonna allow you to like, feel comfortable expressing yourself and maybe bringing in like a new partnership into that space as well. Same thing would go for an office environment too, for all of this stuff. Um, and so yeah, just remember that your home is a projection of synchronicity, so.

Adding decorations elements connected to those nine stars is a great way to start. Um, adding those salt cures should be your number one move. I'd love to see all of you during that after today. So when I talk to you next week, you should have everything ordered if it's not in place already, um, and you should be putting that into play and then.

Yeah, some last little tips like doing the salt cures, keeping your sink clean 'cause it's, um, where like a lot of your energy is drained, um, keeping the toilet seat down as well. Um, things like the, so stove being cleaned, that's like where energy flows into your home. Um, and then using things like a headboard for your bed as well to like, add stability to your environment.

You'll notice that you have a very chaotic life if you don't have that. Um, for relationships, a really critical one is make sure that there's no bed. Um, no mirror reflecting your bed. That will include TV screens, monitors any kind of reflective surface. Very critical is the equivalent of living in a number three house, which I know all of you have seen Hagen content on a number three house.

That is the Feng shui equivalent. Okay? So very, very, very important. Um, and remember that like it's not just about romantic relationships, but it's also about business relationships as well, right? If you wanna create any kind of deep connection with people, you wanna make sure that no one's interfering with that.

You don't wanna be blindsided by third person, like entering that partnership and you're like, why did this happen? All of this kind of stuff. Um, and just like making sure that your bed area isn't busy, like not having any clutter is a huge thing as well. That's such a great way to start with your feng shui journey too.

And making sure there's no windows or doors also behind your desk will allow you to be like more grounded. And if you do like adding a little mirror to your desk so you can see behind you is a great way to kind of balance that out. Um, but we'll obviously deep dive in our one-on-ones as well. But, okay.

Any questions really fast? I feel like we're gonna get cut off at any moment now.

Thank you. No worries. You're so welcome. Hopefully that wasn't too overwhelming. You will get the recording so.

Um, what I'll do is I'll actually pop up a post in school. Um, so if you've got any questions, there might already be one that exists for Feng shui, but pop in. Any questions in there, tag me. Um, and I'm so happy to like discuss them in there with you, but how are we all feeling? Do you feel confident? Do you feel really confused?

It's just a lot of information. It definitely is. I think when you start to put it into play, like that's when it starts to make sense. Um, do we have a one-on-one anyway, Jack, or no? Uh, I haven't signed up for it yet, but I'm gonna get it on the calendar. Okay, perfect. Yeah, like we can deep dive into it as well.

Um, anyways, and I think that'll be a great op for that. Um, Lauren and Carlos, how are you feeling? I'm excited for one-to-one on in a couple days. So I like how challenging this is, but like, obviously I don't have the hang of it, but that's what's interesting about it. Okay, awesome. Yeah. Yeah, I'm excited as well.

I've been changing my desk multiple directions. I'll be, uh, be excited to discuss it with you. Okay, perfect, perfect. Yeah. Um, awesome. Um, I'll send out an email slash Angela will anyway, so you've got access to me. Um, for your one-on-ones, please bring along a floor plan slash email it to me before we go into that chat.

Um, but I'll leave you with that 'cause I don't wanna run into the next call. Um, but yeah, thank you all for coming today and. Email me if you've got questions. I know it's overwhelming. It just takes a minute to get your head around all of this. But once it like you have a plan, just put it into play. Like this is one of the easiest ways to like 10 x your life.

Um, so I really do recommend investing in it. Like even if you just do the Salt Cures, like that will already help you heaps. Alright, I'm gonna leave it there. Um, but thanks everyone and I will see you next week for Numerology. Come with all of your addresses. All right, cool. Bye. Thank you.
