Dimensions Video Transcript

I was on mute. I was saying I feel like we're missing someone. I actually think I we're missing two people. Um, but let's go ahead and get started anyway. Okay. How's everyone doing? Adjectives. I love when people throw out adjectives. Does it? Oh, there she is. Well, there's a few more too though. Think Brita.

Hello. Good to see you. Carol. Jack. Lauren, Caroline, our mentor, Jackie. Jessica, this is probably one of the most, most important calls we'll ever do before you go into the future calls, um, and you'll find out why. So anybody wanna like, type in the chat the theme for you this week, 'cause this was a pretty gnarly week, I think we're wrapping up a weird transit in two days.

Some kind of Venus, Pluto Square that's happening in the sky, but curious how everyone's feeling.

People have to think about their feelings. Chaos. Yep. I felt a lot of chaos this week. A lot. A lot

Also felt like there was a lot of tiredness. Yeah. Chaos. And over it. Very tired. Yeah. Okay, so I, I hope you guys remember this concept of the penthouse, which is really important. Um, how your goals and desires, uh, is the number one driver of your reality. Your desire is really the, the driver of your reality now sounds simple, kind of hard.

Because in real life there's things you have to execute. There's snags, you have trauma, there's all this stuff that kind of puts a damper on your desire, right? So this call, we're gonna talk about dimensions and it's all about getting to the root of where the snag is, where you stuck, that prevents you from moving closer to your desire.

And I personally love this framework. It's the one that I use myself over and over again when I feel really stuck. 99% of the questions that I get, I'm like, I'm just, I think to myself like, if people just knew this, I think they'll like, you know, self-diagnose or, you know, self troubleshoot and they'll be able to like fix whatever's going on in their lives.

Um, so I think most of you guys are here to, to learn and talk about love, but money's also really important in career and professional that, so within your own goals, pay attention and see where the snag might be. And then we're going to have a discussion at the end. This is doing this thing again where I can't see my p Oh, it's right here.

Okay. All right, cool. So, um, you guys know that we live in a 3D reality, but there's actually more than just three dimensions. So besides just the length, width and height, there's also time, dimension. And, um, one spiritual model that I personally love and use over and over again talks about the existence of the nine dimensions.

You're going to hear about one through nine a lot throughout this program, right? Penthouse had nine levels connected to whatever the chare system, nine areas of life. Um, the nine dimensions, the nine squares in your house. There's a lot of reference to the numbers one through nine. So let's not overcomplicate this.

You kinda have to identify which of the nine you should pay attention to in every single class, or most of them at least. So some spiritualists also hold a belief that we can experience everyday life in different dimensions divided by different thought forms slash levels of consciousness. And depending on what dimension we're in, we could connect with a higher consciousness, the divine, or our past future lives for answers.

This is a very fancy way of saying everybody in this room, including me, are living a very different reality because of the different level of consciousness we're in.

So what we're gonna go, what we're gonna do is go through dimensions, um, zero through nine. As you guys know, I have a story time attached to each dimension. Um, but your job is to listen very carefully to each dimension and just be really honest with yourself again, and then be like, yeah, maybe this is kind of where the snag is for me.

And at the very end, I'm gonna talk to each person and kind of have a discussion around where I think they're stuck.

Okay? Zero dimension is, uh, a point in space without any dimensions. What does that mean? Means you know nothing. You don't know who you are, you don't know what you want. They're probably like an infant. Most babies are probably in zero dimension. They're, they literally just derived. So they, they're, they, they need to start building on top of each dimension, right?

Hopefully nobody here is zero dimension. That said, if you're ever trying to start a new business or pivot into a new career, or maybe you're trying to call in that big relationship, you kind of have to have the zero dimension mindset just a little bit. Starting over, you're rebuilding a penthouse. Yeah.

Okay. First dimension.

Um, first dimension. You know, in geometry terms, it's where there is a line with length, but there's no width and no depth. So it's a fancy way of saying, um, the very first dimension of your reality is your values. Everything on top of that is built on top of your values. So how can you clarify and define what fundamental values you hold?

Because without that, you cannot build a solid foundation upon which you can build a purposeful and fulfilling life. So going back to the partner that you're seeking, going back to the business that you're trying to build first, take that really careful inventory of, yeah, what are your values? Maybe you wanna get married because that's how you were raised.

'cause your parents just told you to do that. Is that their value or is that your value? Monogamy, right? Business money. That's a whole separate rabbit hole, right? Like, do you want, is one of your core values freedom?

There you go. That's, it's really important to own. That is, is one of your core values, uh, service. That service is fine, but let's just drill that down. Service for service sake at the cost of you, then that's not really service. That's called sacrifice. Is that truly your value? So you're gonna have to be very surgical, okay.

About what your values are. Most of the time when I see people, uh, you know, ending up in relationships they don't want, they don't want or they don't like, or even in a career, they don't want, they don't like it, it goes back to a value that they took on that's not theirs. And they kind of navigated their whole life based on that initial footing.

That wasn't quite it. Now, second dimension is a plane with length and width, but no depth in, in geometry terms. So what does this mean in spiritual terms? You have your values, right? Um, hopefully on top of that, you can start accumulating experiences in order to stress test your values. So let's just say you, one of your core values is monogamy.

Okay? Then you start to experience monogamy. Hopefully, fingers crossed. Now if you're like, I really, really, really, really wanna get married and be monogamous, but I don't really know how to get there. Well, clearly the answer is you need to, you need to fully live out 2D. You need to go out there and experience that.

This is kind of meta, but pause. Um, be, you know, the nature of my job being a reader and reading the future, whatever. People come to me, you know, ask me all the time, like, oh, what is gonna happen? Blah, blah, blah. And this is the stuff that actually changes the future. That's the thing. Depends how quickly are you willing to go out there and do X, Y, Z?

Oh, I don't know if that, I don't know either.

You guys get what I'm trying to say. That's why a lot of what readers say, I don't even know if I truly believe half the time. And I'm in this business myself, that, that's the funny part. But I've seen so many times that people can like dramatically shift their timeline just by getting super honest about, do you just want to have a feel good answer, or do you actually want it?

If you actually want it, do the 2D thing and go out there and get the experience. You wanna be an entrepreneur? Okay? Try building something.

It your, your only task is just experience. 2D is just experiencing and accumulating data. So how can you expand your experiences, relational skills, allowing yourself to stress, test your values and start to pers oh, your, your, your values and your perspective. There's a typo here. And bring depth and richness to your life's journey.

Okay? Now the beauty of 2D is that if you decide, actually, I don't like monogamy, and actually I don't like freedom. I've met people like that. By the way, I've met people who actually said to me, they don't like freedom. They were like, I don't, the business stuff is too stressful. Freedom is an illusion. You know, they get really philosophical, then they go back into a nine to five.

It's kind of funny. Um, but you're allowed to go back and edit your your 1D. Okay? Also, if someone's typing, I apologize, I can't really see, but I will, uh, read it at the end just so you guys know.

Now, 3D this is the funny thing 'cause everybody thinks they're in 3D, but not always. So 3D is a physical world where we perceive length, width, and depth. You have your values, you've had your experiences. Now you start to put meaning behind it. I value monogamy. I got married. I've been married for 10 years or whatever.

I've dated, monogamous for 10 years. Doesn't matter. How did that go? What did that mean for me? How did I feel? So, um. How can you integrate your 2D experiences without, with imagination and meaning? You know, do you guys know people who just like go out there and like live an adventure con, like continuously.

They just do a bunch of crazy shit. They have a lot of experiences, but they have zero self-awareness. They're just always like keeping themselves like busy. They're not really in 3D, they're still in 2D. There's a, that at that point, that's an avoidance. They're doing too much to run away from something.

They're not stepping a take a step back and go, what does this mean? Because unless you do that, you can't really go back to 2D and acquire new experiences if you don't have that ability to reflect. And a lot of business owners do get stuck here. They get stuck in the, well, this worked for me from, you know, years one through three of my business.

I'm just gonna repeat, repeat, repeat. It's like, bro, now you're being super repetitive. You're not scaling, you're not taking in what this actually means. You're not taking the meaning that's plateaued and you're, and you're refusing to do something different. You're, you're, you're refusing to do this. Maybe your value is the grind.

Maybe that's one of your values, and you don't realize it's now become dysfunctional. Maybe you don't have to grind all the time. Maybe you strayed so far from what freedom really means to you. So, um, so 3D is also where you take specific actions in order to have very define. It's where you start to like navigate your experiences.

Okay. Turns out I like monogamy. Yeah. I liked being married. Just was the wrong guy. Right? 1D passed 2D. You are like, I like the experience, but it could be better. You take a more conscious action in 3D. So going back to your penthouse goals, you, this is, you know, one through D's, uh, one through three is really important.

You have to ask yourself, do I just need to take a different action right now completely because I've come to the conclusion that I don't like what's happening or do I, or, or have I not even experienced it at all to even know what the hell it is I want? I know this sounds so simple, but people like really get this wrong all the time. I'm like, you, you've done literally nothing and you're complaining things happening.

Well go back to Tudy and do stuff first and then you can take incisive actions to maneuver 3D. Does this make sense so far? I think this makes sense. Hopefully. Yeah. Okay, great. Let's move on. This is a big one, four D. So four D is, uh, it's the dimension of time. Movies, movies is 40, you can fast forward and rewind.

It has that dimension to manipulate time, right? Um, and this is really the dimension of emotion. Anytime you think about a timeline, you really have to, in your brain, translate to feelings because it's your emotions that slow down the timeline.

So how can you effectively manage and bend time as a dynamic dimension? Um, recognizing that it can be manipulated by shaping how you emotionally interpret your experiences. Can you holographically place yourself at a certain point in time and understand what's happening in that moment in a set?

Different meaning? What does this mean? Um, this means you can literally go back and change your past so that you can move forward. You can choose to go back and reframe. It's kind of therapy speak, but you can go back and reframe what's happened to you so that you kind of get over it and then move on with your life.

So this is a really big one in relationships. Every time someone comes to me and says like, well, I want that big love or that partner, but then they start talking about their ex. I'm like, okay, we, you're clearly living in your four D. That's why time has stopped. So you have to figure out how to bend time by healing yourself of your past.

Same thing with business, by the way. Oh, one time I made that wrong hire and I got so screwed over and I got hurt. I'm never hiring anyone ever again. And okay, well your business can't grow because you got screwed by one employee and you're not hiring more people. Congratulations. Like, you have to get over that.

So even entrepreneurs deal with this. It's like, I actually think every decision is emotional, every decision, business, financial, anything. So. Ultimately, if you're not taking the step that you know would help you, that's an emo, that's a four D issue.

It gets really gnarly using business as an example. It gets really gnarly when I, especially content creators, coaches all these, like people facing jobs. It gets really gnarly when they're like, oh, I have so much to share with the world, but I can't make content. I don't wanna, like, because I got bullied as a kid and I have a, I have a fear of speaking in front of people.

It's like, wow, you know, not only are you stuck in 40, but you're also stuck in 2D 'cause you made zero content. So how do you know how it's gonna go for you? You see, you're, you're literally stuck between these weird dimensions and can't move forward.

Um. So with your penthouse goals right now, and that was a really good moment to write down the number one thing you can do, an actual 3D action, 3D action right here. What's an actual, what's, what's a step, you know, you should be taking but you're not, and then self-diagnose. Yeah. What's the story behind that? What's stopping me? Is it some shame? Insecurity For me, I'll be honest, for, for a while it was, you know, I was really scared of my parents finding out that I'm on social media. That really held me back for a long time. I don't even know what the story is there.

I just didn't think I wanna deal with it, you know, answering their questions. And then finally I just did it solve all my issues. But there was like a two year lag where I didn't start my business 'cause I was afraid of what they're gonna say. That's two years. I could have just sped forward. I didn't have a business problem.

I had an approval issue from my parents. So it's kind of similar to, um. Come kind of similar to what I was trying to say before with like, you know, trauma and stuff like that. Fifth dimensions. This is where it starts to get really fun, but also not fun. You gotta be careful. Um, so five D is the dimension of intuition, but really it's, it's creativity, it's possibilities.

This is where you don't have the baggage, you don't have the trauma, you don't have limiting beliefs. So you'll allow yourself to roam. You'll allow yourself to be free mentally. Uh, it's a hypothetical space where it includes different possibles and outcomes. When people say you manifest from the five D or 40 even, that there is some truth in that.

There is some truth in that because there's not anything holding you back from imagining something bigger. If you got out of a traumatic relationship, if you got out of a traumatic whatever, business partnership, whatever it, whatever it is, your nervous system is. So shut down to a point where you don't, you can't even go here, you can't even go to the five D.

Um, so, but let's just say you've, you've mastered 40, you've, you've healed and you've forgiven or not forgiven. It doesn't matter, but you're over it. Then how can you tap into your intuitive wisdom and envision multiple potential timelines and outcomes, allowing yourself to explore alternative paths and make choices that align with your highest purpose?

This can also go really wrong, right? Because there are people who live here, but they've not gone through zero through four. Um, that's a pro tip when it comes to your goals. That's why I'm going through step by step by step, right? Zero. Then one, then two, because you cannot skip a dimension. They're built on top of each other.

That's actually like a, a big hack, um, that one of my teachers taught me. You can always jump between dimensions, but if you want to really get that big thing you want, you have to build on top of each other. Every single one. Because just living in the five D can also be a trauma response. You, where you just sit there and you just imagine 'cause you don't wanna face reality.

Okay? Sixth dimension is, this is what I call the entrepreneur dimension. This is the, the, the, the dimension of, uh, business owners. 'cause it's the dimension of karma. This is where commerce has to come in because this is where you start to see, see the interconnectedness of everything. You start to see, okay, one area of my life, if I do this, then this other area of my life pays, or I take this one action and then it impacts my neighbor or my friends or my family.

This is where you start to really see, now if you embody this, you really start to kind of figure out what people need, what clients need. Okay. So, um.

I never got around to this 'cause I couldn't see this. I, in my own way, I'm stuck in 42. But I had a fantastic graphic designer that, you know, we lost touch and I could never find him and I kind of gave up. But I want to illustrate this visually. Like I literally want to make a video where you see zero dimension, all of the six dimension.

And you just have to imagine like a Rubik's, like from a dot or a line turning into like a Rubik's cube that keeps multiplying. So if you see it like that visually, 'cause you can like rotate the Rubik's cube, then you can see how all the lines are connected and how the dots are connected. That's why there's a law of, uh, one dimension.

Okay?

So for anyone who's trying to expand their business or grow a business. Really, you know, the way you can practice 60 is really, really looking at the front to back impact of what you do for them. Look at the chain reaction if you're trying to call 'em that big love, it doesn't, it doesn't hurt to start thinking about, okay, how can my life be expanded by someone else's actions and choices?

And how can other people's life be expanded through their partnership with me? What can I offer? What can they offer? Seventh dimension, this is about parallel lives. This is a little bit of ask cryptography, which you guys are gonna learn.

How can you expand your consciousness to embrace a broader scope of possibilities, realities, accessing insights and wisdom that transcend individual universes, and open your mind to new realm of thought.

For our intents and purposes, what this means is how do you think your life would've played out if you were born somewhere else? If you didn't go through what you went through, if you really did reach the penthouse, what would that look like? And not, and the, the way this is D from five D is, five D is just, you know, just playing with that idea, right?

70 is assuming that it's real. You know, my favorite example for 70 is, um, I don't really see this anymore, but at the height of the pandemic. When a lot of spiritual gurus, you know, though, they're not really gurus or coaches. Have you ever guys, uh, seen videos where they're like, oh, I, I quantum jump my timeline, or I quantum leaped and moved to Costa Rica, quit my job when became like a full-time surfer and a coach and all this stuff.

And it's like, no, you literally just moved. You just bought a plane ticket and just moved. That's all you did. You didn't really quantum jump. And that's how, kind of how I think about seven D because it's just to say it's that easy. Like your life, the thing that you're dreaming of, you, you could have that if you just took specific steps to get there.

So when manifestation coaches say shit like, oh, you have to like see it, then it's gonna happen. You have to believe it. They're kind of referring to this kind of stuff like the 70 and five D, but I'm just grounding into the fact that, okay, you can have it if you go through one through six.

And a big part of Graphy is kind of playing around with Yeah, how would your life have played out if you're born somewhere else? That is like the premise of that, that whole field, which is super fascinating as a concept.

So a, a really good homework for this would be to imagine what your life would be like somewhere else if you were that business owner, if you had that partner. Just, just acknowledging that is a reality. Some in, in, in a different universe. Eight dimension. This is the, uh, Akashic Records. Is everyone familiar with Akashic Records?

Okay. I'll be honest, I never fully understood a cautioning records because to me it's just information. Um, but Akashic Records is a space where all possible timelines and univers are interconnected and can be observed simultaneously. If you actually talk to an Akashic reader, though, it's so contradictory because the way I interpret Akashic records is where anything is possible.

All the answers live there, and yet they're only pulling out one piece of information. From there, it's like, okay, well you literally doing anything's possible, so why are you only giving one answer? Doesn't make any, it still feels limiting. But anyway, so I call this the psychic dimension, and this is the dimension of, uh, telepathy.

This is the dimension of, I, I see it as just a dimension of like energy, like energy that contains information there. You guys can look up podcasts. I forget what the podcast is called, but, um, just you can Google autistic kids and telepathy. There's studies on that coming out where they like communicate with each other.

Jack knows. Yeah. So they're living in the eight D. That's that dimension. Okay. And I, I haven't done enough research on this, but um, I've read and I've seen stuff how you could influence the eight D through the 3D, like the 3D, but I mean, that kind makes sense, right? Like your literal actions that you take can alter the information that exists in the field.

'cause the information only updates based on what you do right now. So there's like a, a secret password between 3D and eight D anyway, so, um, so eight D, let me go back. Seven, eight, and 90 gets super metaphysical 'cause seven's about parallel lives. Eight D is about, it's, think of it this way, think of how if you had a parallel life and someone, you know, had a parallel life.

Both of y'all's parallel lives meet. That's like eight D. Like just acknowledging that's a possibility.

Now, 90, 90 is the source. It's what I call the source. This is where, um, all timelines, all universes and all vari variations of those are all connected. It represents a higher consciousness that encompasses all possibilities and insights. But the way I think about this is this so seventies about your parallel life. Eight D is multiple parallel lives, meeting each other. 90 is almost like imagining a duplicate earth or duplicate solar system and you being in that other solar system, do I think this is practical? Absolutely not. So I'm explaining it. But for your intents and purposes. I just don't think it's that necessary to go into. But just know if you really, really, really want to, like a fun mushroom trip where you think of the biggest ideas for your next whatever breakthrough, um, you can toy around with the nine day stuff.

All right? So as you guys can tell, I am very passionate about one through five. When people initially interact with me, this is where they're stuck. No one's ever stuck in 7, 8, 9. They can't, they can't even go there. Um, even if you meet a very talented psychic, like a world famous psychic, trust me, they have bills to pay, okay?

They, they have other issues that prevents 'em from like just being able to be kumbaya and stuff. And so now I want you guys take a moment and write down, maybe you already wrote this down, what dimension you think you're stuck at. Or if you're like, I don't really know, then that's where I come in. Okay, but I, but I want everyone to go around and kind of share what, what's your penthouse goal?

This is a safe space, so don't be shy. And then go into what it is you think you're a little bit lacking and then we'll kind of coach you through it.

And if there is a volunteer, please feel free to raise your hand and I'll, I'll, I'll pick on you.

Dating apps. Lots of people have really shitty experience on dating apps, right? So they don't wanna go back 'cause they're stuck in the 40. When it comes to dating app, it's like, well go back to 1D. Retest your values. It's a fancy way of saying you can retest what you're looking, you can just refilter what you're looking for a little bit.

You can, which will then change your experience you're having, which will then change the actions you take with those that you interact.

I can volunteer to go first. Yeah, let's do it. Okay. So I, I totally forgot about the penthouse, but if I'm thinking, I, I do wanna operate at the highest level possible, but I think I'm sometimes stuck in the fifth dimension. I know essentially, I'm not really kind of fearful of failure, but more, more so kind of fearful of success and the responsibilities that come with success.

And right now, since things have been ca uh, chaotic, you know, if I want to pursue something and, and make that come into fruition, I need energy and focus. But if I'm in a state of exhaustion, I, I can't, I can't, uh, put my focus to where it needs to go. Yeah. But you're saying you're stuck in five D because of why, why five D?

Uh, I don't know. I think I was just drawn to that sometimes I think maybe four D, but I think it's because of the, the. The inability for me to focus and put my energy and like, pulling the trigger, doing something. Yeah. Okay. Um, I see. So I think you're saying you're, you feel like you're stuck in five because you have all these ideas, but you don't wanna execute on it.

Well, some of the things that I execute on, 'cause I know, I think maybe my baseline is maybe operating on the, the fifth and higher levels, but when there are certain things that I want to do, like stay focusing on and, you know, growing and, uh, growing my side business or whatever, like there's certain things that prevent me from doing it, which I'm aware of the exhaustion and lack of focus and energy.

'cause if I don't have the energy and then the thing can't grow, right? So I can't be, um, I don't know. I can't be kind of di dabbling. I, I really need to kind of put the focus and attention that it needs, you know, just like kind of growing a plant, you know, I have to provide the right environment, the nourishment, the sunlight, the water.

Um, and right now I'm not currently doing that to grow my business. Okay. All right. So I actually think this is not a five DII, I, I think, I think you provide five D services for clients, perhaps, but I think you personally, in your business, it's, it feels a little bit more like it's worth going back to 1D and 2D Okay.

Kind of reassessing your value. So, and, uh, because at the end of the day, do you want to just focus on one business and, and like, why, why do you have multiple businesses? I think it's really good to start there. Or do you just wanna go all in on one? Like what is like. The read why? Like, when I think of, uh, defining myself, I think I'm a multifaceted individual, so there's a lot of things that interest me.

So like, yeah, healing interests me, but then also other stuff interests me. So I want to be able to, um, kind of create and build one and one that's foundation is good. Then kind of move on to the next one and the next one. So there's not one specific thing that I wanna focus on. Um, yeah, there's quite a bit.

So malt, what is that thing called? Malley passionate or something like that. So I think, yeah. So do you feel good? And, and this is, this is a very good question by the way. I'm so glad you brought this up. Do you feel good at completing something? Yeah, I can, I can usually, um, take things to inception, to completion, but I know when I'm in that state of flow, um, when I'm in those state of flow, that's when I'm giving things my focus at energy.

So right now I haven't been doing that, like mm-hmm. So I think it's worth going back to 1D and asking yourself, you know, yes, I'm exhausted. I think it's, it's because I'm over, I'm, I'm juggling a lot of things. But maybe part of the exhaustion also comes to the fact that like, you're mentally operating or trying to start this other business that hasn't really gone off the ground yet.

But you, but in your mind it's like you're building it, but in, in your physical form, you're working on a different business and that's gonna create exhaustion. So something to to revisit is, um, and by the way, you guys can apply this in your own business too. Like treat, give your business a penthouse, right?

Give your literal job or business its own penthouse. And if you were to look at your side hustle, Carol, like what dimension do you think your side hustle is at? You said it's not getting the attention it deserves. So it probably doesn't have the 2D, right? It probably doesn't have the operational foundation it needs and therefore it can't.

Um. It, it can't collect data. I'm just assuming. I don't really know. It can't collect data that it deserves from the clients 'cause they don't exist yet, all that stuff. So it's good to, I, I feel like, I feel like it, it's when it comes to stuff like this and I wanna be very careful what I say. I think it's, it's go, it's, it's good to go back and be really honest with yourself.

Like, are you just distracting yourself with multiple ventures or do you feel like yes, like is one of your core values? Like you don't wanna be bored, like you wanna be entertained, in which case your business will suffer because businesses just ha like I said, it requires its own penthouse and it needs focus.

Yeah. So maybe, do you see what I mean? Yeah. 'cause I think initially, 'cause I, I had this other project that I was working with someone and then, um, that kind of a standstill. So in my mind it's kind of, uh, making me aware of not being distracted and really focusing on what I need to do. So I think all those things are gonna unfold.

'cause at that, um, business that I'm working on, everything is kind of already established. It's just kind of like, okay, this is the date I want to launch it. So all that other stuff has been done. So I just, uh, have to pick a date and I'll be launching it soon. Mm-hmm. Okay. Um, do you, but do you see how, like maybe the, the values of taking a look at, or do you think that's completely off the mark?

Like values? In what sense? Like, because I think you're tying the business goals with you saying, I want to multitask. I have, but what if your desire to do that is in direct conflict with what the business needs? Mm. And everyone's gonna, everyone's gonna have this, by the way, in whatever area. It's like, yeah, I know that you want this thing, but what if it doesn't serve your goals?

Mm. Like it's, if it's ultimately not that fulfilling for me. Is that what you mean?

Uh, no. What I'm trying to say is you have, I'm just, I'm just, I'm speculating if you have three different businesses because you pa you're passion about all of them, which is completely valid. But that might mean all three might fail because to your point, not all three are getting the, the, the attention that deserves.

So are you willing to like, not sacrifice, but adjust your interest a little bit and focus one thing at a time? I think that's what I, I've been realizing. 'cause I think if certain things are unfolding the way they are, if I'm wanting to work on this project, you know, and I'm neglecting this, and I think since that one is not progressing, it's kind of a sign for me.

Okay. There's, there's a reason why that's not working right now. 'cause you have to put your focus on, on this. So yes, I realize one thing at a time. Yeah, I can do that one thing, one thing at a time. And, and just, just knowing what I know about your chart. I also feel like if you build one of them really, really strong, it, it, I think it can run its own.

And, and then you can move into other stuff. You know, you have that ability. Um, but whenever you guys are confused about the whole value dimension, right, just you can, I, I like to use like really dumb examples just to really simplify it. So for example, like, okay, like you want the wife, but you also want seven different girlfriends.

It's like, pick one. Because, right. And that's feasible, that's plausible, right? Because a lot of people want that. It's like, no, you gotta pick one lane. Do you value, you can even flip it a little bit. Do you value not hurting someone versus, uh, just whatever, getting what you want. I mean, if you can put in like such true terms, then you values get super clear to you, right? Uh, so, so yes. Thank, thank you for sharing Carol. And, and anybody by the way, can go again if they're like, oh, there's another Penta school that I have. I wanna like troubleshoot it.

Thank you. Yeah. Thank you. Who wants to go next?

Is this, I'm just curious, is this helping you guys, like, um, kind of see your goals a little bit differently? Is, is anyone kind of going like, oh shoot, like maybe I have to audit. My values a bit or audit my experiences a bit. Is it helping you approach your goals from a different lens?

Okay.

Jack, you wanna go ahead? Yeah, I'll volunteer. Uh, because the last week or two, I guess I've been feeling a lot of like, I just need to start over. Mm. Um, like after our initial like kind of onboarding phone call and stuff I've been diving into, so I guess like my penthouse goal that I thought was to have a business run fully on its own so I can have the freedom to do whatever I want.

Uh, as we were going through this, I was really just thinking like. I want to be able to do things and make money off of stuff that continues to give me energy as opposed to take it away. Yeah, completely fair. Yeah. And so with that, um, just like diving into some of the stuff from Hero's Journey, like my human design chart where I'm a projector, I'm not a, um, generator where I'm in like the day-to-day sales grind and stuff, and that just like takes away from me.

And so, um, I, and so really I just wanna be able to like harness the energy of, of that to be like, Hey, this is me. These are the things that, like I'm about whoever wants to join and join along with me, like, let's do it. Mm-hmm. Uh, and so a big thing is like, I've been, I started, I created a new TikTok account and I've just been like posting stuff on there just to like see what happens.

Yeah. Um, and so I think with that I'm getting, I'm in like the first or second dimension with that stuff, uh, just because I've never really done that before. And so I'm trying to just gain the experiences mm-hmm. Uh, behind that in order to, um, you know, get to the third where it's like, okay, what are these experiences like adding to the values, right?

And then, um, and then get from there and then reassess, like from there, right? So that's where I kind of think I'm at with it. That's really great. What made you realize, uh, what made you go back and edit Dimension One? Because basically you realize, okay, I want the freedom, but if that comes with a certain level of commitment or the grind, then Right.

What made you realize that? Yeah, I, I think, um.

Like having the overall, because like when you, because I think I realized I was discounting the responsibility, um, when growing a business of like, Hey, I have to be on, like, I have to be doing. Like, I didn't feel like it, it truly came with freedom. Like, hey, if you grow a business and you end up hiring people and stuff like that, like you have a duty to those other folks, right?

Um, where, you know, you can't just pick up on a plane and go to on vacation at a drop of a hat or something like that, right? Like, you have all these other people that you have to work with. Mm-hmm. Um, and so I reassess where it's like, hey, if I'm, if I'm doing things that I like to do, like with helping people like I, that can just be an integrated part of my life.

Yep. Um, to be able to allow it to free flow, how I see it, uh, as opposed to, you know, having to sit in the office or whatever type of deal. Mm-hmm. Yeah, I mean that, that honesty. So since we're on the topic of business, both Carol and Jack brought this up. So let's talk about this because I think it's a really important thing to address.

I, for some reason, I think this whole tech and AI revolution has a lot of business owners like kind of thinking about and challenging their own business models and thinking about what kind of life they truly wanna live. And because before, like, you know, five to 10 years ago, the e-comm business, the online business was all about scale, scale, scale, scale, scale, scale.

If you're not scaling, you're a failure. You're, you don't have a real business. But now it's kinda shifted to, there's beauty in just generating stable revenue year after year. You don't have to 10 x, you don't have to 20, just maintain what you're making. That's fine because to Jack's point. A lot, a lot of people, and I think this is America as a, as a whole 'cause of capitalism, I think are burned out.

People are realizing like, yeah, like I can't get this time back. Like, let's just say like, I do become a billionaire. Okay, I'll be like 80 and I can't even use it. You know? So I think people's values when it comes to entrepreneurship is shifting, um, away from that very like Pluto and Capricorn, like, you have to hustle, you have to work, you have to it.

Now it's an Aquarius, right? So it's more about is there a way to just, is there a way to maintain the output without just killing yourself? Like, I see a lot of talking about that and that, and that is like a very Aquarian thing that's happening thematically. Um, so that's really great, Jack, that you, that you've edited your values, you're like, yeah, I still want freedom, but my freedom, not the freedom defined by others.

Mm-hmm. That's measured by this weird 10 x thing every year. Yeah. And it's funny, I was just like reviewing, I was just looking at my notes from last week, the Venus, Mars, and Neptune stuff, and that, it's just funny how that connects with it, um, as, as well too. Um, so yeah, you have to put yourself out there.

That's great. I'm glad you're making content. Yeah. So, uh, yeah, it's, it's good. Mm-hmm. Yeah. Um, and going back to Carol's point, maybe let's just say Carol, like if you decide like I genuinely like creating new things and launching and just like, you know, just really living out, being very multi-passionate, then, then you can embrace that.

But maybe not, maybe let go of these other values of like, because there's something there about like measuring success by a certain metric, right? It's like kind of going back to the drawing board and asking yourself, is that mine? Like, do I really care? Because, because that's how you start big stuff anyway.

Like if you, you guys, if you just follow what you wanna do. Not care about results. You actually might have something really big a year from now. That's kind of how it works. If you stop caring about the metrics, if you stop caring about the dollars, next thing you know, it just booms on its own. That's how a lot of influencers make a lot of money because they literally start talking about shit that they like, which is so dumb.

Do you think like Logan Paul grew thinking about business, like from his first YouTube video? Like No, he just wanted to like be silly. Yeah. 'cause I, I think I was just thinking about like, a lot of things have shifted 'cause you know, there's a lot of conditioning out there, like you said, the, the 10 x the grind.

And I don't necessarily buy into that 'cause I just kind of thinking about what kind of lifestyle that do I want and how can whatever I create support that, you know, and I think energy and like, you know, um, maintaining that inner peace is a big thing. And anything that kind of, you know, hinders that I want to stay away from.

Right. And you did point out that you feel exhausted. So I think it's good to trace back, like why Maybe it is that like superficial metric that you're tied to that exhausts you. When really if you just pray and let go, you, you might be energized by, you're like, okay, I did it. I put it out. There're great, I'm done.

You know, so these are important constitution around with, I, I think, I think we're all feeling this too because of that shift. The Pluto from Capricorn, Aquarius, um, the collective value changing. So, um, okay. Really great examples. Who wants to go next, Lauren? Okay. So I remember during our like one-on-one, I was like.

You mentioned I was stuck between the fourth and the fifth dimension. And I feel like when I'm at like really positive, I am in the fifth dimension constantly thinking about things. But when I feel insecure, I do get stuck in the past and try to like think about past experiences and why I'm fearful. So I'm trying to be like in the 3D to make specific changes as to why these themes keep coming up in my life that I already know, but I still have not like surpassed.

So I think that's what I'm trying to focus on. 'cause I finished, 'cause like I like my job. I know it's really stressful, but I don't want it to define me. I have like other things that I want to do and I feel like that's what I like about nursing is that I do have free time. Free time, but like, so there's other things I wanna do since I finished school.

Like I know there's other people who are just like, okay, so you finished, are you gonna get a new job yet? And I'm like. I'm not in a rush. I like my job right now and if I want to be in a different job, I'd wanna stay there for more than two years. So it's one of those things that I'm trying to live in the present as like Lauren, the person, and not get so stuck in like, what are these things?

'cause if I still have these issues that I haven't resolved yet, like for example, my health went by the wayside, meaning like I'm trying to be more balanced, like get fitness back in. And I mean, I'm doing that slowly. I did a 10 K with my friend this weekend, and then I'm doing like a walk in Spain with my mom later this month.

So little things like that. And that's what I'm trying to do because I don't wanna like keep waking up and being like, I still have these issues and I still haven't fixed it. So you, so you acknowledge that you're in the four D because, but only because you feel like your patterns haven't changed. Yeah, I mean, I'm not saying like I'm doing anything bad, but there's certain things, like for example, with the Neptune transiting, my first house, I still have like a fear of perception.

Like when I was younger I used to like post on social media a lot. But then when, like that whole, when your coworkers wanna follow you that dangerous game, I was like, why didn't I just make a fake one and have them follow that? So then I like, haven't posted for three years. So it's like one of those things that it's like I am, like, now I feel like I have to go back and being like, if I wanted to start posting again, I have to be like, okay guys, here's a catch up on everything.

Like for my friends, not for like other people, but like silly stuff like that. Like being like, oh, let me just go back to who I used to be like posting. Not necessarily without a care, but like, dammit is that coworker. I don't like gonna see it. Of course she is, but I shouldn't care anymore. Like, yeah. So the heart of your question, which I, you know, I'm surprised, um, this hasn't come up earlier 'cause it's usually what everyone asks.

It's like, how do I, how do I get unstuck from the 40? 'cause in every area of our life we're, we're stuck. I mean, sorry, not every, in some area of our life we're stuck in the 40 emotion. There's an emotional hangup somewhere, kinda like what Lauren said, right? Like, oh, like this happened with my coworkers a couple of years ago now I like, don't know how to like put myself up, stuff like that.

So, um, the, the way to do that there, there's a couple of different things, but to, that sounds so cliche, but to expand your nervous system so that you can regulate yourself and just know that you're safe no matter what. Like, okay, let's just say your coworkers see you on TikTok, who, like, who cares? Like literally just playing, just playing that through and envisioning that process.

Like who cares if they call you out in a lunchroom? What are some short things you can say to them? Like, oh, haha, yeah, whatever. I'm just trying this new thing. I've lived through that, by the way. So, um, and I talked about psychic shit, which made it so much worse. So it's, you can always like play these things out, play that scenario.

The other thing with pattern breaking in the 40, if the physical route doesn't help. And I'm a big proponent and advocate of, um, like, uh, if you have access to it in your city, like floats salt water floats, I'm a big advocate of that. Um, I don't, I've never done like ketamine therapy where I don't do that kind of stuff, but it's helped people like really shake off the past and all that.

Um, the other way is to literally create like a simulated experience. So I know that we're kind of speaking code Lauren, 'cause you don't wanna, you know, say too much but create like a safe environment where, where you can make a complete different choice, where the consequences are very little.

So this is where beta test clients are really helpful, right? Like your friends family who are like your initial clients, they're not gonna destroy you with their review. But they might like give you some light feedback. Um, when it comes to dating, maybe you could make very different choices. Present yourself, speak, make new choices with a population of guys you really, truly don't give a shit about.

Like they can't hurt you kind of a thing. But the key is you show up differently. So having a little bit of like a protected simulated, um, like a simulation can help you like kinda wiggle out of that ness.

Um, the other way to get outta four D is if you, if you guys have therapists and you notice, you keep telling the same shit with your therapist, let's just say you do that and let's just say you talk about the same shit with a therapist involving a person, whether it's your mom or your employer or whoever.

This is, this is the opposite advice of everything I just told you. It's very effective. I want you to go directly speak to that person and say, Hey, I really feel this way because of the shit you do. And say, obviously, if that's gonna get you fired, please don't do that. But if it's not someone who pays your rent, try that. Because oftentimes the the four d, the, it's a really beautiful dimension, right? Because of the dimension of feelings.

You cane your timelines, but the only time you're slowed down, it's because you go such a dark place when it comes to that person or that relationship, right? They punch us and we're like, oh, they're like the demon. And then you come up with like all these stories. So oftentimes, like I, I've heard a couple of clients say like, you know what?

I've been talking to my therapist for 10 years about my mom over and over. I finally just finally talked to my mom. Turns out it wasn't what I thought it was, or she finally apologized. Whatever it is. So that is one way to really break out of it, to get out of your own head and get out of your own story.

You see the key there is to keep, like, changing the story in reality or in a very practiced simulated process.

And, um, uh, there are obviously situations where that, you know, nothing can help. Like you guys are gonna learn this, like ask your photography and feng shui. There are situations where it's like, genuinely it's the environment, the atmosphere that's creating this negative emotional spiral and story genuinely.

And, and there are situation where you have to move. Like, I've made content about this. If you live in a three house, yeah, it's, it's gonna suck. No matter what you, no matter how much therapy, no matter how much, whatever, it's going to suck. And essentially in a case like that, you do have to move. Although people don't like it when I say that.

So that's why you guys are here, right? Because you're trying to like assess every single avenue over life. Did that answer your question, Lauren? Yes, it was very helpful. Which one do you think you'll do? The confrontation or the simulated? The simulation? Probably simulation because like confrontation won't, like, people like that will not, I'm not ready to fight.

Like, that would make things worse with some people that I already could think of who I have like minor issues with that I can like, brush off. So maybe simulation 'cause I'm not ready to battle it out. Yeah, right. I, I, I understand. Um, I think Carol and Jack are the only projectors in this room. And I'm a reflector.

I don't think anyone, is anyone like a projector or manifestor or reflector? No. Right? Everyone else is a, a generator or an mg. Okay. So the perks of being a projector is that y'all are really good at confrontation. Believe it or not. Projectors have no problem being like, you messed up and here's why. Um, so I would highly encourage you to do that, to shake yourself out of 40.

'cause you're gonna do it anyway all the time. That's like literally why you're here. You're here to really see into people and tell and give 'em the truth. Um, but yeah, I have noticed generators, mgs, we really sort, sort of struggle with because I, I'm the same. I like just blow up at people. I'll hold it and I'll blow up last minute and, um, that's really healing for me.

Unfortunately not for people around me, but it's great for me. So you kind of have to embody that, Lauren. Okay? And if you ever need help, just ask a projector. They'll help you get through it. Oh, am I right? Are you guys gonna confrontation, Carol? I'm not afraid to kind of like address things. Yep. Yeah. Yeah.

I might be a little hesitant, but when I'm, but when I think I'm coming off as a jerk, I'm just, it's not, I'm more, it's just like assertive and people are like, oh, okay. Right. You can think, be in your head, right? And think of all these different scenarios, but I don't want to assume or make any assumptions.

So I'd rather just get clarity and talk to that person and address what needs to Yeah. Or else you'll have all these lingering ruminations inside of you that's not gonna serve you. Right? Yeah, no, that's the worst. Yeah. I think my issue was the last time I stood up to someone at work, now we don't really talk and it's very passive aggressive and this person yelled back at me and that's their defense.

And I'm not gonna fight with like the unit bully even like, so I was like, you know what? This was ridiculous. I felt like I'm fighting with an adult toddler, like right. But this is also how, um, and I'm not like, I dunno about Jack, but I know a little bit every single projector, I know every single, like nine outta 10 ones are always, they, they end up in this like decade, two decade long relationships where, because the projectors are, even though they're confrontational, they're also very helpful.

So they start, they, they stay in these relationships where they're infinitely helpful and they don't know how to get out. So you're coaching your partner for 20 years and you get burnt out. You know? So I think there is, it's, again, this is energy, this is aura. So for example, like Lauren, you and me, we know we or you and mg or, or you just a pure generator.

Just a generator. Okay. It, I've seen this over and over. If I, or a generator or an mg, you know, we speak our truth. There's actually, sometimes there's real punishment, but, but when a projector does it for some reason, it's met with, oh, gimme more of that. And then that's how you get roped into these fixing relationships and projectors have to really watch out for that.

I'm just saying, you know, so, um, so it's good that you guys are trying to run a business 'cause then you can help a lot of people, not just one. 'cause that will take a lot out of you, like a relationship. In my, in every single cohort, there's at least two women. Who's been in like a lost 15 years of their life trying to fix their husband or wife and their projector.

So, but, but yeah, it, it's like, it's a gift and a curse. Like you can see the truth and people just want more and more and more. I don't know if you've had that experience, Jack, but maybe not. Maybe you avoided it. I have, uh, there's somebody I, it, it, it wasn't 20 years, but yeah, I was in it for too long and I still get some residual stuff from that that I wish I didn't, but mm-hmm.

Yeah. Uh, but yeah, no, I'm, uh, yeah, I've, I've not been dating. I'm off the apps. I'm all that stuff. I'm focusing on other things. Good for you. Nice. Yeah. Put put putting your projectors into other, other venues. That's great. That's the way to go for now at least. Um, okay. Who would like to go next? I think it's just Jackie, right?

Yes. Hello. Hi. I know you're on vacation. Thanks for joining. No, you're fine. I do have a dog in the background and she's been borderline fussy, so that's also, I was a little bit quiet. Uhhuh. No problem. We can't hear the dog. At least not yet, so not uh oh. Nope. Don't look at her. Okay. Um, so yeah, I had to really think about, um, really each definition of the dimensions.

I know that I've done a lot of, um, I think especially when we were going through like the human design, I actually did the one-on-one session, um, and it really helped me get clarity of some of the patterns that I was kind of. Facing. And so I think I was kind of stuck in the dimension where I was like retelling like stories of my past.

Mm-hmm. Or I was like, kind of stuck in like future thinking. Mm-hmm. Yeah. Like, when is this gonna happen? When is that gonna happen? Um, and so I started actually starting to dissolve, kind of break that down. Um, and then there was also points where I also kind of get stuck in terms of going through the motions of things.

Like, I'll quote unquote experience, but I wasn't absorbing those experiences and recalibrating my values. So that's, yeah. Mm-hmm. Oh, go ahead. No, that's a big one. That that's a, I think, I actually think that's where most of the issues lie for people. They just don't realize it. Yeah. Go ahead. Sorry. Yeah, and I, it was interesting to see like, um, how.

You don't have to necessarily, it's not necessarily like this linear thing. Like you can always go back to different dimensions or even have, I guess, different experiences and dimensions depending on what aspect it is in your life, whether it's, you know, job, business, love, life. Mm-hmm. Um, okay. So you recognize that you've been living initially a little bit in the four D like Yeah, like repeating that, you know, old narrative, but then when you dug a a bit deeper, you realize like, oh, I, I had a bunch of experiences, but I didn't really show up differently to, or choose something differently to shape them or push 'em a different direction.

Is that what you're saying? Yeah, correct. Like, I was actually attracting and manifesting things with mg, but I wasn't even like aware of the stuff I was manifesting and why they were coming into my life. Mm-hmm. Mm-hmm. Yeah. So, um.

I like to, so when we talk about dating, right? Because I see, I hear both sides, like all the time. Like women who always attract, uh, like let's just say like cheaters and let's just say they don't live a three house. Uh, so there's that. And then there's men I that I know when I talk to who always attract gold dig, I'm, I'm not even talking like lightweight gold digs, like heavyweight, like heavy duty gold digger that will just run you dry.

And it's, I'm like, dude, like how, how? Like, how are these two different populations always attracting the exact same experiences? And it kind of goes back to, um, actually 1D like, yeah, what do you, especially for the men, it's kind of like, do you, have you been taught that's what you're worth? Like you only derive self-worth from that.

Mm-hmm. You know, and for women it's like, maybe you didn't have a lot of affection in your home growing up. So when somebody does come in and love bomb you, you, you kind of mistaken that as real. I mean, this is so, mm-hmm. It's cliche, but these things that need to be spelled out and tied back to what was programmed into you as a kid that you've, that you've learned to put it a pedestal.

And it's, it's, once you become aware of that, then the pattern starts to change. Mm-hmm. No, I agree. But yeah, go ahead. Actually, that's what, um, the reader was actually saying during my session was that, um, my, one of my big things is, and I think it was, I need to like take time. Um, and I guess it's 'cause I have emotional, um.

Aspect, I, sorry if I don't recall the exact word for it, but it's like Yeah. Emotional authority. Yeah. You have emotional authority. Yes, exactly. And so I have a tendency to get into relationships actually, where it was a lot of love bombing. Like, 'cause I was telling her like, oh, well, we'll get excited and things will happen and I'll have a good time.

And then everything just kind of fizzles out. And she was like, you need to actually have the opposite experience where it's, even if those things are happening, you have to ride through the emotional wave firsts before you make a decision. Mm-hmm. Um, and uh, love bombing is one of those things that not only do I track because I have what, a Venus Square, Jupiter, um, but also, um, that aspect of the emotional authority as well.

So that was pretty insightful for me. Mm-hmm. Yeah. That, that's awesome that you guys discovered that. Mm-hmm. The, the dating thing though, I mean, I really cannot emphasize enough like you do have to, it's, it's unfortunate 'cause with, with business, as long as like. You're not putting your own money and hopefully you give some investors or you're, or you're running a business has low cost.

Like it's cool to experiment and just collect massive data, right? Yeah. But with dating, there's real humans involved, so testing at a bigger scale can get risky. Mm-hmm. Mm-hmm. I fully acknowledge that's like you're kind of playing with fire. So there's gotta, that's why I said the protected simulated environment where it's like you have to get to a place where you can catch yourself If you notice yourself getting too excited about someone who don't, who you don't really know.

Hmm mm-hmm. It's not that they, from getting too excited about a business idea that you don't know much about. And the way you can edit the 1D is to kind of question, yeah, why is this exciting to me? Like, where does that excitement come from?

Same thing with business, like why does this idea excite me? Where does this come from? Can I do this? Okay. The other way, you guys, the other way to know that your 1D is solid is if you can get to a place where you say, this value is so important to me. Like freedom is so important to me. Expression is so important to me.

All the stuff is so important to me that I don't care if I don't get paid for it. I don't care if this leads to like a commitment. I don't care. You don't care about the at attack, uh, uh, the outcome. Mm-hmm. That's when you know that's a value you can stand by if there is some kind of payoff you're seeking that's it's coming from somewhere else.

That's meta. But does that make sense or no? It does. Um, and I think that's where I think that that 2D action where it's like. Like, it's not even ugh. Right? Like I just got back from a, you know, or wrapping up a business trip and it's just like, um, going on the dating apps again and just going through that action, that 2D right.

Just continuing that experience and recalibrating those values. But, uh, just like you mentioned, instead of experiencing those values or, you know, those experiences at a higher low and making decisions off of it, like you mentioned, like being completely detached from that situation. Hard, you're saying it's hard.

because I mean, to just put it bluntly because you like what you're seeing, like some of these guys are like, oh shit, I kind of wish this worked out. Or is it just like in general, like human interaction with the male is scary type of thing? I think it's. A mixture of the fear of vulnerability, and then also the mixture of loss of freedom that I'm trying to detach as like if commitment is the restraint of, of my freedom.

Um, okay. That's a huge discovery. Yeah. So maybe you have a, yeah. So you have a fear of commitment deep down? Yeah, I think so. 'cause of my independence, you know, like I'm worried that I'll, I'll lose that. I know in my mind, mentally that's not the case and that you can literally have a relationship that respects your space and your autonomy.

I just haven't seen that before. Mm-hmm. So I think that's where I'm getting restrictions, because even when I'm on the dating apps, right. Literally like, this might be a good problem. I'm not seeing fuck boys. I'm seeing like, hey, like I'm getting ding, ding, ding. Like profiles, want monogamous relationship, want long term, want to settle down?

Hey, let me take you out for coffee. And I'm just, I get a little like hesitant. And I think it's because of that, that loss of independence. And I, I know I need to experience dating and I need to get over that fear. But now do you see why? Maybe that's what you attracted because you have that fear, so you've only interacted with people who also have that fear.

Hmm. So how, so how do we, so, okay, this is a really great example for everyone to kind of witness. How can you choose differently in 3D? What literal action can you take in 3D to shift that fear? You match with a guy who says he wants a wife, whatever, like tomorrow. But you kind of like him, you're like, okay, I feel like he's a decent candidate 'cause whatever.

Yeah. Have shared interest. What tangible action can you take or what can you say to really shift that experience? For me, it's like, well this is, I guess this is what I was going to approach it as is one is like finding one, the safety and roundness within myself to not always reacting to what someone's telling me and more of just like taking it in, but still knowing what my boundaries are.

And I think that's where it's like, even if this person has the same goal of a long-term relationship, observing if we're even a match for each other and telling them it's gonna take me time and finding a partner that's gonna allow me to have time to like maneuver as I'm going through this, this kind of feeling.

That's the answer right there. So I don't know if you've done that before, but this is like for everybody in the room, especially, um, for anyone who's looking for, for love specifically, your only job, your only job is to say, to state your boundaries. Right. And if you don't do that, if you don't state your boundaries on your needs, same thing with a business partner, whoever, that's actually a lack of vulnerability.

Mm. Mm-hmm. And it's also tied to a fear of rejection. 'cause deep, deep down you're thinking, okay, I value freedom. I know this now, but if I say it, no one's, no one's gonna want me. Mm-hmm. That's, that's, that's so it's like, it's like a multifaceted issue. You don't wanna lose your space and freedom. Mm-hmm.

But you don't wanna be rejected. And this is all bubbling up as not being vulnerable. Mm-hmm. But the truth. But the truth is, you only get what you want if you just stayed upfront. When we get married, I like my own bed. Mm-hmm. You do that enough times and the 25th guy would be like, oh my God, me too. Yeah.

And you know, it's funny too, I do actually have a childhood friend I just saw not too long ago. He's been married and I actually was there when they first started dating him and his partner. And they have this lovely home and it's amazing. And they have their two separate rooms. Mm-hmm. They're happy and they just have their own space.

And I'm like, oh, I love that. I love that. Yeah. So that's another, um, I'm glad you brought this up. So, so this is more for like five D, it's more of a five D Exer, five D exercise. But every time you guys feel like this is not possible for me, this is not possible for me. You have to look at people who did it.

Yeah. People who are 85 years old and you're like, I can't get married. Well guess what? I know I can Google right now. Yeah. People who got married last week and they're 85 years old, their wedding wedding still will come up. So that's another way to shift out of 40 and move on to five B 60. Mm-hmm. Is those pause examples.

So, um, really great example, Jackie.

No, um, no thank you. This was definitely very clarifying for me. Um, so I'm definitely ready to take the leap. I, I am recognizing what's coming up emotionally from this, but I'm actively, like, I want to work through this. Yeah. And especially when it comes to dating, humor goes a long way. Like the thing that you're afraid of, like, make it something funny, you know, like, um, yeah, like, I mean, gosh, I mean, I'm so out of touch now.

I don't even know, but I used to make jokes all the time. Mm-hmm. Just to warn people. I think I used to make jokes like, oh, don't you dare think about cheating on me. 'cause I, 'cause I'm a psychic and I, you know, I would really go all the way out there and scare guys, you know, and there's a few that were like, oh, that's fine.

It's like, those are the ones I kept talking to. Mm-hmm. So any kind of fear of rejection, that's, that's we, we talked about this, but that is actually like a masculine thing. So if you can release that and just leave with your truth, that would go a very long way. And just knowing that. Yeah. Yeah. Definitely.

Living in my truth. 'cause it's like I'll also trying to, I'm not trying to act small either. Yeah. Mm-hmm. Yeah. Thank you. Thank you. Thanks for sharing. That was a great example. Okay, so we're at time, but what'd you guys think about these, the nine dimension things? Did it kind of help you orient around, you know, how to move up in your penthouse goals?

Hopefully yes. No feedback. Follow up questions.

Yeah, I'll definitely have to revisit, revisit the pet house and re-look at this, uh, again. So, yeah. Perfect. Yeah, it's, it's, uh, like I said, this is the stuff I keep using for myself too. I'm like, every time I'm like, oh, but I want this thing. I'm like, but did I do the 2D stuff yet? That'll probably take a long time, you know?

Yeah. For me, I like it 'cause it, it's almost like a step by step guide. Mm-hmm. Right? Where like, okay, figure this out first and then you can move on to the next, and then the next, um, a roadmap where's so often I feel like I'm just going all over the place. Yeah. That makes sense to me. What about you, Lauren?

No, it was really helpful. It's one of those things that, like, as you said earlier, like, I know I'm safe. I just need to do the work to actually embody it and feel that. Yep. Yep, yep. Yep. Okay. Thanks so much you guys for your time and energy today. I hope you're continuing your one-on-one calls. If you're confused about what your one-on-one calls are, please email.

Email. Angela, I think I had, I think j Jackie, I don't think you're on vacation. Was actually Jessica, she's the one that dropped off. I apologize. But, um, we'll send this recording to her and the rest of the group, so. Okay. Sounds good. Thank you so much y'all. I hope you have a great weekend and I'll see you guys again next time.

Bye. Take care.
