Electromagnetic Connections Video Transcript:

Hi, Jack. Hey, Lily. How are you? I'm very good. Let's see who else is here? Am I the only one today? Let's see. Hmm.

Uh, how is the new Moon treating you?

Uh, it's, it's good. I guess. I guess I haven't been really paying attention. Um, so, um, you haven't paid attention how it influenced you, you just generally feel good, which is incredible. Yeah, I, uh, so last week, so I started a new job tomorrow. Um, and so like the last week, I'm just going to work at a coffee shop to just make some money while I figure some things out.

Um, and it's funny, I think we're meeting tomorrow morning, um, for our human design one-on-one. And all last week I've just been like stuck to the couch, like just watching TV shows, like just getting up, doing like the activity that I need to do. But outside of that, just been going through TV shows and stuff.

And so, uh, this weekend I was like, I gotta get up. I gotta go. I gotta like do something. And so I ended up going to a concert last night that was a lot of fun. I just went by myself. I, I just go do things by myself. Um, and it was good. And so I feel, I feel better. So it's been, um, yeah, I'm just kind of like.

Going into things, no expectations, just seeing how they are, what they're doing and all that. So it's wonderful. By the way, it'll be very interesting to see your motivation. How are you meant to flow through life? Because it sounds like that's really working for you. And even if it's not how you're meant to operate, you definitely need moments like that where you are just going with the flow.

Even staying and doing the bare minimal is recharging it. It, yeah. It charges your body with new energy and prepares you for the next chapter, right? Yeah. So my motivation arrow is, that's the top right one, right? Mm-hmm. It's to the right. Hmm. Can you see it more specifically? Because there are six types of motivation.

You can go into genetic metrics, and I think even the three version gives you that information. Um.

I don't know what Angela told you, but it has to have a specific name. The arrow also is important, but, um, okay, let me see here. It has a specific name.

Um, hold on one second. Let me find this.

Oh, shoot. Um, and when you make the chart in the website, you have, um, a field that says where you click it. Wait, let me check how it was. I cannot see it right now. Um, on my human design.com. Right. Um, genetic matrix.com. Oh. Genetic metrics.

Would you mind typing it in the chat so that I, because it came up that it wasn't, um, chat. I don't know why I cannot truly see what's going on when I put the presentation mode. Uh, where is the chat now? I see.

Oh, there we go. Yes.

Alright.

I have the paid version because I'm using it for many things, but I think even the free version gives that information.

Okay.

Okay. This is interesting. Did you manage to do it? Yeah, I need to redo it 'cause it's showing some different things. What different things? Um, like it says my birthdate local is my birthday. Mm-hmm. And then my birthdate, UTC is January, 2010. Which is 19 years later, and it says that my age is 15 years and I'm 34.

And you entered the year correctly? Yeah. I'm going to, I'm just going to put it in again and yeah, you can edit it again. I.

Okay. Um.

No, I don't see motivation. So you go to the Quantum, you, you see Quantum on top? Yeah. Click it. It's like a PDF. Is there a, when you click Quantum, you can see a menu which goes down and you can click on Personality and Design there. Can you click on it? I can't, no. Um, always. That's only in the paid version.

Okay. Can you give me your details? So, yeah. Um, my birthday is March 10th, 1991. Wait a minute. Um. Anyway, we're still waiting for others, which might not show. Yeah, we might as well. Uh, so 1997. 1991. 1991 month. March. March Day. 10. 10. Okay. Uh, birth time. 4:00 AM 4:00 AM uh, country United States. Okay. City Bridgeport. B-R-I-D-G-E-P-O-R-T.

Is it together or part? It's one word.

Uh, where? Uh, Connecticut, C-O-N-N-E-C-T-I-C-U-T. Okay, can I find it? Okay, we have Jessica coming in.

Hi Jessica. Hello. Hey. Hi. How are you doing? Good, good. Just was running a little bit late, um, walking my dog and I'm like, I need to get here asap. Um, we might be only the three of us because uh, we were waiting for other people, but it's getting late so I don't think they might coming. So if anyone comes, they'll jump.

Right. I was checking Jax, um, motivation, uh, just to be sure if we have all the data correctly. Okay. Just one quick, so. Uh, your motivation is desire jack. Desire. Okay. Desire. Yeah. You can remember that. Uh, Jessica, do you have your data ready? Uh, I do not. I think I have your chart. We have our session, right?

Yes. We had our session on Friday. Yes. Let me Friday. Yeah. Let me give you yours so you know it as well. Um, so Jessica, uh, your motivation is also desire. Okay. Uh, and let me give you the other ones. So your determination is nervous. Your cognition is inner vision and your environment is kitchens. I'm kitchens too.

Oh. Lots of similarities today. We'll, we'll have to cover everything because it might be useful to know it for people that are your friends, family members, because you will know how to interact with them better and how to support them also, because when you know those things, you, you'll see what you can do with them.

Uh, so they will be talking about what makes you electromagnetic and what makes you attractive, what makes you more juicy, let's say, uh, to attract everything that you would like to have in your life. And that happens when you are doing things from a place of authenticity, from what feels the, the most natural to your body, what you're born to do with ease.

So when you do those things, you become magnetic. You attract everything that you like to be having in your life. And hmm. You also operate way easier in life. And yeah, the more aligned you are, the more magnetic you are. The more you are in tune with your design, the more you act according to your design, the more magnetic you, uh, and the more attractive you'll be to have more opportunities, meeting people, attracting money, attracting off all of those good stuff.

And before we start, I would like to ask you what you are attracting right now, what you would want to attract right now?

I guess I could go first. Yeah. Um, uh, I was attracting love and I didn't know if I wanted love in terms of like with a partner and now I feel like I want to attract more like. Love within myself. And once I love myself, I feel like everything else will become aligned. Um, money, career, home, and then personal life that includes love, et cetera, friendships.

That's so beautiful. Can I ask you one more clarifying question? Mm-hmm. How, how does that, uh, love or the self look looks like for you? How you envision it to be? How I envision it. Being able to respect my own boundaries and not wavering, um, from those boundaries, uh, not people pleasing, um, as I used to do before.

Okay. So you might even clarify more with saying, I just want to be more respectful with my boundaries. Mm-hmm. And honoring and loving myself and my own truth.

That's so beautiful. Everything truly starts from there. And I think you are on the right path because we have our conversation, so I think you are. Yeah. You're, you're getting there. Uh, so Jack, what about you? Would you like to share? If not, that's okay. Yeah. Um, a big theme for me is because I've been kind of stuck in a cycle of like doing things that, um, I've been told like I would be good at and stuff like that.

So I'm just looking at an overarching theme that I'm working with in my life right now is like finding things and doing things that bring energy to me, um, and having those things like work in my life. Um, so is there things that like add to it as opposed to. Like, oh, I gotta go do this right. Kind of thing.

So that's, I guess that's what I'm attracting at at this moment. Would you say you are attracting a specific job or a specific career, or it's more of a general thing, kind of like a general thing. Um, I just know with some of the stuff with, um, I know we're gonna be diving a lot more deeper personally tomorrow, Lily, but I know some of the basics just being like a projector.

Um, and, and things like that. I've been more in like that generator type of energy. Um, and so I've been, I've been trying to do things within like the projector type of thing to see if those have been like, more fulfilling and, and better fitting for me. Um, like I, like I started like a, I. Like a dummy TikTok account, and I've just been like posting stuff on there and things like that just to see how that's been going.

Um, and so just kind of putting myself in positions where I'm not the one necessarily chasing, but like having people come to me, if that makes sense. Yeah. You are more on the side of where you will want to respond to the things that feel the, the most aligned with you, the things that you feel you truly want to do.

Right. Pushing and doing from the place. Yeah. I've been, I'm, I'm really tired of like the rat race, I guess, where it's like, Hey, if there's just stuff that I can do that will allow me to make some money to, to live my life and have that stuff work within that, whether that's a partner, business, money, all that, um, that's more of what I'm.

Trying to align myself with. And so I guess that's the, that's what I'm attracting in general. Total transformation, I would call that. Yeah. You're again, on a big journey, but I think I, yeah. Great. Great, Carol. Sorry for waiting. Uh, more. No worries. If jumping in our, uh, discussion in the beginning where we say, what are you attracting right now?

Because we are focusing on what makes you magnetic, what makes you attractive, so what are you attracting right now? I, I think I, I'm attracting more things that are, uh, aligned with my life purpose and also just more clarity and awareness of things are aligned of what type of lifestyle I want to have and especially what kind of energy I want to, um, exert to allow those things to happen.

'cause I think sometimes, you know, uh, some things are worth it or some things are not. So I just want to like focus on inner peace and aligned alignment and whatever I want to, to create in the future. Okay. So you want to have more alignment within, so you know which path is yours and which path is not yours.

Yeah, because they, I mean, ultimately you go through a lot of things and I think you can kind of gauge what to be cautious of and what feels right and what doesn't. So it's almost like, uh, for me it's kind of my energy and inner peace is most important. So I don't want to go into situations that disturb my peace.

Not saying that I don't gotta put myself in situations for personal, mental, and psychological growth. It's just that I know what's worth it and what's not sounds even better. Um, because when you are on that path that is aligned, you feel good, you feeling peace, you feel like things are going good, and your body feels, uh, more joyful when you are on that path that is aligned with you.

Yeah. I like how you're starting today. Thanks. Uh, so I am sure that you can use the full moon that happened a few days ago and manifest those, um, those desires, uh, and make them truly, truly happen. So we'll go through, uh, environment cognition, motivation, and determination today. Um, is everyone aware of those four aspects in your chart?

Well, luckily Angela sent that picture 'cause otherwise I wouldn't know where the hell she was asking for them. So, yeah. Uh, okay. So all of you know your environment, your cognition, your motivation, your determination, so we can start if someone doesn't know them, if you are feeling confused. If that's your motivation, for example, if that's your cognition, please ask me.

I will answer. I will tell you where to find it, how to find it, because that will help you also after that, find those, um, aspects in the charts of other people and understand them also better. That's why we'll also cover all of, of the different environments, different clinicians so you can know how to interact and, um, have conversations with other people as well, especially those that are close to you.

So the environment is where your life and body thrives. You have to know where you can make the best decisions. For example, if you're not in the correct environment, the decisions that you make might not be the most aligned ones. Recognition is how to know if this is the one because we're speaking about the law.

Here. Uh, that's why I have resonated the one, but it might apply to anything. How to know if something is, what you thought of it, what you thought it is. All those things that are connected with information, how to know that this is what I'm thinking of. Your motivation is what drives you in this life, what drives you towards love, what drives you work towards work your driving force.

The determination is how you best receive others. How you're meant to receive food, energy places, things because everyone is different in the way they perceive, um, the world around them. So those are the four things that we're commonly discussing today, and we start with environment as already hope you support your correct frequency and life flow when you are in the right environment.

Your life just flows and you might not always be in the right environment, but you have to use the right environment as um, a safe place where when you go to that safe place, you know everything will flow and uh, you'll see that your body thrives the most there. So we have six types of environments. The first one is caves.

Do we have, do, do we have cave people today here? No. I am the only one. I am with environment caves. So when you envision caves, you know that you see a lot of, oh, we have someone else coming in.

Yeah. Danielle. Hi. We are thinking about an environment already. Um, hopefully you know your environment, you know your motivation, cognition, and determination, and if you don't, please tell me. So that session is useful for you as well. Okay? Okay. So the caves, the cave is a very, very safe place. So if you have caves as an environment, this means that you have to know that your environment is very safe.

You are sitting somewhere where you have a wall beside, beside, besides, um, behind your back. You know that you know who enters and who can, who goes out. You have full control of your environment. It's all about control and safety Here. You cannot feel, you won't feel good in an open space, you know, for example, an open working space.

You'll feel all of the time anxious and you won't be making the best decisions for you. So case means safety, privacy, and protection. You have to feel those things. You have to know that you are going to select the people that come close to you. And also you have to feel that there are not many people around you.

If you are too preoccupied with conversations, people around you, you will lose yourself. And sometimes people can go into an extreme of over is, uh, of over isolation when they have been around too many people, if they have that type of environment. Uh, so we go to the next one, which is markets, which is a completely different thing than, than than caves.

So markets means that you need that dynamic environment, which, which you can see in a marketplace. In a marketplace, there are many things going on. There is an exchange. People are talking, they are buying stuff, taking stuff, and there are a lot of things going, going on there. There are a lot of things going on there.

And um, if you don't have that dynamic energy around you, uh, where you meet a lot of people, like in coffee shops, in coworking spaces, you won't feel like your energy is in the right space. If you're not there, you will feel that stagnation that doesn't allow you to connect with your truth and your authenticity.

And yes, you might not spend all of your time in areas which are like a market, but as long as you have moments where you can be in that kind of environment and truly feel what's going on internally, that's gonna be enough. Um, then we go to kitchens, which is a little bit similar as markets because in kitchens, if you envision a kitchen in your mind, uh, you will see that there are so many things going on in the kitchen.

There is a lot of transformation happening there. Transforming food from one, um, from one place to another, from one consistency to another. Consistency. There are a lot of alchem alchemy there. There is a lot of mixing, a lot of ideas going on. So when I see a kitchens person, I know that this person needs a lot of transformation.

Uh, for example, a working environment where ideas are discussed will allow that person to feel more connected with themselves. A place where things are transforming, like in politics, a lot of things are transforming. You will know that this person will feel alive, will feel connected with themselves, with themselves, and it'll be, it'll be aligning that person to that, to the right path.

Then we go to mountains, which is connected with a little bit more distance. When you have a mountains person, this person needs, uh, a perspective, a higher perspective, places that allow this person to have a wider view of what's going on. That person also needs a lot of silence and also cooler climate.

Because in the mountain there, there is more air that's cooler. Not so high temp, not such a high temperature. But the most important thing for mountain people is to have a perspective of their environment. They need to be a little bit the, they need to have a little bit of distance from which they can observe what's going on around them.

If they don't have that, they won't have a clear understanding of their inner world, what's going on internally, where they should be going, what's the next step, and all of those things. So whenever they choose the place they live, uh, the, the place they occupy, it should be a place that is at least on a higher floor, whenever they sit in a restaurant, a table that's a little bit more distant, uh, in their office.

An office that's not in the middle. Uh, a space that allows 'em to have a. View of everyone that's around them when they sit at home, they should sit in a place where, you know, they may, might see everything that's going on around them so they feel good within themselves. When we speak about ballets, um, you can envision, you can see that everyone, everything is going through the valleys.

So you need a dense area where lots of things are happening and lots of things are moving. And these people, they don't need exactly exchange, but they need to feel like a lot of things are happening around them. They might not be exactly, um, into the things that they are happen, the things that are happening around them, but they see that life is flowing around them.

If they don't see life flowing around them, they won't feel good and they won't feel like they are making the right steps in their life.

Shorelines is a very interesting environment because it's an environment that is a mixture of, mixture of two. People with shorelines as an environment need to choose places that allow them to be with one food in one environment and with another food in another environment. So places like, um, when, where you are at the end of the city, you might be in the city and outta the city where you can be, uh, closer to the sea, for example, to be in the sea and in the land to have that contrast.

People with shorelines need to travel a lot because when they stay too much in one envir environment, they don't feel good. They need that difference, they need that change, they need that, um, availability of different environments to feel like themselves because that change. Allows them to feel a sense of expansion, a sense of growth, a sense of, uh, alignment at the end of the day.

Uh, so this is about environment. Any questions so far about your environment or the environment of someone else?

Well, it's funny because I have kitchens. So I was literally thinking of a kitchen. I'm like, how? I'm not really like, uh, a good cook, but so that's why I'm thinking, I'm like, I don't know about kitchens here. You don't need to be a good cook. Uh, but you have to be in places that allow you to change and transform.

How do you feel when you are at work, for example? Yeah, I think, you know, like this definition, uh, definitely, um, defines what I like. But yeah, I was, like I said, I was thinking of literal kitchen. Yeah, no, the, the names are just, um. Just the way of acute way of saying what's underneath. Okay. Someone else wants to share something about your environment.

Okay? At the end, you can always ask me, we'll have around 10 minutes at the end where you can ask your questions and we can discuss your charts and stuff like that. So we go with cognition. Recognition is the sense in, uh, in your body, which is the sense that allows you to learn things, to sense things.

It's how you perceive also others and how you can, uh, also navigate yourself through the environment and the reality that is around you. And it's a sense that you know it instantly. You use it all the time. You might not even know that you're using it also. Uh, but it's your highest sense that you grasp information.

You know things about others, you know things about the environment that you find yourself in. You just literally know things through that sense, through that cognition that you have. And for example, when we speak about log, this is how you know if this is the one when you're closer to that person and your cognition, lights in, lights up, you know, okay, this person is for me.

So those are the six types of cognition. And you might think of it more in a literal sense here. So the first ignition is smell. You smell things in a literal way, your nose. Tells you everything you need to know about the person, about, about a space, about a city. Some cities also have specific smells.

Some rooms also have specific smells. So you know things through your nose. If it doesn't smell good to you, it's not for you. Um, if you feel like something, it smells there. If you use the word, if you use the sensor, something smells fishy here, for example, in, in a more, um, energetic way. Again, this is not for you.

You have to really trust your nose. Uh, do we have someone with smell here who can share a story with us? No. I also don't have smell, so I cannot share you a personal story, but I know people that have it and they literally have a very sensitive nose. They're very sensitive to towards more, more. Stronger perfumes, for example, they cannot stand stronger perfumes because it disrupts.

Yes. Daniel? I, well, I use essential oils. I don't use like any kind of like toxic, like, well, they call it toxic, like, um, perfumes or candles. So I am sensitive to like, smells like that for sure. Yes, because the, the toxic smells, they, they don't allow you to truly understand what's going on. They, they are too strong for your nose and it numbs the, the molecules there that allows you to, to get information.

So that's very nice that you're using oils, natural oils. Um, so we go to taste. Taste is connected with your mouth. So how you taste things. For example, when you kiss someone and you have taste as a cognition and you can truly know if this person is for you. Uh, when you taste food, even if it's a very healthy food and you don't like it, it's definitely poisonous for your body and you should not be eating it.

And when you, when you're not eating, you're not kissing someone, but you still have a, the strange taste in your mouth when you're with someone, that person is not for you. If you have a strange taste in your mouth when you're visiting a place, you're visiting a country, you're visiting a neighborhood, and, and you feel like something's going on in your mouth, that's not the thing for you.

That's not the person for you. You have to be very cautious of what's going on with your taste. What things are you tasting? What things are leaving? A strange feeling in your mouth. You have to be very mindful of the taste. Do we have someone we taste here?

No. Okay, we go to outer vision. This is literally what you see. People with outer vision are so observant. They see things that other people don't. They see little cues in the way that people speak, the way people behave, and they need to see you. They need to see you because if they don't see you, they don't know what's really going on.

I know people without revision and they need to see people frequently. They are not good with, with conversations. They're not good. Even with FaceTime. They need to see you to know what's going on. They are the people that want to frequently meet others, so they literally see what's going on. They feel detached if they don't, if they're not able to see.

Uh, the ones around them and they are, they, they get those subtle cues. Even, even they don't know how they know it, but when they see someone, they know it. Do we have someone with revision here? Yes. Jack? Yeah. Uh, you, you have revision? Okay. I forgot. I do, I do in the beginning. Yeah. I have a, yeah, I have outer vision.

Um, and it's been, it's been showing itself lately. Um, oh yeah. Just like, um, I've been spending a lot of time by myself. Mm-hmm. Which, you know, having, having that alone time is important, but I've noticed when I have too much of it, it can avalanche into non-productive things. Um, we, we can put it that way.

Um.

Yeah, it, it is funny. I'm not a facetimer. I hate FaceTime. Like, let's just get together kind of thing. Um, like even when, like, even when I am dating, like I don't want to be texting you all the time. I don't want to, I'd rather like hop on the phone for like 10 minutes and just be like, Hey, how's your day?

Great. Like, you want to go grab coffee or something this weekend and do that? Um, yeah. So that resonates. Thank you for sharing it because I've, I've heard the same story from other people that have also al outer vision and everyone says that yes, sometimes I need that alone time, but if it's too much, you feel completely disconnected because you dunno what's going on in, in, in, in life and mm-hmm.

Cannot have that. Self-reflection, what's going on internally. 'cause we need others. We need to perceive information from the outer world. So we have that reflection of, oh, I'm seeing these around me. That means that something's going on internally. And when you have that disconnect, you completely lose track of what's going on within yourself as well.

Yeah, yeah. Um, yeah, not only within myself, but it's like, oh, what is the world like? What's actually going on in the world? Like type of thing. So, yeah. Exactly. Exactly. That's interesting. Yeah. Uh, thank you for sharing again. So inner vision is a little bit different. We have vision, but that's. A vision that we have with our third eye.

So people within inner vision, they can see things through their dreams, through, um, an inner knowing something that they see in their mind. And they just know those people can have, um, they can have like, I don't know how to explain it exactly, but. Inner images that show them the true information, they can see an image in their mind and they just know, oh, that, that's, that's what's going on.

Or this is my person, or this is not my person. They see things from within when they meet you, they see right through you. They see the, the depth of of the person that's in front of them. They, they are very good with seeing, but seeing within, and I can explain that only with, with examples and if someone has inner vision and they want to give their own example, that will be even better.

Um, do we have someone within vision? Yeah. Carl. Yeah, very much so. Like I think I see a lot of things that. Other people don't. And I am a pretty good judge of character when I meet someone for how they really are. But it's interesting, I do resonate, um, a lot with outer vision as well. 'cause I do like the human element.

I don't like texting and stuff like that too. I think texting is for, to confirm, okay, I'll see you at this place, but for actually having in-depth conversations that in person or on the phone. So yeah. So I see, yeah, me in both of those, they align to us an extent where you, when you see someone, you can see in them as well.

That's why you need the physical contact because this is what gives you the most information after all. Always for, for the six conditions. Yeah. With the, the visions and dreams. It's like if I am creating two, like I can see something and then I know how to kind of either, uh, build it from inception to completion or from completion back to where Yeah.

So it's very interesting. Yeah. Yeah, if you see it, you can do it. If you see it in your mind, you can do it. You can go about it. Yeah. And that's even with problem solving too. Like if I have no idea, then all of a sudden, like the, the visions will come of how to solve it. So it's very interesting. Yeah. Yeah, exactly.

In your vision and Jessica your way. Yeah, so it's inner vision, but some of it like doesn't resonate. I feel like the seeing with, with seeing within makes sense of, like, I, sometimes it's through conversation, so it's kind of weird 'cause it's through conversation that I'm able to really see the person for who they are without them having to disclose much.

So it's kind of like from their answers and from their actions or conduct, then I see what I need to know without them having to tell me of who they are as a person. Um, which is interesting. But I don't know if like intervision, I mean I guess I have to see that within, but it's through talk. And through their conduct that I see that I, I would actually want to say, add to what you're saying, Jessica.

I think we're kind of like a bullshit detector. I think that's what it's Yes, exactly. You are very right. Both of you, because when you have some interaction with, with someone, you get a lot of energy in that moment. It's not the words that they're using, it's not the answers they are giving. They're just emanating certain energy from them.

And when they emanate that energy, you see within them, it might not be a conversation. You might be working together on a project and you might be discussing the project. Uh, but still you will be getting some sort of information from that person. And that's what will strike that inner sense, that inner vision within you all.

I know, I know what they're telling me and they're bullshitting me, for example. So very good at, uh, those clarifications. I like them. Uh, we move to feeling. So this is again, a sense that it's not a literal sense because you perceive energy through, through your skin, through your vi, through the vibrational frequency of people.

This sense is very powerful because you feel it in your whole body. Your whole body knows when something's going on. Those people are also very, very intuitive. They don't need anything. They just need you to be there and they will feel how their body responds and they will know. Um, those people are also very emotional as well, because they're very, very sensitive to everything that's going on around them.

Do we have someone with feeling Yes, Danielle? Yes. I am like a big person that like my whole body almost like reacts, especially if I know like a bad situation like. I also, it's, I noticed that it's NN nothing is like hearing on here, but like, I feel like I'm a person that like hears things a lot too. And that's why I was late this morning because there was a cat outside that attack, this bird.

And I could tell from like what was going on, but I also like sensed it in my body before it was even like happening. And, uh, I went and saved the bird and dropped him off to a wildlife refuge this morning, which is why I was late to the call. But, um, yeah, I definitely like, can sense things very easy.

Beautiful. I'm so happy you saved the cut and, and you did that, but yeah, this is exactly what I'm speaking about. And um, you have some other moments where, where you use that sense of feeling where you just go get, uh, went with it. Mm-hmm. Yeah, I have. And there's like times where I've just been like, yeah, you know, I don't think we need to go here.

And like, we didn't go. And then something happened. They were like, how did you know? And I'm like, I don't know. I just got a feeling, you know? So I don't know really. Exactly. Exactly. This is, this is, this is the sentence. I just got a feeling. Exactly. So I'm very happy you're following it. Be because this means also that you're very aligned with yourself because when you're using your cognition, this means that you are in alignment with yourself.

And the last recognition we have is touch. So whenever someone touches you, you just know you. Your hands are also very powerful. Recognition is touch. And literally when I touch something or someone, when my hands are burning as well, I know that something's going on. And touch usually means that those people also perceive a lot through hugs, through physical expression of, of law Also.

And, um, it's very important for those people to also meet you in person because when you meet someone in person, this is the only moment where you can truly touch them and know that, and exchange information through, through the skin as well. I guess we don't have anyone we touch besides me, uh, here, and we can go to motivation.

So your motivation is, is what drives you, but you also have a transfers motivation, which is the opposite of, of your aligned motivation. This is your, um, this is the thing that will drive you out of alignment and we'll focus on the the two today. What motivates you and what to look for when you are going into a state of lack of motivation.

So when you lack motivation, this means that you are in the trans transference. So what is your driving force in love? You have to know what is your motivation to know what to do and what not to do when you're going towards love, towards work, towards friendships, towards anything in life. Because when you use the right motivation, this means that the places that you end up in will be aligned and will be correct If you're going with transference, this means that you wanna end up with the right partner, for example, or the job that is for you.

Um, this is where motivation is very, uh, very, very important. So the first motivation is fear. Do we have someone with fear? Okay, Danil. Very good. So when you feel that you have to prepare, for example, you want to prepare for the upcoming event or you want to prepare with information about this new person that you met, you want to know where they live, what, what they have done before.

You want to ask a lot of questions. You want to know a lot of stuff. You want to experience a lot of stuff with that person. You want to just know fear is all about collecting all of the information, all of the data, preparing in all possible ways. This means that this is correct for you. Do you usually do that?

Yes. Mm-hmm. Perfect. Perfect. If you don't do that, this means that you are not going towards that thing with your authentic self. So when you want to prepare, when you want to know when you are a little bit even fearful for what's going to happen, and you prepare even more because of that, this means that this is the right path.

Fear is not, uh, uh, a feeling that you should be avoiding. Rather use it to get even more information. Okay? And if you feel like, uh, you're preparing only for what's a ba, what's the basis, what's, what's just needed, this is not the correct motivation. When you say, oh, I don't need to do this. I don't need to do that.

I don't need to know that. I don't need to, uh, look for that. It'll all just work out. Uh, this is not the right way to do things. You need to prepare for all of the possible needs that can, can emerge. The next motivation is hope. You will have someone, we hope here. No. So hope is this belief that you have that everything will work out, uh, ev that everything is possible when you feel hopeful, when you feel like you just believe in what's going to happen.

This is the right motivation for these people that have hope as a motivation. If they feel like they have done something wrong, if they feel that sense of guilt, they won't be using their source of energy, they won't be using their full potential. So with people we hope they might sometimes even lack responsibility because it's a little bit irresponsible to just go with hope.

We just go with, I believe in this, but this will make them just align with everything that's for them. Uh, Lily, I have a question on, uh, my human design chart here. Uh, it has, I. Angela showed where the motivation was, but it was just an arrow, but I don't know actually what it is. Yeah, we had the same problem with Jack.

Uh, unfortunately, I don't think I can do it right now, but you can find it arrow pointing outwards. Uh, actually I think I have your chart. Let me look at it. Let me look at it and I'll tell you.

So your motivation is hope. Oh, okay. See how aligned you are your motivation is. Hope. Did you resonate with what I said? I don't think I was paying attention, to be honest, 'cause I was trying to figure out what my motivation was. Okay. So it's all about you feeling hopeful and you believing in things. Uh, when you feel like everything will just work out when you're positive, when you're carrying a positive vision about the future, things will just flow.

Yeah. Yeah. That aligns. Yeah. Perfect, perfect. Um, next one is desire. Desire is all about just literally saying what you want and going about it. Being a leader for your desires, just saying, I want this, and moving with the right steps towards what you want. You are a leader, you're an influencer. You can impact others, you can impact the world, and you just have to follow your desires.

I encourage you to use more the word desire. I want this, I want that. I desire this, I want this. And you have to say it out loud to others as well, especially when it comes to relationships. If you have desire as a motivation, you have to say to your partner. And to your friends, I want this, I desire this.

I want to eat pizza today, for example, or I want to visit this place, or, I'm very curious about this concert. I want to go there. Do we have people with desire? I remember Jack, your, your, ah, Jessica. So your, your, do you use a lot? That word I desire? I want, um, I, I haven't as much, but when I'm reflecting back just on this, when, when I do mm-hmm. Uh, like in relationships, for example, like in my past relationships when I've been in more of like that leadership type of like, Hey, let's go do this. Like, I want to go like, mm-hmm. No, I, I'll pick you up at seven, we're gonna go whatever.

Um, that type of thing. Um, but even when I'm like, no, I want to, you know, I want this, or like, I, like they, it does seem to work out. Um, so it does, it does make sense for me. I, I think you're con it might be confusing because you said that you're a projector and that might confuse you because you feel like, oh, I have to be passive, but then I have to say, I want this.

I have to be, you know, I have to be showing what I, I desire. Um mm-hmm. Those two things can align very well as long as you know, what is your authority, how to, you know, use your authority. But we'll go into more depth tomorrow, uh, with that. Yeah. But yeah, when you see things are just flowing and they're aligning.

Go with it. You know, do that and not stop, and don't stop it. You know? Mm-hmm. I desire, I want, let's do this, let's do that. And if other people, if other people respond, perfect. Yeah.

Uh, so we go to the next motivation, which is, which is need. Um, you are here to respond to just the essentials and not push for more. It's exactly the opposite of fear. You don't need to prepare for much, only for what's needed, only for what's just showing up right now. When you prepare too much, you will lose the flow.

You will lose your inner sense of, um, authenticity as well, because you'll be too tight. Just see a need and respond to it. Just see what's needed today. Just see what's needed in this conversation. Just see what's needed in, in that specific job. Do that. Don't prepare for more, respond to the needs which are happening right now.

Guilt is exactly the opposite of, of, of hope, not no hope. Uh, so you're here to correct what's wrong and fix it and be very responsible when you feel that there are things to be fixed. When you see that there is something that's wrong, you are motivated. Guilt is your motivation to do stuff. I know it might not sound nice to people that have guilt, uh, motivation.

I don't think we have someone with guilt here today. Uh, but if you know someone that has that motivation that just show them what they need to do, how to fix it, and they're very responsible people and they will do it. Innocence is exactly the opposite of desire. So you are just here to flow like a river through life.

Just be very innocent. Observe no agenda, be very impulsive in the moment, and that will just drive you towards where you have to be going. Of course there are other aspects in the chart. We have to look when we have that motivation to, you know, have more clear view because life is, life needs some structure, but for you it'll be best if you have innocence.

It'll be best to just flow and leave Things happen, respond to things rather than move them. Like Jack mentioned, exactly the opposite of what Jack mentioned actually should be if you have innocence as your motivation.

So do you have any questions about motivation? About your motivation? Yes, Daniel, I'm trying to figure out.

I know, like I raised my hand for fear, but where would I find it in my chart? Where would it say, because I have my chart pulled up. But did we have our No, I mean, we had before, but like, not again. Let, let me check if I have, uh, I mean, I have my chart pulled up, but I just don't know where to look for it.

Uh, so I will tell you right now because it'll be easier. Um, your motivation is need. Okay? So this is why you raise your hand for fear, because this is your transfer mo transference motivation. So if you go into fear knowing all the stuff, preparing for everything, yes, you'll be motivated, but you will be motivated not from a along the line.

Place. And the things that happen won't be the most. Aligned for you in that moment. Mm-hmm. So you have to be following more the need, what's needed right now. Exactly. As this morning, this was needed, you know, this was exactly what was needed in the moment, not more, not preparing for everything that's possibly going to happen today.

I respond to a need of animals around me. Mm-hmm. But still, I'm responding to a need. You, you should respond only to needs. Only to the most needed in the moment. Not preparing for everything out there. Mm-hmm. That's good to know. Thank you. Very good that we clarify that. I have a question about like the, my motivation of hope, and what do you mean by the transference of guilt?

So if you, if you're motivated from guilt, this means that you still are going to be motivated. But the places that you end up in, they won't be aligned because guilt for you will feel like a pressure. Uh, if you go with guilt, it would be something that's draining too much energy for you. Oh, okay. And the places that you end up in won't be the most aligned ones.

For example, if Jack goes with innocence, uh, because his motivation is desire. If, if he goes with innocence, this means that he'll let go of control completely. He'll just surrender and whatever happens, happens, yes, some things might come to him, but it won't be the thing that is really aligned with him himself, with his soul, with who he is.

Exactly. Like for you, Carl. Yeah. You can be motivated from guilt and you can achieve stuff, but it's not gonna feel like, oh, it's not hitting the heart, it's not gonna be, you know, very much connected with you. Okay. Thank you. Thank you so much for that question. Okay. If no one has anything else, we can go with determination, which is our last, uh, thing today.

It is connected a lot with eating, how you consume food, but also how you consume people. So it's all about how you consume things and in life, in relationships, it shows how you receive others as well. I will be speaking, I don't know if you see the chart. I hope you see it. I will be speaking about an eating style, but it also means how you're meant to receive others as well.

So we'll start from the bottom here on the left side where, where it says consecutive, and we'll go like that towards the top. Uh, can you tell me your eating styles so I know where to focus more? Um, I'm cold. So You're cold, Carol. We have cold. I'm nervous. Okay. You're nervous. Jessica and Jack. Danielle, do you know yours?

I, uh, I don't, I guess I have the one, the thing that I have might be under digestion, but I don't know. Yeah, the digestion. Is that the thing that you should be looking for? Okay. Mine's calm, calm, touch, calm. Okay. We have calm, we have nervous, we have cold. And Danielle, what is yours? I, I am not sure. I'm like a little overwhelmed looking at this.

Let me, let me, let me check. So yours is nervous as well. Oh, okay. So yours is nervous as well. So we have two nervous, one cold and one calm. I suggest we focus more on those. I will just go quickly towards the red from, you know, how the others are. We don't lose much time and you know, what is for you? So the consecutive type is all about eating one thing after the other in life, meaning consuming one person after the other, focusing only on one thing, then going to the other thing.

Uh, alternating means, again, having two things in your plate, having few people in your life and mixing them. You know, this person, this person, this person, this person, you know, mixing not many things, but still mixing communication, chatting with this person, then chatting with them, then again, chatting with the first one.

Mixing people. When we have open, open, uh, determination, it means that you are meant to be open for new people, new tastes. What's seasonal food right now? What, what is the season, uh, in your country and what things are going to happen in that season? Events, you know, being more open to things. When you have closed termination, it means that you haven't been very selective, knowing exactly what you like, what type of people you like, what type of food you like, and sticking only to that, not being very open with your taste.

When you, when you have hot determination, it means that you light up when things are hot, spicy, when there is spice in the communication, when there is spices in the, in your food, when your food is hot. Also, you like cold food and it's better for your metabolism. Eat food that is heated or hot or spicy, um, hot is very important for you.

Cold, uh, it is better to eat more salad or to communicate more with people that are a little bit more cold. They're not that. Um, spicy. They're not that, uh, heated as, as people and as communication And, um, it's better to wait for food to cool down before you eat it. It's also best for, for you to wait for people to cool down if they, for example, having an emotional reaction before you speak with them.

Who was with Cold? Danielle? No, Carol, you are with cold. Um, is it like that for you? Yeah. Like, I know kind of just gauging how people are, you know, so just knowing what the right time to kind of, uh, address things. 'cause I know when people are like heated and, you know, losing their shit, it's maybe not a good time to have a conversation.

So think when things are even keel then people are more receptive to, you know, like, do you mind talking about this now kind of thing. Yeah. Yeah, exactly. And for food to eat cold food. More salads. I actually prefer hot food. Like, I like my food, like super hot when I eat them. So that's why I like cold food.

I'm not sure. Maybe, um, fruits or like smoothies and stuff. Ice cream. I don't know. Yeah, you can try actually, you can try for one week to, to, to see what happens if you eat more cold food. And what, what happens with your body? Just as an experimentation. Uh, usually what you're used to is what's the best, but still, sometimes I suggest for people when there is such a big difference, just try and see what happens.

Uh, so calm. We had Calm. Who is with calm? Jack, you're with comm. I'm also with comm. So for you, it is best to eat at places and areas where you feel like there is a calm, nurturing environment. Also, where there are a lot of people speaking, talking, that's not gonna be very good for you, and especially when you feel like something's going on in your life.

When you are nervous, when you are emotional, you should avoid eating and you should avoid connecting with others. Especially when there is a conversation and the person in front of you doesn't look calm, you just won't be able to connect. You will connect with people. Only when you and the other feel calm when things are going just naturally, the conversation is not heated, you're not, for example, very emotional in your dialogue.

That, that means that you'll be able to receive the opposite. We have, we have two people with nervous. It is exactly the opposite. It is best to eat while you're doing something, while you're working or eating while you're working, doing things on the go. Uh, when you are more active, uh, you will be able to receive better others.

For example, when you're having a conversation in the park where you're walking with someone, or when you're working and you're just speaking with someone, you can better understand that person. So for you, it's all about having energy in your body, having that heated energy in your body that will make you more able to connect, receive, um, metabolize what's going on in the body also, who, um, does that resonate?

Jessica, does that resonate for you? Because I remember you, she's nervous. Yeah, it actually, it's quite interesting. I like, um, based off the work that I do, I'm always like constantly on the go. So I'll be like, okay, let me eat while I'm working. Um, 'cause I feel like time is so precious for me that sometimes I'm like, okay, I just need to work.

And then I'm like consuming, I don't know, reading documents or like thinking of different ideas for a case or something. And so, yeah, I always like to do something while I'm eating 'cause I feel like I can't just sit in silence, uh, for me. Yeah, that's exactly the neurotype. And do you feel okay doing that?

Um, I know sometimes I shouldn't. Um, but other times I just feel sometimes more productive, um, while getting through. Certain item where I feel like less alone. Um, I don't like sitting in silence, so sometimes I'll like watch something or I'll do something or I'll text, um, and get some, get something done or something out of the way that I need to get done while I'm eating.

Um, yeah, exactly. This is very supportive, you know, not to be super nervous. Yeah. Have something going on around you. You can be watching a TV show or you can be watching something that's connected with work, or you can have a conversation while eating to just have something going on around you to have your inner spice to, to flow your inner energy to flow.

Mm-hmm. Danielle, you have the same type. How does that resonate for you? I thought I was nervous. Yeah. Is that right? Yes. Oh, okay. So it does, um, the right fix nervous, correct? Yes. Yeah, it does resonate because I am not one that sits and just eats in peace. Like I'm either standing or doing something else while I'm eating, walking around, like, so.

And I take like a lot of pride in like eating clean and like whole Foods as well as like, I intermittent fast, so I'm like very particular about what I eat. Amazing. Well done. Um. The rest, uh, I'll again, I'll just go quickly through them. Uh, the high means that it is best for, you know, high voice stimulation.

So when you eat, when you have a conversation to be with a little bit of high voice, uh, that stimulates you the low, the opposite. Again, it's important to have some stimulation, but to have a lower voice to better eating a quiet place with some low background music is gonna be stimulating. And with light.

When we have direct light, it means it is good to have a conversation or to do stuff during the day, to eat during the day when it's night, when it's. You don't receive that much. So it's best to not eat after the sunsets or to do something very important after the sunset. For indirect. It's exactly the opposite.

You function better at night when the sunset, when when the sunsets, you become more active. So it's best to eat or have things going on after the sun has, it's no longer there. Any questions left for all of the things that we have discussed today?

Any thoughts? Something that you wanted to ask me or not have answer You didn't receive an answer to? Is it, uh, possible to ask about our chart? Um, what about your chart? Well, I just was, you know, 'cause I never really looked up. Uh, on it, like the, because I'm a projector as well, but the seer, can you talk a little bit about that?

About what, um, the projector type, like, I'm a projector, but it says the seer, uh, oh. Those things we discuss in the one on one. So the type or the authority, uh, the specific channels, all those stuff, because they're very specific and they require us to look at all of the aspects of the chart. Because e even though you might, I think we, with you, we have discussed that, uh, because when you have your type, it might mean that you have to wait for an invitation.

But when we have your authority, it means that you have to also wait after you receive that information, uh, to know if that's really for you. Um, and when you're a projector, you're literally born to navigate others. So how to navigate others, how to receive I mutations, all of those aspects are. Huge ier.

Immense to cover. Thank you. Thank you.

Anything else? How are you feeling after the session?

Yes. I find I, I just find this all funny, um, because it, it just seems like so many people, they, they, they automatically go to all this stuff and they don't even realize it. But then when you're like talking to somebody who's not interested in any of this, they're like, you're crazy. But it's like, oh no. So it's just like the one thing that I always giggle about.

But, um, that's the only thing I had to say. Thank you so much for sharing that because, uh, all the things that you learn and know. They can enhance your life, but you can never enhance someone else's life if they don't want to. You can understand them better and know how to communicate with them. For example, if you know their motivation or their cognition, you will know how to better communicate with them, but you can not truly give them something.

So yeah.

Any last thoughts, feelings?
