Real Estate Numerology Nivaaz (Updated) Video Transcript

I did not put an intro in this slide deck, so I just remembered that. But anyways, um, fabulous. I think we have pretty much everyone, so let's get kicked off. Um, we do have a good amount of content today and I'm not sure how long it's gonna take, so let's see how we go. But hey everyone, I'm Navar. Um, I'm one of the mentors and coaches here at beres.

Um, obviously work really closely with hey June, also with Angela. Um, and I also did all of the courses, um, over the past couple of years as well. So even if you have general questions like at the end of this slash you are wondering like how this integrates with astrology and all that kind of stuff, um, feel free to yell at me throughout.

Um, and I should be able to answer any of those questions. I think I'm pretty knowledgeable in all of this stuff. Um. And I'll add some anecdotes about, um, some of the calls that I've been doing, um, with new students that have been incoming into the cohort as well, um, as we go today, hopefully, if I remember to do it.

Um, but yeah, today we're gonna talk about real estate numerology, as you can already see. Um, you know, last week we did the feng shui portion and the astrocartography portion before that. So this is all about like the environment section of what we're doing. Um, yeah, if you've got questions, feel free to yell at me throughout.

Otherwise I do have like, places for you to ask questions. Um, if you wanna just send them in the chat as you think of them. I find that that's typically the best way. But yeah, we'll get into it. Um, so yeah, we, everything in the program so far, right? We've started off with understanding our mindset, like where that is at, how that had been influenced like over time and how to begin to decondition all of those sorts and processes.

So we went through like the penthouse process, we went through dimensions, um. Understanding like what's holding us back, limiting belief wise and like rewiring and transmuting that then we began, began to understand like, how does that all manifest in the body and how can our body be used as a tool to under, like help us like dive deeper into all of that.

And now we're in that environment section, um, with the astrocartography, um, the feng shui and then the numerology today of understanding like how does our environment play into all of this? Um, and we know that like 51% of our environment or our world, sorry, 50% of our life slash world is controlled by our environment.

So it's really important to understand that and to understand that as we begin to go deep in ourselves, we need to understand like what we're actually attracting and manifesting in the physical world. Um, and also how can we actually deliberately co-create with that or understand that in order to like 10 x, not only like what we want, but to like create synergy or synchronicity like in our world and the outside world as well.

Um, so yeah, the three main components. So we've done the astrocartography, we've done the Feng shui. We're gonna go into the real estate numerology slash numerology in general a little bit today. Um, yeah, this cohort is gonna be a little bit different to some of the content that you would've seen in the recordings and that kind of stuff.

'cause I'm gonna put a special focus on how do we actually play this out in relationships. Um, I know some of you're here for more of a business context. Some of you're here for more of like a one-on-one relationship and love context. Some of you are here for like a more self-love context, so I'm gonna try and cover all of those bases.

But actually really quick as we're starting, do you wanna put your goals in the chat, um, that you're working on right now? Maybe just like a one-liner so that I can have them in mind as I'm going today.

Awesome. Wealth and love. Pretty sure we'll cover that.

Gonna wait for a couple more to come through.

To be authentically myself in the start in regards to relationships, romantic and non-romantic. Love that.

Can we have one more and then I'll continue on?

I wish I could say who was typing. Okay. Building my own business that works for me in financial abundance. Perfect. I specifically added business stuff in for you, Jack. I was like, I know Jack's here for business, we must cover the business aspect. Um, okay. Awesome. Uh, yeah, if there's anything that I say and you're like, how does this relate to me?

Like, just ask me and I will be so happily, I will so happily answer that. Also, sleep deprived. So apologies if my words are mixed up again just to tell me to repeat stuff. Um, okay. So yeah, numerology is like a really interesting one, right? Like, because if we begin to go and Google things like on the internet, you realize that people like Taylor Swift and I know like Adrian has a TikTok video on this.

Like she literally bought the apartment next to her 'cause she was moving from like, I don't know, like a seven into an eight or like into an 11 or something like that. And it was like. Literally like a smaller apartment, but she played a premium for it because of the, like the real estate numerology of that location.

And there's so many great examples on the internet, like if you just begin to like start exploring this, um, of how all of these different, you know, famous figures or public figures like have gone into all of this stuff. Um, and actually when it comes to real estate numerology in particular, it's quite interesting to actually look at like houses that tend to have like an eight in it because it tends to be like quite auspicious number or it's one that is like great for wealth and growth.

Um, it will expand anything though, like, which is a nuance of that. Um, a lot of those houses tend to go for a premium or they sell really fast because people know that in real estate, like eights can be really great for like generating wealth and growth and all that kind of stuff, which is like a big part of real estate in general, right?

If you're into investing, like in that realm of things. Yeah, I highly encourage you to like deep dive into this, but these are just some of the examples that are like well known for this stuff. Um, so let's kick off with what do you actually know about numerology? Um, if you wanna unmute, go for it. Yes, Jack.

All cool. It's cool. I love that same, I feel the same way. Yeah. I've, I've, uh, there was a period of time where this was like my obsession for like a month. So Amazing. Hopefully there's still something new that you learned today. Yeah, fingers crossed. Um, anyone else? Carlos? All I know is that I'm on Life Path five.

That is a great place to start. I did send a link in the chat. Hopefully you can all see it. Um, you can, if you scroll to the bottom, you can plug in your birthday and it will give you your life path and personal year, I believe. Carlos. Go for it. No, it's, it's also, I also get like really into numerology a little bit.

Again, know I'm a life by four. And then like, in terms of like the whole real estate component, there's like different, the numbers means different aspects, so Totally. Yeah. Awesome. Um, if there's anything else anyone wants to add, like, feel again, put it in the chat. Um, I think we have a lot of slides and a lot of times I'm gonna keep going.

Um, so what we'll go through today is we'll go through numerology 1 0 1, like really fast. Is anyone like totally new to numerology? Like they've never dealt with it before?

So everyone knows the basics of like how to break down a number and like that kind of stuff. All right, cool. I've got like a comprehensive guide anyway, so I'll just go a little bit faster through them. Um, the second thing is we'll look at real estate in particular and how it applies into that. If any of you have been to the webinars, like there is some overlap with some of that stuff, but we'll talk about like how to cure and optimize.

Um, and I have a little workshop at the end if we've got time, um, on what we can do there. Otherwise you do have the doc, I think in the chat as well. And then the last context we'll look, look at it in is, um, in relationships as well. So how does this apply to partnerships, dating, um, business partners, coworkers, all this kind of stuff.

Um, I've recently just gotten back into the dating scene and. This is my favorite thing to do is to literally just as soon as I meet someone, I'm like, what's your birthday? And like literally by the day they're born, like I know exactly how the conversation is gonna play out. So it's, it's very powerful, like in that context as well.

So. Let's get into it. Numerology 1 0 1. Okay. So numerology is obviously like the science or the energy of numbers. Um, it's this idea that each digit or each compound number holds like a unique energetic vibration. Um, so just as musical notes form chords, um, and obviously different sounds, we have letters and numbers that also create energetic imprints in a different way.

Um, and these can shape our lives and the way that it flows, um, where you feel stuck and what you're naturally attracting or resisting as well. Um, and again, like if you don't have a sense of like what your internal state is, your external state is such a good representation of that. And one thing that I do wanna call out here if I don't mention it later is like, even the job that you work at, the jobs that you have worked at, like looking at their addresses, um, the local cafe that you always go to, checking out that address anywhere that you spend a lot of time, like outside of the home as well.

Like these are all great places to actually begin to look at numerology, right? Um. Numerology is one of these things where it like, it literally pops up in your entire life. 'cause not only can we look at numbers, but we can look at like words and letters as well. Um, and a great nuance here is also like if you don't go by your full name or you have a nickname, like that holds a unique energetic vibration and will change the way that your life plays out as well.

Um, we love to use like the kan system of numerology. Um, and that is just like one of the more older ones and the more accurate ones. Um, the kans believe that obviously numbers contained the essence of the divine and could lead humans to know more about their lives, um, and their divine destiny as well.

So the nuance of like completing numerology is that it's obviously one of the oldest systems, but also only numbers one to eight are assigned, um, letters when it comes to calculations. Um, and nine is like a sacred number, but when you are adding stuff up naturally you can get a nine. Right? Um, so it's reserved for like.

Extracted numbers, if that makes sense. Um, so it's not quite linear as you can see. I think like for example, f and p being eight, um, o and z being seven, like it's not quite in the linear fashion. So just using a calculator to do this is usually a little bit better than trying to do it manually 'cause it takes forever.

Um, the calculator that you have in the chat, um, if you just pop in, whatever you word, you wanna like calculate into the street, um, it will show up underneath and you can see like what it maps out to be. So for example, you could pop in your name in there and it will show you like the numerology of your name using khali and numerology in the background ground.

Um, I will eventually update that to have a separate section for your name, but until we do that, that is a, a workaround. So each number obviously has like a different vibration. Um, so, and they're either like more masculine or more feminine. Um. This is kind of what it looks like. We'll come back to it in a second.

You've got the doc, um, with you as well. Um, the special numbers to call out is obviously numbers eleven, twenty two, thirty three. These are master numbers and they hold, um, a more like divine frequency, if you will, and a lot more power to them. Um, is any, does everyone know their life path? Do you wanna pop it in the chat for me?

And also the, um, day that you're born. We'll actually go through it in a second anyway. Awesome. Cool, cool, cool. Um, I'm a Life Path nine. Fun fact. Let me put that in the chat as well. I. Cool. Um, so yeah, a fun, fun fact of a nine. If you ever meet anyone that's a nine, is that nine plus anything results in the same number.

So nine plus eight for example, will give you 17, which reduces back down to an eight. So nines are actually like a little bit like a cancer, um, or a reflector if you will. And they will mirror back whatever the energy is of like that particular person. Um, awesome. So we've got three fives, sevens, tens.

Love that. I love that you're in business, Jack. It was destined if you're a one. Awesome. And then a seventh is a very spiritual one, as you can see on here. Um, yeah, let's keep going. So yeah, master numbers. Um, one thing that you can look at with master numbers is you can break them down as well. So understanding like.

Um, you know, within an 11, like I always talk about, it's like understanding how like two individuals interact in like a partnership and like how partnership, like can help two people grow individually. Like that's kind of like what a two looks like. Um, a 22 is secretly about stability because it's connected to the four.

And then a 33 is secretly about like harmony for the collective, um, because it's a six. Awesome. Thank you. Um, so each number I always talk about, like even in astrology and things like that, it has two vibrations. So we have like a lower vibration and then a higher vibration. Um, and if you remember when we were talking about the penthouse or you would've been through the modules for the penthouse, um, going from this reactive mindset of like, oh, there's all this chaos in this world happening around me, like I'm reacting to it to.

Moving into like, I love this experience and I love all the gifts that are coming with this number, and this is helping me become the best version of me. Like, and how to prevent chaos to ensue in the future because I've been through these experiences. So making sure that we are aware of like what these two vibrations look like and the spectrum in between is gonna allow us to tap into like the gifs of what number that we're interacting with versus like the shadow side.

Um. So the number three, for example, um, Adrian obviously loves talking about it, like in its lowest vibration, is very distracted, unclear about their actions, and can forget their own identity because there's so much going on around them and they're just so consumed with like the outer world. Um, versus like the highest vibration would be someone who's really clear on their missions and values and what they wanna do.

And as they, they use their world as like a guide for sparks of like, creativity and innovation towards their goals. Um, so that's like flipping the script of like chaos to like, um, like sparks and innovation to guide you because you're clear on who you are at the core. Um, and you'll notice that like a lot of what we talk about is like connected to what we discuss in the other modules as well.

They all build on each other, right? Um, and so really quickly just how to break down numbers. Um. Obviously like this is my birthday, for example. So breaking down each individual chunk of numbers. Um, so two plus six gives us eight. Um, and then adding all of those things together to give us like the next number and then reduce it down until you get a single digit or one of those master numbers.

Um, one thing to call out is like the compound number that leads you to like the end number. At the end of the day, we just had conception join. Hello. Hello. Um, looking at this compound number can be really interesting as well, and like the two numbers that are combined. In order for you to get that last number, it just gives us like a layer deeper of like information on what are the two things that are.

Combined or like what are the subtle, like undertones or under themes like that give us this vibration of a nine. So like for me it's gonna be a lot about like entrepreneurship and like identity, and then how do I expand that through material success potentially, or like, there's a lot of comic stuff involved as well.

Is there any questions there?

All right, cool.

Um, the next one is obviously like if you've got a name I've just created like a sample name, for example. Um, again, mapping each of these letters and doing like each individual part of your name at a time. Hey, conception, how are you? I'm just gonna pop in. I'm doing well. Thank you. That's good. Sorry I couldn't in the middle.

All good. I'm just gonna pop you on mute, um, while you're walking, so we can continue on or if you wanna do that. Yeah. Amazing. Um, awesome. So yeah, breaking down names, um, breaking down the individual, like parts of the name, combining them and then reducing that down again. So exactly what we did in the last slide as well.

Um, and then again, like looking at that compound number gives us like an extra layer of depth before we get to the, um, final number as well. Same thing applies in real estate numerology too. Um, so yeah, like the three things that I really like to look at and then I think are really important. It's obviously like the day that you're born.

Um. So for me, like I'm born on the 26th, so that's an eight. Um, the second thing is the life path, which is kind of like the journey of your entire life or the theme of your entire life. Um, the day of your birth kind of gives you more of like a day-to-day theme of like what's going on and like what you're concerned with, and then your personal year as well, which tells you about like what is the current theme that you should lean into, um, for this year in particular.

So again, if you wanna pop it into that link that I sent before. Does everyone wanna put their personal year in the chat? Personal year? And while you're doing that, um, I want to really quickly add, like, mine is a two this year. Um, and the one thing that I've strategically been leaning into is like partnerships and the more that I've leaned into that.

Um, this year in particular, it's been really interesting because as I've. Worked with like other people and other businesses. Um, I'm actually not doing a lot of content creation from like my own stuff at the moment, but they have been, and because they have been tagging me in all these posts, it's been like 10 x-ing, like the visibility on like what I'm doing in my life, which is very interesting and very imp like, and it's very connected to the year number two.

So I feel like really understanding like what is that theme of like that number and how do I lean into that and actually leverage that for this year in particular is like a really great way for you to leverage like what's going on. Um, and like utilize it to, its the best version of itself. Um, awesome.

So personal year number four, it's like about stability, like setting foundations, um, setting yourself up for success, um, in the long term, but very connected to like the home and like all of that kind of stuff. Like a five. Obviously there's lots of change happening, but it's about not leaning into like chaos and reactivity, but leaning into.

Um, like these are all like sparks of innovation to help me like refine my systems and processes. A seven is also very spiritual. Makes sense that you're doing the program. Um, and then a nine is like you're preparing for the one next year. So it's a lot of endings closure. We're obviously in the year number nine as well with 2025.

So like keeping all these things in mind is really important as well. So like knowing that like it's okay to let go of things that don't serve you anymore. And that's kind of what you're going through this year can be a tricky one, but if you utilize it correctly, you're setting yourself up for a really beautiful foundation for next year where you are in like that one year.

Um, but yeah. Any questions on all of that?

Cool. I think it's all pretty straightforward, right? Um, any other general questions so far?

Okay. How are we all feeling? Are you feeling good? Following? All right. Perfect. Let's continue on. Um, so now let's jump into the real estate numerology section. So, um, before we start, let's do two things. So I've got your goals at the moment, but, um, if you've got a piece of paper or whatever you've got nearby, like writing down your address, um, and we wanna split it into unit building number, building name, street number, street name, and then zip code.

Those are your, like four categories. Um, you can also just plug it into the calculator that I've sent out. Um, conception. Can you see the calculator in the chat? Yes. Okay, perfect. And then maybe just give me your, like L one, L two, L three, L four in the chat. I have a question. Yes. So for the unit, is it, um, would it be the unit on the door or.

Uh, or on like how it is on the contract. So as an example, Mike? Yeah, great questions. It'll be, um, whatever is the legal like number name for your unit. Yeah. So I'm curious. Okay. Yeah. Sorry, I, did I cut somebody off? No, it's all good. I was just gonna say, I'm curious as to why it's different but irrelevant.

Yeah. Like, I live in condos and like my address is 25 0 2, but my building unit is like 2,500, so that's where I'm a little unsure. Oh, okay. That's, yeah, that's a great question. So legally it's like 25 0 2 and like that's what you signed. So then, okay. But you are living in 2,500, like the building is the 2,500 building.

Oh, and then your number two, and then No, and then my address is 2 5 0 2. Okay. You're in. That's why. Yeah. Okay. I would use the 2 5 0 2. Okay. Yeah, because it will just be more specific to like your specific apartment. Right. So then the building number would be T 25 0 2, and then like the name of my condominiums, like it's called the, that would be your name?

Yes. Okay. Okay. All good Carol. No worries. Um, you can always email after if you've got any questions. Um, if you don't have a unit number, just leave it blank and then basically everything will shuffle up. Um, so it means that you might not have like an L four, you'll just have like L one, L two, L three, essentially.

Um. Okay, cool. Cool. So we've got some sevens, got some ones and eights. Yeah. Jack, I love where you are at the moment for your business stuff. Um, cool. Um, I know we're waiting on a couple of people. Are you still typing slash working it out?

I'm gonna continue but continue typing. Um, away. But yeah, like, hey, June has used like a bunch of her own examples, like, um, 'cause she, I think has Uranus in her first, her fourth house. Um, so she moved around a lot as a kid. But yeah, I don't have a lot of home moving examples, but I worked at a lot of different jobs and I work in a lot of different locations, so that is like the experience that I kind of come from for all of this stuff.

Um, awesome. Oh, Danielle, you're in a nine. Um, is that the same place you were in before? Okay, cool. Yeah, I think I vaguely remember that. Cool, cool. Um, awesome. So yeah, just like with anything else, the first step is obviously to get super clear on what your goals are. So based on the numbers that you're seeing in front of you, what number is it that you wanna bring into your life right now?

And maybe you are already in that number. That's totally fine. Like, let's pop that into the chat really quick.

So, yeah, ones eight 11. I really like for business. Um, twos are really good for obviously partnership, like one-on-one, connection seven is really good for like spiritual growth. Um, I do kind of like it for partnership as well, but it's like how to make sure that there's like a spiritual partnership, if you will.

It is a little bit more of a solo journey, so there's like a bit of a process to like, you know. Like mixed with someone else. Um, hey, June loves talking about like the 3, 6, 9, because they're all like octaves of three, right? Like three times two is six, three times three is nine. Like you add three plus six to get nine.

Um, these can all be ones where you're kind of consumed more with your outer world, um, to the point where you forget your own identity in it. So like shadow sides I've seen with like the three is like, you're so consumed and distracted with like your routines, your discipline. Like I met a three last night and they were like so disciplined, but they weren't clear on their own values and what they wanted to do.

And it was like they were successful through their routines, but they weren't achieving their goals in doing that. And like that wasn't clear. So like that's kind of a shadow side of that one. So that's why I said like values are really important for that. Um, with the six, it's like sometimes you're so consumed with like making a happy family, like making sure it's provided for making sure it's like good that you forget to focus on like the partnership or like the actual people inside the home and those one-on-one connections.

Um, and then with a nine, like a nine is just like, you have so much happening that it's like a very internal journey. So you have to be very deliberate in like how you show up in connections and knowing that you're in a nine and then how um, you actually leverage that for success. So strategically bringing in like two elements or two people into your like world can be really good to like amplify that.

Um, or even an 11 can be really nice there as well to give that you that like divine partnership, um, type of vibe into there. Um, can everyone put it in the chat? Like what number connects to their goals right now?

Awesome. So we've got a four. So it's about stability, security.

Can I have a couple more? Okay. Four and eight. So stability and abundance, like car loss again, like tapping into the masculine, starting something new. And the eight as well. I think that makes a lot of sense. 'cause you were in that personal year number nine, right? Um, so preparing for like, what's coming next year almost.

Um, a six and an eight or maybe a two and an eight. Yeah. Awesome. Um, a one and a 22. Yeah. Okay. Awesome. So lots of new beginnings, lots of stability, and then lots of like harmony and connection as well. Cool. Awesome. So when it comes to breaking down, um, your unit, um, or your real estate astrology, we basically wanna look at like what is the most pinpoint thing that we can look at?

So like the specific number of a unit, the specific number of a home address, like a specific room, if that's got like a, an identity to it. And then looking at like all of the letters and that kind of stuff. And obviously focusing on like the legal name because that is like the contractual thing that you've obviously like energetically connected to.

Um, and then analyzing that. So starting off with your unit number, um, and all of these give us an understanding of like what's going on in your life. So the L one gives us an idea of like, what is that day-to-day theme? So very equivalent to like the day that you're born on. So like, mine was an eight. So for me it's always about like being good, doing good, like having good intentions and making sure that the actions that I take actually align with what I want.

'cause it's gonna be expanded in that way. Um. L two is all about like what supercharges that personal event. So like what are the underlying themes that are the catalyst for that L one. Um, and then L one plus L two gives us an understanding of like, okay, what is that long-term result of the personal event that's actually happening?

Um, so for example, we've got some L one plus L twos, like we have a seven. So like it's about like spiritual understanding and then actually bringing that and putting it into the tangible, like through action. Um, for Lauren, um, the L three for Danielle was like a five. So it's about like creativity, um, channeling like stimulation of, from like the external world to I guess like give you like innovative and creative sparks.

Um, and then for Jack, like there's a big focus on I guess like growth, um, whether it's at a personal level or an abundance level, um, as well with an eight for example. Um, is there any questions there?

I, I think the only thing I came up with was if I added my L one and my L two. It's actually a three, not a five. Oh, okay. It was nine and three. You are correct. Yeah. Sorry, I read it wrong. Okay. Um, yeah, but in, in a similar sense, like remember like with the threes, like it can be this energy of like being distracted by external events and like wanting to hang out with friends and like doing things and like having like a fun social life.

Um, so making sure that you're really grounded and rooting, like leveraging that number nine energy, like you've been through all these experiences to help you, like, refine yourself. So making sure that that's your foundation and that like you're intentional with all your actions because you know what, like the shadow side of that looks like as well.

Um, awesome. And then conception is, uh, number two. Awesome. Um, any other questions for me at this point? We will continue on, but.

All right. Give me a shout if you are confused, but let's continue on. Um, so yeah, L three gives us an idea of like, what is the community that you're in, the characteristics of all of that, like what is the theme of the neighborhood? Um, so one thing that's really interesting is like, when I look at cities or suburbs that are an eight, it's like, it have one side that like tends to be like, um, a little bit less well off versus the other side is like a rich neighborhood.

Um, that's a very like, typical characteristic, I think like LA is one of them, or there's certain neighborhoods in LA that connects to that. Um, and then. You've got like, yeah, your L four as well, which gives you an idea of like how your social life slash how the city is gonna amplify you. So like if we are really looking at like pinpointing like everything, uh, your, like look at your astro cartography and then overlay all of these things into it as well.

So you can look at like, what kind of street do I wanna leverage? Like if you're looking to do networking, like get a three, right? And then get it in a strategic, like maybe one zip code if you wanna network with business owners or people that are really successful. Um, if you wanna be really well known on like social media, like combining like a three and 11, like so that you get that like staff factor in the 11 or the 22 or 33.

And then coupling that with like community and people that love to socialize with that. Three. Um, these are all good things to consider. Obviously if you wanna look for like. Nurturing, harmonious partnerships, um, you know, looking at twos and sixes. Um, if you wanna build a really strong private, stable home, looking at places with a four.

Um, so that's how all of this plays in together. So, as a really simple example, I think you've got the calculator anyway. Um, and I know you've got worksheets that cover this stuff, so I won't go too into it, but just making sure that, yeah, like the first one is like whatever that pinpoint location is. So if you're in a unit, it'll be seven F.

Um, if you are like apartment complex has like a number and a name, so using Danielle and one 40 together and then combining them so individually fast and then combining the two together, um, and then adding that L one plus L two to give you that theme of like, how is my life gonna play out in this location?

Um, and then obviously understanding like the seven, like the L three and the L four, so New York. Obviously we know it can be incredible to like drain your bank account or it can expand it in like a really great way, right? Like that is the story of every person that lives there. So you can see that in that eight number energy, like straight away.

Um, as another example, um, here it is one like with unit A, um, and it's on like a trail or like a street. So make sure that whenever you do do these calculations, you leave out like the word street or trail or like crescent or whatever, like that doesn't hold a specific energy. Basically we were more concerned about like what is the actual name of like that street or laneway or whatever.

Um, but just another example of like how that all plays out together. Um, and then, yeah, but the way that I like to explain it is that everything shuffles up, but there might be some gaps in like your calculations at the end of the day, but. Basically, you still have that L one, L two, L three, like in those levels.

So think about like what is the most pinpoint energy versus like, what is the energy of like my region slash neighborhood. And that will give you an understanding of like how to break up those numbers. Uh, any questions there?

All good? Yes. So if, if, if you go to the, the previous, yeah, that one. So for 1711 Waterloo Trail mm-hmm. 1711 would be the street number and not the building number, or would it be both? Um, it could be either. In this case, yeah. Okay. Um, yeah, kind of interchangeable, I suppose, um, to look at the two of them. Um, so I think in this case, yeah, it would be the building number and then yeah, combining it with like the, the street name.

Okay. Um, you can always see like what resonates better as well with you and it's like interesting to look at them from both lenses. Um, yeah, I think it, this would probably be like the building number in this case, I would say. Does that answer your question? Yeah, no, it helps 'cause I kind of have the similar situations. Okay, cool. Um, you can always send it to me specifically and then we can like break it down as well. Um, yeah. Awesome. Or plug it into the calculator.

I know you have to break it up. Yeah, Jack, go for it. Is L one plus L two different than L three? Yes, it is. So, L one plus L two will give you like the theme of like what your life looks like and how that's gonna play out long term in that location versus the L three is more about like, what is a community that is surrounding me.

Okay. Did you mean in terms of calculation or like the, like how it plays out? Yeah. Uh, well, like in the, in the calculation. Um, 'cause I didn't see a specific I like what Lauren just said in the chat. I didn't see a specific L three in the calculator, but no, for my home or the home that I live in, it's, it's a house, it's not an apartment or anything like that.

Yeah. So, um, so yeah, I was picking up on like the, the number, address and the street name as like the L one and L two, but yes. Um, but yeah, I guess I was, I was just wanted some clarification on the L one plus L two and L three. Yeah. So, yeah, I know it's a little bit confusing, but like, basically like this would get deleted, like the unit and then this would be your like L one, L two, and then your L three would be the zip code in that case.

Okay. Yeah. Does that make sense? Yeah. Yeah. I know it's a like, a little bit confusing 'cause we like label them, uh, or like, hey, June labels them. Um, but it's more about just like the order of like what is the pinpoint energy of like the unit or the home that I live in. The next thing is like, what is like the street number or like the way that we like decorate the house, if you will, like with the number and that kind of thing.

And then it's about um, what is like the region that I live in. So like the street and then looking at like the suburb or like the region and then like the zip code, if that's different for you. Okay. Um, yeah, that's kind of the best way to kind of break it down and understand. No worries. Conception. Um, we will email out the recording.

Um, Lauren, does that answer your question as well? I mean, yeah, like I did like a calculation of the, like the, my street name and then I put that number as a number and then it showed me on the calculator. So I know that was a weird thing, but I figured it out. Okay. All right, no worries. Otherwise feel free to message me afterwards and we can work it out.

Exactly. Um, is anyone else confused? Does actually have a question.

Okay. We'll continue. Um, yeah, so it is just about like shuffling up them up really. And maybe I'll redo these slides and I'll send out some more examples for you. Um, so it's clearer. Um, these are just some examples of like some of the old companies that I worked at, um, and I thought they were really interesting.

Um, so this is like Canva in Australia. Um, so they're in like a two. So they're really good with like, you know, intuitive, like creative things. They're on a street that is like very spiritual. I feel like it's a very spiritual, like good people, like doing good things, vibe. Um. Like in that company as well.

So like, it's quite interesting to be there. Um, like this was a trading company that it worked in, um, which was also really interesting. So they had like a lot of channel for creativity. I think the founders were quite creative, um, but they were like spiritual masters in like, in terms of like the way that the company was run and they were very concerned with like doing good for the world.

Um, but there was a lot of like growth and building legacy in that as well. Like the founder used to be the founder of like one of the top training firms in the world. Um, and then he went and started off this thing and wanted to do good for the world at the same time. So it's like, it's very interesting that like this is the case.

Um. This street in particular, there's a lot of like harmonious places to like bring justice to people in the world, which is quite interesting. Um, and then this is like one of the main streets in Sydney, which is a seven. Um, and there's a lot of big like tech companies and that kind of stuff in this area.

Um, so I strategically will sometimes just work in the lobbies of these locations, um, which is really fun. And so like if I really wanna focus on like money and expansion, I will strategically go and work at this location, for example. Um, versus if I want to channel like more creativity, I'll go and work at this location, which is the three.

Um, just to give you an insight of like how all of these things complain into it as well. So even like going to your friend's houses or something like that can be interesting to like look at their addresses and see how that plays out too. Um, any questions on that?

Cool. All right, let's keep going. Um, so obviously there's cures that we can use depending on like, if you're vibing with where you're at versus not, you're not vibing for where, with, where you're at and how to start like, getting into the mindset of like, how do I channel this new energy, um, that I wanna shift into?

So I know some of you are like not in homes that you've bought slash you have the option to change soon. So this can be like a really important thing for you to look into. So, um, yeah, this particular one only works for L one. Um, and it's this idea of just tapping into like what are the ongoing themes that you wanna create.

So if you've got that doc with, um, all of the themes in it, um, for the numbers that I've put in the chat, you can have a look at like what aligns the most with you. Um, and so adding the number that will give you that energy that you wanna get into. So for example. If you live in a five and you wanna be in an 11, how do I add that six energy and how do I bring that into my day to day?

Plus, like, putting that six in a prominent location, like in, in specific like behind the door, um, is a great way to number one, act as a reminder for you to like, bring that energy into your day to day, to like start prepping you for you to get into that 11, um, without like leaving behind the five as well, but leveraging both of those gifts to prepare you to have like a smooth transition into that home.

Um, and like get you into the mindset of it as well. Any questions?

Cool. I think this is pretty straightforward. The second is the Kian naming Cure. So this is looking at your L one plus L two. So this is probably the most prominent one, um, that we would recommend. So, yep. Only works for L one, L two. So working out your L one, L two. So say you wanna live in an 11 house again, but you live in a five and you wanna add six.

Um, finding a word again, like I said, like just clear all the data in that, um, website that I flick to and put in a bunch of different words. Usually the first word that comes to mind will be the word that you want to put in, so whatever you want. Um, so calculating the numerology of that particular word, putting it on a poster.

You can couple this with feng shui as well. So, um, for example, if you want to do a six, like I would be putting that into like the sixth number room of your house as well, according to feng shui, um, or in the heart of your home. Or if it's more correl correlated to business, like put it in that business part of your home.

And that's one way that you can bring in that energy again, in like a pretty way and like connected to that feng shui. And so I think the six number is connected to the, the metal element. Um. So adding something that's a metal frame, or it's a metal word, or it's metallic in some way, and like coupling it with that is a great way to bring it into that particular space.

And obviously you can bring in the astrocartography as well into this as well. Um, does that all make sense? Any questions? All right. How are we all feeling? You feeling good? Oh, fabulous. I'm feeling great. All right, cool. Cool. Um, the last one is a portal cure. So obviously for L three and beyond, we look at the outside world, so things like zip codes, et cetera.

We actually wanna bring those like energies of another like state, city, ex, et cetera, like into our actual home. Um, that's where the astrophotography comes in. So looking at like, where is that best location in the world for me, um, maybe it's like start on your Mc Jupyter on your mc, if it's business related.

Um, it might be like Sun or Neptune on your ic if you are like looking for love and like deep connection. Um, and like partnerships and all that kind of stuff. Like these are just some ways that you can like, bring that into it. Um, and potentially even coupling in that like naming cure into all of this as well.

So maybe you get like a piece of art that like, you could obviously like use AI as well to like help you generate an image. Um, correlating that particular location and then also like the numerology of whatever you wanna bring into it. Um, putting those two together and then bringing that into that part of your home.

Um, and it can act as a really nice reminder for you to like channel that energy and how you can do it. And obviously spending some time, like doing some journaling of like, how do I tangibly bring that energy into my home? Um, can be a great way for you to like step into that and do it in a really tangible fashion.

So it's not just about bringing it into your environment, but also being like really intentional and having that act as a reminder of like, how do I actually integrate that into my day to day? Um, any questions there?

Fabulous. Either I'm doing a really good job, or this is really boring for all of you. Hopefully it's insightful. Um, and you're taking away lots of tips. Uh, all right. Any general questions that you have, and then we're gonna go into the relationship portion.

Yeah, I have a, I have a quick question. Mm-hmm. Um, so you mentioned with, um, like paperwork stuff to use, like the actual, like for your numerology for like buildings that you live in, like to use the actual name that you sign on the piece of paper. Yes. Um, my legal name is different than the name I've gone by like my whole life.

Yeah. Do you have a, like, is that the same type of idea to do it with that or what would you suggest, um, when looking at the numbers that way? Great question. So it's really important to know that like whatever you introduce yourself as, whatever, like people call you, like that holds a specific vibration.

Um, and then your legal name obviously will have a specific vibration as well. So there will be a difference in your life if you keep going by like Jack, but your name is Jackson, for example. Mm-hmm. Um, like written down, um, like your day-to-day themes will play out differently. And so sometimes that can cause like an internal conflict, like within you as well.

'cause you're like, oh, like I kind of wanna be doing that thing. Or like, you feel like your identity maybe at home where your parents call you, like Jackson for example, is different to where people call you Jack. Like that is part of what can play out. Um, okay. Being intentional about it, I think is really important.

So for example, like I don't like anyone calling me by my nicknames. I'm very intentional in that and I feel like maybe it's just me as well, but I feel like I'm very secure in like my identity because of that. And sometimes people who get called like nicknames and stuff like that, like I feel like they waver a bit more.

That's just me theorizing though. Okay. Yeah. Does that resonate at all or does that like give you a bit of clarity? Yeah. Okay, cool. But yeah, like popping your name into the calculator and see what that comes out to be. Um, there is specific numerology when it comes to names, um, as well. So looking at like the vowels that come into it, your name without vowels, and then like breaking all of that down as well.

And then you break down like each name individually, that represents different things as well. Um, it gives you more of an insight. So potentially like if your like legal name actually connects better with your business goals, maybe the unlock is to actually start. By that a little bit more. Gotcha. Yeah.

Cool. Does that resonate or like answer your questions? Yeah, basically, yeah. Whatever you identify with should take precedence and if one aligns with the specific goal, maybe go with that one if it's not the typical. Yeah, yeah, a hundred percent. So like even like if you like get married or like there's an actual name change that happens, like it kind of alters your entire life's destiny, right?

Because you start getting called something different. Mm-hmm. So when entering into like that kind of like legal, contractual change, being really intentional about like, how does this shift, like my life can, that can be a big thing as well. And so a lot of people actually, like they call in Numerologists to like, you know, change their names, um, for like these energetic reasons as well, which can be very interesting.

Um, and if any of you're going to the retreat, I know, hey, June brings in a numerologist typically, and like that is part of her expertise, but yeah. Cool. Any other questions?

Alright, cool. I'll continue on. All right, so last section, relationship numerology. Probably gonna go a little bit over time just FYI, but if anyone needs to jump off. Just go for it. We'll obviously send out the recording. Um, so relationship numerology, like we've looked at two things, right? We've looked at real estate and then we've also looked at birthdays.

Now it's about combining them. So with relationship numerology, um, I love looking at like two main things. So number one is like your life path and then like what is your home's address? I'd probably focus on the L one plus the L two, if you wanna kind of understand like, what does me plus this entire heart room look like?

Um, if you wanna know what your day to day will look like, the life path, obviously plus, um, or like even the day that you're born plus the L one will give you more of an insight onto like, day to day. Like how does that play out? Um, on top of that, like I said, like I love using this in like a dating context and even a friendship context.

Um, especially as a number nine, like. And also number eight, like day born, like whatever the life path is of the person that I'm interacting with, that's the nature of like the relationship and the conversation and all that kind of stuff that plays out with that particular person. So I know that if I'm about to meet someone who's a life path three, it's like very, being very conscious of like, who are we spending time with?

How is time being spent? Are we being distracted from like, what's like the one-on-one connection that we have by like, all these other things that are going on, right? That can be really important. Um, and if anyone else has nines in their birthdays, whether it's the day or the, um, the life path, I think that's very important to know.

'cause you're like a mirror, right? Um, but also strategically in a business sense. Like I know that if I want someone who's gonna amplify what I do, like I wanna lean into that number eight. So I wanna find someone that's a life path number eight. 'cause they're gonna be great at expansion, like making money, like business, all that kind of stuff, so long as they're in the highest vibration.

If you bring in someone that's a life eight like path into, like, if I was to, um, and they're not aligned, they would be the greatest thing to like drain all of my money as well, right? And push me in the other direction. So being really intentional about like what are these connections look like? How are they gonna play out?

And understanding like all of these different themes, um, can give you a really deep understanding of like these, like one-on-one connections. Um, and then obviously like overlaying this with things like human design, like the electromagnetic connections, the quantum like relationships like astrology. Um, and then also this like, it gives you a really nice like comprehensive view of like, how is this, um, one-on-one connection gonna play out for me?

Does that all make sense? Cool. I had a really interesting, um, call with a client the other day, um, and. The, the husband was a, I think a seven and then the wife was also a seven. Um, or they were like an eight and a one or something like that. And then the day that they got married also calculated out to be a one.

Um, and they were born, both born on like one days. And it was just very clear that the two of them were meant to do business together. Um, and they'd reached this point in their lives where both of them were so concerned with like stability and harmony in the home 'cause they lived in a number six, um, that, that distracted them.

And they were so consumed with that, that they no longer did like business stuff together. But they'd done it once in the past. Um, and that one time that they worked together, like it was very serendipitous and like the husband just like, had an idea of like, oh, let me try and do this thing. Um, and they made like, I think 10 times the money that they would've normally made like in a day of sales because the two of them like decided to work together that day when usually he would like step back.

Um. It was really interesting talking to them about that story, right? Because it was like everything that we were looking at, like it was predestined for them to like do this stuff together. And so like just doing that consultation with them, like I know they're gonna go off and like do a business now and like work together and like utilize that and lean into that.

So like all of this stuff gives us a really good understanding of like, who is a strategic business partner? How is this relationship meant to like, play out and how can we make this thrive? Like in the best version of like this possible, right? To achieve success in whatever that looks like for you. I'm obviously Capricorn, so I'm very like cons, like success is big for me.

Um, but like whatever that goal looks like for you, whether that's like deep and intuitive connection, um, whether that looks like career stability and success or, um, it looks like, like building a legacy for yourself, et cetera. Um, so yeah, it, I think like even looking at key contractual dates and what is the number that plays out for that can be really interesting, right?

So. If you incorporated your business and it's like a number five day, like, know that there's gonna be lots of ups and downs. Know that the, like, it's about tapping into the creative spark and like building systems and foundations that allow you to be robust no matter what's thrown at you. Like that's gonna be the story of that business versus like on an 11 day or a one day or an eight day, like, you know, what's gonna be better for like, typical business like expansion, like being the top of your field, like all of this kind of stuff.

Um, any questions there?

Hopefully that was an interesting story. Yes, go for it. You, the date for the day, like are you incorporating the year two or is it just like the month and the day? Um, good question. Um, what context are we talking about? Well, you were just saying like, if it's like a certain day, like it'll bring in that energy.

So I was just wondering if you were talking about like the month in the day or the month, the day and the year. Great question. So, um, usually for me, I'll look at the day in particular, but, um, I would look at everything together. So for example, like I'm in tomorrow for you, but like the 9th of August, like 2025.

So I'd be reducing that entire thing down to one number and then going with that. Yeah. Um, one thing that I did in July, which worked really well for me, um, and maybe you can work out like the numerology of July was, um. Whatever the day was. Um, for July. So for example, on the first I was really focused on like initiating things, like starting things, like putting stuff out there.

On the second I was really focused on like partnerships, connections, like, and doing, um, content connected to that. On the third, I was all about like socializing, like using creative sparks and like, you know, exploring kind of the world to like give me, um, inspiration on like what I wanted to do next. Like the fourth day was really focused on like, stability systems, processes, all of that kind of stuff.

The fifth day was more about like going out and like exploring new things. Um, and that worked really well for me, and that was really interesting. Like, I find the content and the stuff that I put out there during that period of time really resonated with people in that way. So, um, I, I definitely think like, if you wanna get down into the nitty gritty of like, how do I even like plan out my month to that level, that is something you can do.

Um, I. I wouldn't get too consumed with it, but it is something that can give you like an extra layer of like direction if you need it, if that makes sense. Or if you had a particularly bad day and you wanna like reflect, it could be one way that you do that and you're like, okay, what do I need to master here?

Because it was a five day, for example.

Any questions on that? Oh, thank you for clarifying. No worries. Sorry I went on a bit of a rant after that, didn't I? Okay, cool. But yeah, all of this stuff's really interesting, right? Because like, um, letters and numbers are everywhere. Um, so yeah, I love with yeah, relationship numerology. Looking at like life path plus like L one plus L two, that will give you an eye, like a really good sense of like, how does me plus this location like play out in the long term?

Especially if you're building a business there, especially if you're building like, um, a foundation for your life there. It just gives you that extra meaning on top of that. Um, and so we don't have too long, but, um, really quickly, if you have made a move recently, whether it's from work or home, or maybe you've like left a past relationship looking at like, what was that combination of L one plus L two, what was the, um, combination of like the two of your life paths together, understanding like what are the lessons that you're letting go of and like what is the energy that you're now stepping into?

Um, so as homework, um, I'm gonna say, or like we can spend five minutes doing it now, just writing down in the comments. Um, yeah, I'm grateful for my lessons in blah, blah, blah. They helped me master like specific lessons and just thinking about like what those looked like. Um, and then that's in the Google doc as well that I flipped out earlier.

Um, and I sent through to all of you, so. I'll send it one more time. I can see that a bunch of you are in it anyway, but let's spend five minutes doing that unless people have questions.

I'm gonna do, I'm gonna do three minutes, let's go and then pop it in the chat afterwards if you like.

Wait, just so I'm clear, we're doing it based on the number of your L one plus your L two? Um, yeah, let's do that. Of the place that you were previously in?

Yep. That was the end of the statement. Sorry, I like went up.

It's gonna let my dog in.

How's everyone going? Give me a thumbs up if you're done.

Awesome. I'm gonna continue on just for the sake of time. Um. But yeah, that's something you can do for homework. I think there is a homework sheet, um, in the portal anyway, connected to this. Um, but Angela will also upload and send out these slides as well. Um, and you'll get access to that Google doc, which is linked here too, but I'll get her to attach that as well.

Um, but yeah, just remember always co-creating with your environment at the end of the day. So, um, it's not just about moving to a new location that will cure everything for you. Because if your mind, your body, um, is not in a state to be ready to step into that energy, um, you will naturally be rejected from it and that will cause frustration, right.

Um, or like un alignment in your life, but understanding like how these all work together and how strategically to use all of these tools to like guide you is what is gonna help you get into alignment and make sure that whatever actions you are taking, whatever mindset that you do have is gonna be one that is intentional.

It's gonna 10 x like whatever you're putting out into the world. Um, and it's going to like really let you like tap into that eight energy in a way of like, um, abundance, fulfillment, all that kind of thing, and like feeling good and doing good in the world as well. So, yeah, remember, it's about like being grateful to have the opportunity to learn and grow and be curious, um, and to become the most aligned versions of ourselves at the end of the day.

Um, I know, hey, June loves saying like, these numbers are bad, these numbers are good. Like they are, but there's also a way for you to transmute that, to make it like powerful and like, um, the best version or opportunity for you that you need in this lifetime or like that particular period of time as well.

Um, so I always like to encourage people to remember, like be real. Like use these tools to like, give you a framework and then make sure that you are in the mindset to tap into like the best version of like, whatever that story looks like to achieve the most success that you can. Whether that's in partnerships, whether that's in self-love and identity, or whether that's in a business sense as well.

Um, but that's pretty much it. Any last questions?

Cool. How did we find that really quickly? Good, bad.

Awesome. Any points of improvement you'd like to see next time?

All right, well let me know over email if there is anything. Um, but yeah, you've got my email here. I'm also in school, so feel free to just find me and message me. I'm gonna be like a little green blob. Um, and then also just a quick call out that tomorrow in school we will have a Uranus in Gemini a MA. So, um, get any questions that you have connected to that transit together.

Um, and that will go live like ar around this time, um, tomorrow, but okay, if no one else has got questions, I'm gonna wrap up there and thank you. No worries at all. Thank you. Um, and. I think you do have one more call next week. Is that right? Yeah. Cool. Oh, I know some of you joined like in between and stuff as well, but, okay, no worries.

If you've got any other questions, feel free to message me, even like random ones. Um, but all the best with your homes, partnerships, businesses. I feel like you've got all the tools now to be equipped for that. So I'm, I'm waiting to see success stories from all of you. All right. Awesome. I'm gonna let you all go.

Enjoy the rest of your days. Okay. Bye. Thanks. Bye.
