Overview:

4 Arrows in Human Design

In this lesson, we cover how to utilize the "4 arrows" in human design. Specifically, the "perspective" arrow, which determines how we best individually manifest. However, being stuck in our ways can also stunt our manifestation process. Therefore in the homework, there is a 5-step process you can follow to "try out" the opposite style of manifesting, which will open up new ways of perceiving reality and shake us out of our usual ways of thinking.

Video Transcript of Lesson:

Hello everyone. Um, I would love to have cameras on. It's not, you know, no one's gonna put a gun to your head and tell you to do it, but I highly recommend it. So, please type in the comments, um, where you're dial in from, city, state, and I'm gonna give you a, a rundown of today's agenda, what to expect. Let's see here.

So good to see everybody. Great energy. Miami, Florida, uh, Wilmington, Dallas Union, Santa Cruz. How is Santa Cruz by the way? I'm like looking at it potentially to move over there. Potentially. Um, Pembroke, what was that? It's beautiful. Beautiful. Okay. That already sounds amazing. Hi, Adelina Ali. Spear. Oh, I had no idea.

Francis with the school there. Okay, great. So I got a couple of questions about, um, the one-on-one coaching. I just wanna put a disclaimer out there. I don't think you guys want a one-on-one coaching from me. People want that until they actually. and then, and then they, they're really unhappy afterwards.

They get results, but they're really unhappy. I don't think you can take the pressure. I'm just being honest with you. This is much better, trust me. And everybody's gonna get to go. This is why we have four sessions because every session I'm gonna coach 10 people towards the end, like eight to 10 people.

Also, not everybody can make it to every single session cuz there's conflicts and there's, we make up sessions. So don't worry about that. But don't be afraid to put yourself out there a little bit because you have no choice but to be put in the spotlight. The other thing I wanna mention very quickly is, um, you know, we all grapple with similar issues.

So you, someone's gonna have a question that you have now, obviously the context is different, the cultural background's different, childhood's different, all these things are different, goals are different. Um, but I'm willing to venture that whatever you hear from your neighbors might help you too. Okay?

So I would really appreciate if everyone can en engage in active listening and participating. Uh, Where's Joshua? Oh, do you wanna try logging back in Joshua? Log out. Log back in. You might also have to go into your system settings or preferences. Can everybody else hear me okay? Okay, great. All right. Cool, cool, cool.

Okay, so today's agenda, um, and this is gonna be the, the setup every single time. Cause this is kind of how I like to do things. First 15 minutes or so, I'm gonna give you sort of, um, high level macro energy update in terms of like what's gonna happen in the next 20 years or so. I mean, that's why you guys are here, right?

You wanna know about period nine, we're coming out of period eight. Um, and how to best prepare for that. We're gonna just give you like high level download and then we're gonna spend about five to 10 minutes. Um, going into tools, I'd like to focus on one tool every session, like a mystical tool, um, that you probably don't know about.

And even if you do know about, you probably did not actively practice. And there, and these are tools that you can use to like, activate your goals, like move towards your goals. We might do like a five minute breakout session. Some people like cringe at that. Again, like I highly ask you to reco, like, participate and do it because, you know, we're all electromagnetic beings when we meet.

Um, we're igniting something in each other. This is absolutely true. And then the bulk of the session when we resume, I'm gonna te pick, uh, 10 people who I'm going to do the intuitive coaching for. And, um, It's, it is a safe space at the end of the day. You know, I'm very intense, but it's gonna be, it's still safe, so don't worry about that.

Like, I feel like people are like really afraid of being put on the spot. Like, well, hey, this is what you signed up for. Okay. So that's what you're gonna get. . So ju just brace yourself. Okay. But it's gonna be, it's gonna be productive. All right. Any questions or comments before I dive in?

No. Okay. Alrighty. So, um, I think some of you guys already know this, cuz I've been talking about it quite a bit, but, uh, according to Chinese astrology, there's 180 year cycle and that 180 years is divided by, um, nine different periods. Am I saying that right? I always get tripped up by the math cuz it's like, and it tracks with, uh, western astrology as well.

Yeah. 180 year and one cycle length and nine periods. Each period is 20 years. Uh, the past eight years, pardon me, the past 20 years was worldwide period eight, which is the earth element. That's why, um, you know, like agriculture, real estate, anything like tangible did really, really well. That's where you made the bulk of your money.

Now we're moving into period nine, which is the last period of like this 180 year cycle. So it's kind of like a giant ending in general, which is sort of neat. But we're moving into the fire element and that is, uh, all like all creativity, all speed, all um, creativity, speed, technology, virtual. This is why like the, the crypto space, you know, it's about, it's going to stabilize in about three years.

Up until now, it's just been kinda like the wild, wild west. But this is gonna become the new norm. And right now there is a huge power struggle between the individual versus the macro because the macro wants to use the, the virtual stuff to power, to control the masses. Um, without, I don't wanna like go into specific theories cuz that's just gonna be controversial, but just know that like, where you come in is really important as individual because unless you work on yourself, it's very easy to get roped in to other people's agendas.

I was having this discussion with another person yesterday. I was like, what do you actually think is the goal of being spiritual? Do you, do you honestly think it's to manifest? Well that's just a symptom that, that comes when you work on your shit. Truly. The, the real goal is so that you don't get deceive.

Honest to God. The, the real goal, the real, um, end state of spiritual, of spirituality is to not be deceived by sociopaths, psychopaths, narcissists. Sometimes your parents are in that category, by the way. Um, and, you know, everyone has access to all my courses now, uh, if you take 21 Domi talk about how your brain is programmed to perceive reality a certain way based on how your childhood was.

So it's almost like you don't get a shot at seeing life objectively because immediately people come in and brainwash you, right. Like the minute you're born. And so it, it, it can take a long time to kind of like undo that unless you have the right tools and the, and the willpower even to want to be independent of that.

Right. So that's kinda like where I come in for people who are willing to reprogram shift. Is there a course of yours that you recommend? Yes. 21 days of major. That I got some courses about this, where all my courses are at is different from where all the recordings are at. So where you guys found this invite, this is not where the courses are at.

Um, but if you go with your emails, you can see where everything is. So if you still have questions, just hit me up after. Um, but I've noticed people like log on to teach one. They're like, where are the meeting invite? I'm like, well, that's just for the courses, so don't look at that. Okay, great. So anyway, what does this mean?

Um, so period nine, let's see. It rules the heart and eyes also like blood. Um, it's interesting cuz before the last 20 years was earth era, right? Anything tangible. And most people struggle with money because their energy is kind of stuck in the lower three chak. Like the root, the sacral, you know, like the things that like reproduce and grounds us to earth.

Like, that's kind of like where most of, most of us are stuck. So that's why they struggle so much with, with money. Well, there's other reasons why people struggle too, but like that's a bulk of it. Um, but it's interesting that now we're shifting into the fire element, um, and moving up like sort of the organs.

So like the heart and the eyes. Cuz before was like the, the digestive, um, and then the womb. That's why like there was a lot of technology and advancement developed around like, you know, I don't wanna say miscarriages, but like pregnancy and like, you know, a lot of techno, like the medicine is developed in that field, right.

Fertility and even like digestive stuff. Um, but yeah, that whole energy is like traveling up and moving up. And now I suspect in the next 20 years there'll be a lot of technological, uh, breakthroughs around the heart, maybe even like mental health stuff, cuz we're really moving up into the fourth, fifth, sixth chalk ride.

Now what, what this means for you is you might have to do some homework if you still feel like you're in that, you know, bottom three chakra space where you're like, I'm, I'm still trying to figure out like how to ground myself, how to like survive tangibly on this planet. How to be my own autonomous being.

Cuz the third chakra is about identity. If I'm talking too fast and if there's too much information, please go through Cuz I go through the chakras in a pretty, um, intuitive and like digestible. Okay, the point is that we're moving up now. So what this means for you is the people who really understand how to work with the higher level cha, the chakras, right?

The fourth chakra, which is not about love, by the way, it's actually about neutrality. Um, and neutrality and objectivity is really tied to intuition. People who are so much in their fields think they're intuitive. I'm like, you're not intuitive. You're just really fucking emotional. There's a big difference, okay?

And this is why you, you're not predicting, you're just emoting this very, very two different things. So, um, so the people who can, who gain mastery over objectivity and can see their reality objectively, will be able to really get ahead and not only see objectively reality, but execute based on that. Raise your hand if you know somebody.

If you have a friend in your life, they tell you a story and it's so obvious to you that they're not being objective about whatever it is. Raise your hand if you know somebody like that. And they wrap the story with, why did this happen to me, ? And you just wanna like, shake them. You're like, because you're, you're not seeing shit correctly.

That's why. So we can do this sort of for each other. Cause why? Because we're not in their situation. We're objective about it. I mean, some of us project, that's a separate problem, of course. But on the most part we're we, we'd like to think that we're objective people, right? So the trick is how do you do that with yourself?

And that's intuition. Makes sense. Am I going too fast? Okay, great.

All right. So there'll be a lot of technological breakthroughs in the next 20 years around the heart, the eye, probably mental health. You know, they might finally find a cure for, not cure, but you know what I mean, like actual helpful discoveries around like schizophrenia or stuff like that. That's kind of what's coming ahead.

Um, my biggest concern for people moving into the next 20 years is just not acting fast enough. That that's genuinely my fir my biggest concern. I'm not so concerned about that for like the, you know, the people who are just being born right now, uh, or like Gen Zs even. But, you know, like my era right and above, it's gonna be like, you know, it's like I, I feel like we just discovered the internet and now we're being ushered to something like even higher level.

So the question is how do you become less stubborn and stuck in your own way so that you can move forward? So that's one of, that's what the intuitive coaching's gonna be about. The latter half this portion because we all have different archetypes within us and there is an archetype or two and they change the archetypes come in and, and, and go out depending on what you go through in life.

And they help you. Sometimes they stay too long and then they fuck you up. So it's like we're gonna fig figure out what archetypes are in the way. So we're gonna pick 10 people to do that coaching at the very end. Um, so that's kind of what's coming down the pipeline in the next 20 years. Um, I hope that made sense.

Um, okay. Cool. Now let's go into, oh, before I move into the actual tools, I also wanna go into some laws. Um, these are laws that I hold my clients to and I expect you to follow for lack of better description. Um, the first thing is you can't fail unless you quit. Cuz everybody in this room has goals, right?

Whether it's in money, career, love, life, purpose. You, you genuinely can't fail, uh, unless you quit. Now we now we have a separate problem. If you keep doing the same shit and you won't quit and you still don't get resolve, that's a whole separate issue. At some point, somebody's just lying to you at that point.

Right? Um, but bar that, you know, if you're in a situation where you like, man, I really don't know how to move ahead or, or how to get out of the situation. Like, I've been stuck many times. I've been stuck in a situation for like 10 years, by the way. Um, I can actually, I'm embarrassed to admit I've been stuck in a situation for yeah, like 10 years and not just cur like, I'm like, why did it take me that long?

Me, like, why did I, I don't know. But, but I look back and I'm like, oh, I just wish I knew this, this, this, that. I would've kind of unblocked myself, right? But I didn't quit. That was the whole point. So, and ne and neither should you. Um, the second thing is people change people. That's why we're here in a. Last time you changed, think about it.

What, what made you change for, for better or for worse? By the way, , I didn't always say you changed a good thing.

Was it a, a pet? Was it a, did you drop a champagne bottle and that changed your life? It was a person, right? Uh, by the way, even if you watch a person through like virtual, it's still a person. Correct.

So, so I, I really want you guys to um, be curious not just about yourself, but about each other. Cuz we're pretty, we're a self-selected crowd, right? We're all here with the same objective and we wanna learn and grow. You have to sort surround yourself with the right people. I mean, I know that's like so trite thing to say cause everyone says that, but it, it, it.

I think I, I think people know it, but at, at the same time, like, don't do it bec, I don't know. It's, it's hard to meet new people because, well, no, it's not hard to meet new people. It's hard to filter people. I think that's the real problem right here. We're, we're pre-filtered. So really use this to your advantage.

If you're not yet part of the discord, please join the Discord group. It's in your onboarding process. Um, because that community's designed by human design, which we're gonna, uh, look into today. So you can't fail unless you quit. Uh, people change, people clarity, power, duh. Your soul wants to expand. Um, raise your hand if you know somebody who's like, okay with who's complacent all the time.

Okay. And, and from, and, and, okay, and from those people. How many often say, oh, you're being judgemental if you like, call them out, or if you say something remotely helpful, how many Okay. They may not even accuse you of being judgemental, but that's the vibe they put out. Yeah. Those are the people you gotta cut out.

I'm sorry. You just have to, I don't care if they're your mom. You just have to because energy's contagious. Energy's contagious. You know, it feels good for a hot second and it feels good to be in their presence for a hot second. Like, oh yeah, you know what? I should just like enjoy what I have. And you know why like hustle, why like stress out like that feels good for a second.

That shit gets old so fast. And if you work with some of the, the fastest moving, thinking, operating people in the world, there's nothing that is more energizing than that trust. It just lights a fire under your fucking ass. And like it, this is the problem that I have with the healing community because so many of, so many of them are just kind of like very kumbaya, right?

Like being the present moment. And I don't, I don't, I think they misconstrue what that means sometimes. I'm like, you know, being the present moment doesn't mean you just nap all day. And they're like, well I'm, that's not what I'm doing. But that is what you're doing. You know, you're like not doing the, let's just be very specific here, like tangibly, like visually, what does it look on the surface?

Um, good to see you, Maryanne. A lot of you guys are in figures metaverse already, which is awesome. Anyway, so, oh yeah. My point was the soul wants to expand. So if you feel like something's off around those people, if you feel like something's off when your life is stagnant, it's your soul telling you like you're not moving.

Literally, we're wired to want to grow and expand. We were made in the image of God and God is a creator. So of course we wanna create like, duh. You know? So if some, if things are not happening, we're like, , what is going on? That's, that's your soul, like pushing you to do something so you're not crazy or you're not ungrateful for, not even in a relationship, if the relationship is not evolving.

Right. You're not crazy for, for wanting more, by the way, um, I I, it's crazy how many times I have to like, remind women of this. They're, they're like, well, he is nice. So maybe I just gotta, I'm like, what are you talking about? Like, I can't imagine this day and day out shit with the same person, same routine.

Like, I'm not, sorry, I'm not trying to be judgmental. If that's your cell, great. Good for you. But there should be some kind of evolution, right? Like emotionally, spiritually, or mentally. I'm not even talking about like physically per se. Okay. So I just wanna set the tone of what the soul is.

Final two things. The future's not set in stone ever. Um, I think that's, I cannot emphasize that enough. We're you're constantly. At a, at a fork in the road, constantly. Every second. Every minute you can choose to leave this zoom right now and just go outside and go to a coffee shop and be like, I'm done for the day.

Right? And that could just complete change like the, your upcoming week, right? So just know that the future's constantly, um, evolving. And finally, this is the final law. And this is, I'm gonna say this because, uh, you guys can control this. I can't. You have to take care of your body. Now what does that mean?

Um, anybody here drink tap water?

Boiling tap water counts. By the way, you're still drinking tap water. Okay? If for whatever reason you are drinking tap water, but you don't wanna admit that, which I understand, please stop. Um, and you don't even get bottled water. That's not helpful either. I would get a really high quality filter. Okay, so, and take care of your gut health.

The gut produces, um, serotonin, which is the happy hormones. It goes to your brain and it travels through thalamus. And your thalamus is your emotional world. So, um, basically if your gut is kind of messed up, it's gonna send up messed up hormones to your brain, which is already pretty messed up by the way.

So, together they're gonna, they're not gonna produce a good outcome for you in terms of how you perceive reality. So, I, I don't wanna, you know, I'm not a doctor. I'm not even like a wellness coach, so I can't tell you what to do. But I would say like, really start getting in tune with your body. Like what it needs.

You know, if you know something's not good for you, don't do it. Like, you know, eating like pizza at two in the morning, which I sometimes do, but don't do that, right? You may want to do those things. Doesn't mean your body is, um, going to like it. And actually, this brings up period nine, uh, this brings up where we're going into next.

So period nine is, is about also becoming more holistic. That sounds nice on the surface. People don't really know what that means, and once they figure it out, they're gonna get really scared. Because being holistic also means you have to become holistic within you. What that means is there might come a day when your mind has an urge to do something and your kidney literally says like, no.

So, um, for some people that's like amazing. For some people it's a crisis, you know, they really want that extra cocktail, but delivers like, no. Right. I don't know in what form that's gonna emerge in, in terms of technology. It could be like a, you know, some kind of monitor that we wear or whatever, but, and it's, it's not gonna be like, I think enforced.

Like, you're not gonna go to jail if you like, don't honor your kidney or whatever, but you, you might have to live with a certain level of con. Right. If you have so much data around your body and you're still not honoring that, but that's what being holistic means, like literally taking every aspect of yourself into consideration to have greater longevity and quality of life.

Does that make sense? Okay, great. Um, no more com compartmentalizing self of self. Yes, absolutely. Yeah. The reason why I included that, you know, take care of your body, um, is, is because I've, uh, I've so many stories of, of this is, I think this is why I got kind of burnt out from like one-on-one coaching.

There were several instances where I coached people and the coaching session itself was great. It was like, oh my gosh, like we're getting like so many like breakthroughs here. But then I find out that in their own, like private well person life, um, they're taking like 10 different, you know, medications that probably isn't good for them.

And then I find out like, oh, okay, so really. Really, it was kind of useless to do this coaching with them because their body wasn't following their mind was fun, but their body wasn't following. So, you know, if I can go back in time and I'd be like, maybe you shouldn't coach with, maybe you should just go see like a holistic practitioner first and see what you need nutritionally, or, or I don't know, fire therapist or whatever.

Who, who shouldn't be giving you these things in the first. I, I don't know. I'm just saying. So, um, so you know, when we spend time, you know, whether it's through this or through the metaverse, you know, we'll work together, but outside of this, you know, in your heart what habits you have that are not good for you, only you can execute on that.

Does that make sense?

So I would ask you to not sabotage, um, and I'm speaking to myself too, by the way. I love fast food.

I am trying to quit, but I also drink too, so, so, you know, so you know that, uh, I, I'm like kinda the culprit here. This is why I'm saying I can't tell you what to do anyway. Cool. Now let's go into some juicy stuff. Any questions so far?

You can unmute yourself because I'm looking up something real fast to show you guys.

No, nobody has questions. Okay, great. Um, if you have your human design chart, please pull this up. If you don't have it, go here. Oh, hang on. It is that side. But let me give you a better link here. Use the second link. It's a direct link. And please flip your human design chart.

Okay. Um, if you pull it up, please comment in the chat. I got it.

Amazing. Good, good. Good.

So, uh, what I wanna do specifically is focus on the arrows on top. Now, um, you guys see arrows that are either pointing left or right, the four on the top of the, like near your head, right? Okay. For now, let's focus on the right side. So let me actually, uh, pull up an example. Let me actually pull up MyChart.

So when we were DMing, you know, all of you guys told me a goal, like, what do you want and what's a blocker? Now here's a thing. Not everybody manifests the same way. Not that I like that word, and not everybody, um, perceives the same way. Not everybody takes in information the same way, so you have to figure out.

What is the best way for you to perceive information so that you can execute towards it? Does that make sense? Yeah. Because I think it's kind of like, this is why I don't like the school system either, because everyone's taught the same way, but not everyone absorbs information the same way. So, okay. Oh, they changed their, they changed their chart.

Okay, so I, I need to follow along here. Ignore my crazy tabs. Okay, so on the right hand side of your head, you get these, you, you see these two arrows? Anybody has all left like me, like all these four arrows pointing Left Eden, I'm not surprised.

Okay. Basically the. It's called more like fixed. It's kinda like called the old paradigm. I think it's a misnomer. They should not call it that. But left is about people who are very, like certain, um, rigid, disciplined. It's generally like a fixed energy. Anytime the air is pointing right, it's more immutable, more malleable.

It's kind of like, oh, okay, I'm open to whatever. Um, if you have all the arrows points to the left, it's actually called the, the shark archetype. Um, I don't like thinking about my, about myself that way, but I also know that I'm very reliable cause I'm very fixed. So, uh, and the right, if I, if I know that I need to be more open-minded, then I'll collaborate with like right people, you know what I mean?

But if I want, but if I, uh, basically if, if you wanna meet a hustler and someone who, who is like, yeah, literally like a shark, um, but like in a good way, then you wanna meet someone who is all left facing. So, um, there's million ways to interpret that, but. Anyway, what we're gonna focus on today is this arrow right here, top and bottom.

The bottom right arrow is about how you manifest. Um, the top arrow is about how you absorb information. Okay? So at first I was like, I don't, mm, I don't know if I trust this because, but then I realized it's actually true. So because my arrow on the top was point the left, what this means is I learn faster and better if I have specific details I can grab onto.

And at first I was like, in such denial about that, I was like, no, no, no. Like I'm in like a big picture, like macro thinker, like this makes no sense. But then I realized that, um, every time I, I finally get a big idea is when I'm exposed to details that justify the big idea. So, for example, um, I'm, I'm trying to, I'm trying to think of, oh, taro is a great example, which by the way, you guys should come tomorrow.

That's part of, you know, this whole experience. Um, with, with tarot, I, my, my learning speed became much faster when I was able to assign very specific, uh, meaning to each card. And not only that, like attached to certain like, events. So, you know how some people like read tear and they're very like in their feelings and they read like the emotions.

Whereas like for me, I'm very much like, oh no, night of ones. Like, it means it's a text. Like, there's like, no, um, and I can, and then I can understand like, oh, now I get what, like what the emotion behind that is. But initially I had to like, grab into a detail of like the text. Oh, it literally means like a phone text.

But, you know, there's many other terriors who don't learn Tara like that. They go off by the, the emotional definition, like the history or like, you know, the higher level meaning like you get the idea. So, um, So if your arrows point to left, think about your goal and think about the outcome, like the vision of that goal.

Like specifically, what does that success or win look like for you? And you might wanna start doing, uh, some research around the specific path and steps to get there. We're, we're gonna like go through like some coaching sessions and like show you guys exactly how this is done. But basically, um, if there's something that you really want in life, you have to know what that looks like in great detail.

Visually. Yeah. On every level. It's like, if someone just loosely tells you how to do it, you can't do it. Like, they actually have to show you proof and evidence step by step. Let me give you another example. I, I hired somebody recently. Um, You know, there were like 10 different competitors for that, for that role of position.

But the only reason why I heard these guys is because they were very, uh, they tangibly outlined their deliverables in a way that meets my goal. Everybody else saw the vision, but the thing is, I knew the vision. I didn't care about the vision. I knew, I wanted to know about the how. That's very left arrow.

Okay, so you gotta do this for your goal. Now, the, the bottom one, the manifestation arrow, it's point to left. So if you are left, again, you gotta be very specific. If you're right, if your arrow's pointing right, you may not wanna plant things to a t, you may not wanna plant things as like, when I hit 40, I'm gonna buy this house on this beach.

With two dogs like that, that's just too, that's too much specificity. The any, any time you have a right pointing arrow, it's better to leave it kind of open. You know, I generally want to aim for this area, you know, with this price range. Um, but I'm also open if I, you know, live on a farm. You see what I mean?

And with the top right, cause I kind of skipped that over, if you have the top right arrow, um, this is about being open to, to new information, new ways of learning, new perspectives. This is like a more malleable, like, it's very easy for you to, um, kind of try out new schools of thoughts. And also, uh, you might be a more intuitive learner, like you might, you might deal well with like, abstract.

So great example, if you're on YouTube or if you're on TikTok and your air is pointed to, to the right, um, you might like, Creators that kind of go off tangent and talk about other random things. Or you might find yourself going off on a tangent and searching other related topics, but not exactly addressing the one you initially set out to research.

For me personally, when I start researching, I stay on that topic. I do not go down a rabbit hole. I, I research with a fucking mission and I'll find an answer, and I do not go down I Eden. Can you relate? Are you the same way? Yeah. But if you're a right person, maybe that just, maybe that just stifles you and you and you know, maybe like one minute you're researching like how to play checkers, then you're researching, you know how to play chess.

Then it goes into like, uh, you know, monopoly and you're okay with that and that, and, and there's nothing wrong with that because that's how you expand your field.

So I wanted to anchor our next several sessions around this style of learning and perceiving and manifesting. Now look at your own charts and, um, Does someone wanna share? Just really quickly, under a minute how this relates to them? Stephanie, let's. Me, I just how it relates. I think aeros wise I got a little lost because I, mine are two to the left on the design side and then two to the right on the right side.

But when I was like reading it, it just like made me almost like emotional in my solar plexus and stomach. Like seeing where the environment is like melting pots and like multiple different cultures and environments and I've always just loved like the big cities and I wanna like move and just travel the world and the sound and the meat.

This, everything looked really very relatable. And what you were saying about the right not having it, so like. Dialed downs. Cuz for me as a generator, I just know and I feel that like what I do, surprises from the universe are gonna come. So it's like I don't wanna get expectations of like these things.

There's kinda the bare bones of what I need, you know, and then I know that I'll just get rewarded somehow. Mm-hmm. . Yeah. But I did get confused. So like we were talking kind of on the right side on that personality arrows, but I had two to the left and two to the right and I just didn't know what that like signified.

Um, the, the one on, we didn't go, we didn't go through the environment and digestion. Those are the other arrows. Those are more about, yeah, those about those are more about your, your environment. Like, you know, what, what types of environment do you have to be into, create a healthy routine, that kind of stuff.

And it's just so valid and it's like, why, why am I learning this at 26? But at least I'm not learning it at 62. Right. . Mm-hmm. . So happy to be here. Yeah. Uh, quick, quickly, by show of hands, any manifestors in the room?

Eden, you're, you're a manifestor. That's cool. I didn't, why did I not know this? Well, I'm a manifesting generator. Oh. So I don't know if that still counts. Yeah. Yeah. Manifestor manifesting generator. Raise your hand. Okay. Okay. Projector or any projectors in here? Okay. Uh, all right. Cool. Generators. Pure generators.

Nice. Good to see everybody. Reflectors,

Nicole. Oh, yes, I remember that. Okay, great. Um, all right, cool. So we're gonna go into breakout room. We're gonna come back in two minutes. Let's really, really fast. I need everyone, when you meet to, um, state your goal, like literally, why did you sign up for this? Like, what, you know, what are, what are you committing?

Um, that's going to change the next 20 of your 20 years of your life, your goal or your, your goal for the next 20 years of years of your life. And look at that arrow and, and, um, talk about it a little bit. Like talk about, like what if you, okay, so focusing on the lower arrow, tell your group specifically what your manifestation or your goal looks like.

And if you're right, if a right pointing arrow, um, kind of loosely describe like what you're aiming for. You could even talk about like how this relates to you in general, but I want you guys to talk about your goals out loud as it relates to your arrows. Does that make sense? There's no right or wrong way to do this.

Okay, cool. And we're gonna come back in like two minutes. Let me see if I can do this correctly. Um, somebody might end up with three, but that's okay. I can never do this right. Um, okay. Let's try this. Yeah.

Okay. I'll see you guys soon.

Oh, are you guys with me? No.

Okay. I know somebody, I know somebody talked way longer than they should and your partner didn't get to go or vice versa. I don't know. That always happens. Don't, don't worry. That's, that's a co very common phenomenon. Someone just grabs the mic the whole time in the breakout room anyway. Um, alright, so.

Let's go into intuitive coaching. Is everyone feeling okay? How's it going so far? Are y'all having fun? Yes. Yeah. Okay, great. Um, also if you're not, that's just too bad. I don't know what to say. . Um, let's go ahead and, uh, pull up this list. Okay. And I'm gonna send out homework and KPIs after this. So in case you're like, well, what do I do with this information that I just learned?

Like, there'll be follow ups, there'll be action items. Okay? So don't worry so much about that. I'm just going down the list. Is Alexandra here?

Alexandra's not here. Um, Ali Spear, I'm here. Okay, great. You're first up. You ready? I'm ready. , I think . Okay, everybody get ready to tune in and, and take some notes cuz this is, uh, I don't wanna call it parts work, but it's similar to, uh, parts work that Teal Swan does, but, but not really. Okay. Allie, could you, you know, just take a deep breath in and out.

Let's open up your heart space a little bit and could you speak to what your goals. Yeah, so I think, um, my biggest goal through doing this, um, is obviously to learn and grow. Um, but what I really came in here with is wanting to find financial abundance through my creativity and connecting with others. Um, I am a non-specific, so my arrow is pointing to the, um, to the right.

So I'm kind of leaving that open. I have ways where I would like that, how I would like that to manifest, but I've kind of done that soul searching of like what I need to feel fulfilled. And I do really feel it's being creative and connecting with others. And so I just want to help learn new ways to expand myself to, um, get more tools and all that to try and get there.

What do you do now? I am an actress and a writer primarily. And then I have a few other jobs on the side that I do as well, like nannying, uh, tutoring, writing, like some freelance stuff, that kind of stuff. Okay. Um, I got a lot of male energies around you for some reason, so I don't know if you are like dating or trying to date or, but that's, that's just, I don't know why, but that just came up a little.

So focused on my career right now. . Okay. No, I, I, sorry, I meant more like in past tense form cuz this is actually related to your creative energy a little bit. Um, okay, so you, I'm assuming you live in la Yes. Is that okay? Um, what does being financially free or being abundant look like to you? Now the reason why I'm doing this is because you said you have right arrow.

I have left arrow, so I'm gonna ask you left questions cuz this is how we help each other. Okay. Describe to me tangibly what that looks. I think it's being at a place where I feel fully comfortable with where I'm at financially, and I don't have to stress and worry to do the things that I want to do. So if I wanna take a coaching session or a really cool acting opportunity, um, I never have to stress and worry and be like, can I financially afford this?

Can I work this into my life? Um, traveling is also really, also really, I feel like I grow a lot through that. So being able to incorporate travel more consistently into my life. Um, and also like being able to use my money to help me in the areas maybe that I'm not quite as, you know, proficient. So, so I can spend less of my energy per se, like focused on cooking all my meals and the nutrition in that, where I can just hire someone every week where I get, you know, meals delivered and then I can focus my energy more on creativity.

So I think that is kind of the gist. Mm-hmm. and the, and the gigs that you currently do or currently have, um, how do, how, what's their level of support for the goals that you have? I think varying , because I do, I have like different, you know, a couple of different gigs, um, and stuff. I think it definitely varies.

I do think all though, everything I do, like I am always clear that I'm an artist, um, and that I will do like, be doing, uh, acting things or writing gigs as well. And so everybody that I do work for like does know that that's part of it and has been accommodating. Like if I book an acting gig last minute and I have to kind of not be there, they have been supportive of that.

Um, so it's it, but I wouldn't say they're like so overtly supportive of my career either, if that makes. . Got it. Okay. So it feels to, if I may, it feels to me a little bit like, um, you know what you want to do, but they're sustaining you. They're not necessarily, like, you're not necessarily, like, you don't really feel like comfortable or super like thriving.

It feels like a feast or famine type situation. Yeah. Um, and you're trying to build like a solid ground or reputation within the creative space. Um, but at the same time, like you just have to pay your bills. And that's where it gets a little bit tough to do both at the same time. I, I get this feeling a little bit that like, um, you, you are in the creative space and you, and you're trying to make money with it, but, and some, and can somebody mute themselves?

Please. Cause I can hear myself, I, I get this feeling of like you being bullied in the past. Um, and there was this bullying around what you can and cannot do. Um, and what you cannot can and cannot achieve. That's something that you have to clear. You wanna speak to that a little bit? Yeah, I mean I think just my whole life kind of growing up, it was very much so instilled that the things that I wanted to do, I probably wasn't going to be able to do.

Um, and that also this just, if you are going to go this route, if you are going to be an artist, starving artist, like that is what it's going to be. You're going to struggle. It's going to be hard. Um, also even just pursuing like acting and writing, like growing up there was a lot, a lot I was met with a lot of resistance just in so many different areas, um, of people telling me that I couldn't do this or I wasn't good enough.

Um, and just, yeah. And, um, in. Where it hits kind of like the different aspects of it, you know, where you get it through family, through friends, through career, all of that. Um, and that is something I have been really, really actively working on, trying to release and trying to shift my mindset and realizing, like just shifting it to that this is something that is possible.

This is something that I can do. Mm-hmm. , uh, thank you very much for sharing that. Cause I know that that is a very sensitive topic. So, okay. So here's the thing, and this is where I need everyone to pay attention when it comes to money or career. We all have a, a programming from an outside force that puts a cap on our earning potential.

This happens just without our permission. This is just kind of like how it is, right? So, for example, um, do, do you guys know about, okay, no, that's a bad example. So for example, like if you hang out with friends who are happy with making six figures, right? Um, Then you're gonna think that's success. I'm not saying that's not, I'm just saying you, they set the standard cuz you're in that environment.

Um, the, and then you start hanging out with people who make like half a mill and then they talk about si like, you know, a hundred thousand dollars if it's like nothing. So you're, your, your, your normal changes, right? There's a new normal. So, um, Allie, I feel like there was a set point done in the past where maybe the people who raised your, maybe your, you know, your friends, um, really believe in the government, like stability or, uh, or, or, you know, backup plans or fallback plans and just cannot fathom someone living an abundant life through your creative thing.

So, um, I I, I keep also feeling like I don't know what this male energy is. There is something about, like, I get like Don Juan Energy a little bit. I, I don't know, like . Don Juan is an archetype. Do Don Juan is an archetype. So I have to like, think about that a little bit, but there's a lot of like seductive energies, what I'm trying to say.

And that might hold a key to like manifestation powers for you kind of off tangent. Um, but yeah, what I encourage you to do is since you have like a, a right facing arrow, start feeling into the feeling of what would it be like if I achieve the things that I want to, despite what my family and friends said.

So if you, just, just for a second, if you envision that, if you envision like, you know, receiving an Oscar on a red carpet and, I don't know, making a lot of money and like your friends and family are right there, just visualize that for a second. How do you feel in your body? I just, I don't, it's like I felt this like wave of relief almost like in my body where it's.

I think it was also you saying like you get there and your family and friends are right there too. Because I think that's a fear as well, that if I get there, will they still be there? Oh, interesting. And I didn't even realize that until you said that, but when you said that, like when you said the family and friends are right there, I just like had this like wave like, oh wait, I can do this.

And like the people who love me will be there supporting me by my side. Why was that a fear? Did you think that they would abandon you if you pursued this? I guess I feel like I fear that it would create such a distance because it's so different from what they're doing that it would just, not that like it would destroy the relationship, but it would just create this kind of like chasm between us where it would be harder to connect.

Right. Wow. Okay. So you actually care. So this is very interesting there. I, I wonder, uh, did everyone see that? So like you had this bully archetype or being bullied archetype, that was kinda like putting a cap on your growth, but adjacent to that was also this energy of like not wanting to, um, in a weird way, like separate from the bullies, like wanting their, that's something you have to let go of by the way.

Yeah. Wanting their approval and or wanting to transmute that bully energy into like a proper family dynamic. This is something that can come definitely in due time. Um, but it's not something that just like happens, like now. You know what I mean? Yeah, no, that makes sense. Totally. Um, maybe you believe that if you don't reach that level of success, they'll stick around because they'll have a reason to stick around because they can keep bullying you.

Yeah. You know, I'm not saying that's true, but that could be a very, very, very subconscious layer. Yeah. , I definitely think I need to like meditate on this whole thing and try like get deeper, deeper into it. For sure. So for everybody with the right facing arrow, um, keep very, like push yourself to specifically visualize that scenario of success and see what happens.

Because I know what y'all do, you just think like, kinda like blah. No, you have to hone it down. Um, okay Allie, thank you so much for volunteering. As far as like the actual financial abundance, I mean that's a whole separate discussion, but, uh, but we'll, we'll address that in the next session when we go into the house and the astrology.

Okay. The sixth house, cuz that's like the tangible day-to-day operational type stuff. Okay. Who wants to volunteer next? I figured I should just ask here instead of going through my Excel spreadsheet. Uh, Stephanie, did you raise your.

We can party. Let's do it. All right. Let's do it. Okay. What do you, what's the que What do I have to say to you again? What's the question? Yes. What's the goal? Yeah. My goal is honestly very,

I feel very similar. I felt Allie a lot in that. So thank you very much for opening the floor and making me feel more comfortable to share as well.

Um, I feel like I've also am fighting a lot of, um, family naysayers and just that energy of like staying at one level and it's like, I've done well, but it's like on their terms and it's like, wait, I actually am in full control of this life and I am on a precipice of a new age, of a new dawn. All the opposed.

So yeah, in a lot of ways just emancipated. For my own freedom of my soul and to see what I further like, need to do energetically, collectively. And like, there's just things that need to be done and I'm like, I just feel like I've been in the threshold of meeting that space and I think it's time for me to finally wake up and do the work.

They're good. 2020, truly. So, uh, t tell me exactly how they're holding you back. Um, it's like power with, uh, like it's, I think it is a lot of like mental and verbal and it's like just me and my parents here, and it's, I, it's like a fear, it's a fear with me, within me and within them that I, I just need to like, figure out how to not cut the cord but cut the cord and not, you know, it's, it's a very heavy, it's a lot.

So, so, so I'm assuming they, they pay for your stuff, is that true? Like, not all, but yes. They very, they help me a lot and it's a lot of like mental fear of like, oh, well we got you. , you know, it's like, well, I want to have myself. Yeah, yeah. Uh, by the way, everyone, uh, you know, cuz I know everyone here to a certain degree is a concern with abundance.

So this goes back to the bottom three chakras. Mm-hmm. . Um, the very bottom chakra is, uh, is the, is uh, the tribal energy. Right. But if you move up, you go into the solar plexus and that's the independent energy. Mm-hmm. . So we need a tribe. I mean, obviously that's why we have a family, but then at some point we also have to become independent.

And, um, for lots of reasons, parents don't always want to release us. Mm-hmm. . So we become like enmeshed and get really confused. And we're like, I thought you wanna, and then they get resentful too if, if you like, kind of forget about them. It's strange. Um, so, all right, one more, one more question. Did you, do you feel like you've done everything they've asked you to do with like Absolutely.

And especially within keeping the respect and independence of myself. Absolutely. I am. Like a gold, a golden child, especially for them. But like in the matters of respect and stuff, I want to say I've done everything that I can to make them happy and keep me sane at the same time. Absolutely. Right. Uh, could you define the Golden Child thing?

How exactly were your golden child? Well, for them, um, I, I'm their only child and they came from their own like two sep. I'm like a blended situation. I'm the bonus baby. So Uhhuh , my, it's a lot, like my oldest sibling is like about to turn 50, and then my youngest sibling just turned 35, but they're all half, and I'm just my only parents.

I think it was like their thing to make it like, oh, we're not gonna mess this one up. But she can. It's, it's just all very confusing. Mm-hmm. . Yeah. It's a lot. Mm-hmm. , everybody, welcome to my life. . Thank you very much for, uh, for sharing that. Raise your hand if you've done, if you are currently. At where you're at because your parents told you to do certain things.

Your parents said, this is the, this is the best way to live. This is who you should be. Okay, we have Kayla. Sorry, not Kayla. Sharon. Where was Kayla? Oh, Kayla's, sorry. The box moved. You did everything your parents told you to do when you end up at wherever you're at currently.

Okay. And you're kind of like, wait, I reach my destination and I'm not fulfilled. Raise your hand if that's you. If you reach your goal and you're not fulfilled, raise your hand. Okay. So circling back to um, Stephanie, and as myself included, by the way, um, It's all about moving up the chakras, right? So, you know, you have your tribe, then you have to become autonomous independent.

Not every parent lets you do that. This is where the money gets also really fucked up. Um, this is also in a, in a romantic relationship, whether it's your boyfriend or girlfriend, like funding your lifestyle, whether it's your parents funding you, whatever, if anybody's funding you, that's your, your can't really be a totally autonomous me.

Um, and that's just unfair because you're here to be autonomous, quite frankly, and you can start connecting and intertwining with other people after you first become autonomous. I don't make the rules. That's just how it is. Yeah. Uh, people really don't like it when I say that, but it's true. So, um, so what I actually act, uh, Stephanie, right?

Mm-hmm. , before you even started talking, I got the father archetype for you. I actually, I'm not really sure why he popped up. Um, but then after that I got the guide archetype. I know you said it's, it's power and control. I actually feel like it's more of a dictator kind of situation. It's almost like them, like dictating how you live or what kind of decisions you make, but it's all under the guise of like trying to guide you.

And it's, it's, um, and I'm not saying that a negative way by the way. Like I, I don't know your parents, I'm not trying to disrespect, but, but I feel like this is well intended, but misguided situation and the best thing you can do is to, um, how does it feel in your body if the goal, instead of like the whole financial independence thing, cuz that comes later.

What if the, what if the first goal is just being able to tell them no? How does that, how does that make you feel in the body? It feels short and still so open-ended cuz they are so stubborn and controlling . So it's like, it's not, it won't be a one off. It feels like it would be. Like a mark bark, bark, fight almost uhhuh to explain further all those things.

And especially what you were talking about earlier with like people that don't know that they're the problem or stuff. Like what I said, my birth givers, like anything I say especially like that is profound. They're like, huh? Like they wouldn't know if it slapped 'em in the face if it came from me, but who knows about the greater dawns that will come?

Like, so yeah. It's overwhelming to try to have to like speak that up and communicate on a 40 level, let alone 3D sometimes. Yeah. So with parents, and I've gone through this myself, it's, it's kind of tricky with parents. You have to get to a point where if they call you and you just, you know, it's gonna be a distraction towards your goals, just not answering them.

Mm. A lot of children have a hard time getting to that point. And I, and I get it and I buy Francis and I and I understand, but instead of this big goal, you, you guys always have to like break down your goals, right? Instead of the big goal of like, you know, that money or that wealth take, take like measured steps first.

Like now you know, oh, some that's in the way is your inability to set up boundary with your parents. Unless you get that piece right, the other stuff's gonna be hard. Yeah. So I would really tangibly think about the exact scenario in which they call you, what they talk to you about. Because I think you're gonna reach a point where you know exactly what your dad wants to talk to you about on the phone.

You see, you seem like, right? You see him calling and you're like, I already know what he's gonna talk about. Yeah. So your homework is to be able to just like hit decline or answer and have like a script ready to go, Hey dad, I'm busy. I, you know, I know you wanna talk about X. Here's my response. Oof. Yeah.

And I don't know, why would I keep going? Like gravitating towards your dad. Like I feel like that's where the bulk of the energy is coming from. It's funny because then I also have like narcissistic mom cpk, but like yeah. But it's also things that I deal with my dad. It's like you kind of picked and have chosen to stay with her and like our relationship is a trauma bond.

It's a dealing around her eggshells. Like that's what you've made this relationship to add. Like that's just how I feel about it. So yeah. That's interesting. Um, yes, do that. And then let's talk next time about the astrology stuff. Okay. Absolutely. Which I think will help everybody. Okay. Um, and same thing that I told Allie, like also visualize that process when your parents call or text.

Like how would you respond in a way that protects your energy? Big time. Okay. Thank you so much. Wow. Thanks. Of course. You're welcome. That was good. Um, who's next? Did you guys notice how like right arrow that sounded both Ali and Stephanie? Kayla, let's go. Okay. I'm so excited. I just started getting into the whole human design conversation, so this is fascinating for me.

Um, I am a generator. My arrow is on the right, the top one goes to the right, and the bottom one goes to the left. Nice. Uh, and a bit of how that resonates with me is I, I definitely, I have a combination of a deep desire to plan, to figure out what's the infrastructure of this idea gonna look like. I, in my professional career, work with a lot of engineers.

Uh, in the tech space. Mm-hmm. , but I'm also a very intuitive decision maker. I am that person on TikTok who, if I wanna research something, uh, I often come at it from a lot of different angles. I find Rabbit Hole helps actually get better results. Usually uhhuh, uh, connecting thoughts from bubbles all, all over the place.

Um, in terms of my goals, especially with this program, I think I'm at a point where I've achieved a lot of the things that I really dreamed about when I was in school and university. And I've gotten to, I've kind of, you know, done the checklist of things, you know, get the stable job, make your first real estate purchase, et cetera.

And now I'm really starting to think about what does the next phase of my life look like? I believe deeply that I'm probably not somebody that's gonna live in a nine to five the rest of my life. Uh, I'm finding that I'm here really to search for clarity on what are the next steps I can take towards, um, uh, like the previous person said, some financial abundance.

And I think what that looks like for me is having some of my own entrepreneur, my own businesses, passive income. A lot of those conversations really fascinate me. Uh, and I also do see myself in this. It, the idea is still very much forming. Again, I'm really looking for kind of clarity and direction, but I feel very drawn towards this idea of influencing people of influence.

Uh, I don't necessarily have a deep desire to be the face of anything, but I do find that I find myself wanting to be, or ending up in rooms of. People who are executives or I'm also, um, deep, deeply creative and I work with a lot of creative types, uh, with professionals in that realm. Whether or not I'm actually a professional or working on their level, I find myself in those conversations.

And so I've gone through my own physical emotional healing journey. And so I'm trying to figure out what does it look like to combine all of these different ideas and goals. And even as I'm describing it right now, I'm like, oh, this is so me, kind of like throwing different ideas and, um, thoughts that for me, it's all very intertwined, but I'm trying to figure out how is it intertwined?

What does this look like and how do I make this tangible to then plan out some next, some next steps. So I'll leave it at that. Yeah. Uh, just really quickly for everyone, uh, the other thing I forgot to mention is in period nine, the industries that will thrive all touches on like creativity. So arts, you know, if you're trying to be an actress, you're in the right space.

Um, any industry that also like, helps women in some way, like the beauty industry, you know, female leadership, whatever, like all, all those things are gonna thrive. Uh, the gentleman in the room, if you're trying to figure out which vertical to go into, I would, I would just look up which one has like the biggest, you know, women, customers.

Um, that's just, anyway, that's a kind of random tangent. Uh, what I get for you, Kayla, is this is super specific. So I'm, it's one of those things where if, if I'm wrong, it's actually very embarrassing, but what I get is that through your I your time in the corporate world, I actually think you saw a lot of kind of sociopathic.

Behavior or like, you know, uh, really, I don't wanna say toxic, but yeah, psychopathic, sociopathic behaviors or tendencies that run in the executive space that I think you saw an opportunity on how to heal. It's almost like you kind of under understand the roots of that. It's connected to, um, motherhood in some way.

So I think what you're trying to introduce, I see you being able to introduce like a healthier way of developing as a leader in the modern world. Um, a lot of people who are highly intelligent but just kind of emotionally fucked up and are like adult children running like a Fortune 500 or a major tech star or whatever.

Like, I feel like that's deep, deep down. That's kinda like what you want to help with, like, heal. Um, bye Sharon. I'll see you next time. And so there's this actually like, um, Yeah, like mother wounds, like I think you've seen mother wounds. I don't even know if you would call it that, but I kind of picked that up in terms of what you observed.

So I don't know if that's something that you wanna like venture out in terms of the tech space, um, but I get a little bit of that for you. I also highly recommend not just you, but everybody in the room to check out Finer North Star. That's a course that you also get, uh, that kind of shows you some like important clues as to what your life purpose is.

Um, but I'm just gonna like quickly leave it at that, not quickly. I'm just gonna leave it at that for now. How does that sit with you? Yes, it, it definitely resonates. Um, again, it, it follows the same theme that I was describing of, you know, what would it look like to work with people of, of influence and to better help them appropriately step into their own power in a really healthy way, step into their own power, uh, to broaden perspectives, increase empathy.

Um, that's a big word for me. Mm-hmm. . Yeah. Mm-hmm. . Um, yeah. Yep. It definitely resonates. So are you ready to, um, hold on. Your top right arrow was, yeah, the arrow was pointing right. So are you, um, in your left arrow is the bottom arrow. So what does it feel like in your body when you see yourself as an executive coach?

What does it feel like in my body when I see myself as an executive coach? Uh, it's really interesting. I had, I can't, what was it, yesterday or the day before? Um, I had this kind of visual. I do a lot of like imagination, visualization things. Um, and the kind of, I was like, okay, what would feature me look like with that question?

And it's almost like this, I kind of am like, I see myself and I'm kind of like looking back at myself right now, and I kind of just like winked kind of like we're having fun. Um, kind of like we made it, we're comfortable, we're doing what we love, we're making impact and we're having fun, um, doing it. So how that feels in my body is it feels really, and it almost makes me wanna like, kinda like do this, like it feels very grounded, but, and like both up here is really activated and kind of like light, but at not so much that I don't feel grounded, like it feels very balanced, very harmonized.

Um, is the word that comes to mind, like balance in Spanish. Um, yeah. Okay, great. So I would pull in that thread because I don't think it's quite executive coaching, but it has to do with, um, developing people. It has to do with developing groups of people that are at a, that at a certain level in their lives.

Um, and, uh, Yeah, I would, I would, you know, since you already have the right error and you're really good at like doing fluid research, I would start looking at what are some alternative ways to, um, yeah, what are some alternative methods to executive coaching that startups are seeking? And, and see like where you kind of like fit in or what stands out to you because, and I say this specifically because you have your own journey, that's why this is coming up.

Like you've seen some stuff is what I get, and there are certain things you want to, um, just change and disrupt, but it has more to do with like the, like the human aspect of things. Not so much like, you know, like a, like, like a tech or anything like that. Mm-hmm. , I, I see myself, or I'm feeling myself these days, um, as kind of like a very peaceful disruptor.

Mm-hmm. . Um, and I don't, and actually I've never used that phrase before, but it just came to mind and I think it, it. Represents how I feel about myself these days is I kind of come in and out of people's lives to be this kind of like peaceful disruptor. I love it. That, that, yeah, I can see that a hundred percent.

So I would keep like pulling on that thread with those phrasing. Um, thank you so much for sharing. Yeah. What a cool story. Who would like to go next?

Laura?

Hi. Um, okay. How are you? Um, my goals for the next 20 years is to, um, develop my own business. Um, so I just wanna make sure that I'm going in the right direction with that. Um, and that I have the tools in order to do. Um, right now I'm in a corporate job that I'm not happy with and I don't feel aligned with.

Um, so I just wanna get out of that and just do the things that I love. Um, I'm a very, very creative person and I'm, my job is not allowing me to do that right now. Um, on my chart, my top arrow is pointing right and my bottom arrow is pointing left. Okay. Uh, you said your bottom arrow is pointing right? Uh, top arrow is pointing right and bottom is left.

Oh, just like Kayla? Mm-hmm. . Okay, great. And what do you do now? Um, right now I am in management at a window treatment company. So, um, I, my, the bulk of my job is approving quotes to make sure that they're correct when they go out to the customer. Got you. Uh, raise your hand if you're trying to start your own business in the next several years.

Let me see here. Okay. That, that should be, it seems like that's like, at least half in the room. Great. Great, great, great. You're in the right place. Um, okay, so this applies to everybody that just like raised their hands. Uh, what, okay. What's your environment just real fast in your human design chart? What's your, um, it's at the bottom, uh, shores, melting pots, places where multiple different elements are cultures come together.

Okay. And where do you live now? What city? I live in brick, New Jersey, which is the Jersey Shore . Okay. Okay. Um, do you know what, and, and everybody, like if you raise your hand, please, like follow internally, like respond on your, on your own, what kind of business do you wanna start? Do you know? I want a, I wanna start a play cafe business for children.

Ooh, with a, but I also wanted to be like an active cafe, cuz I love baking and I love the creative side of baking, so I want to be able to do that and incorporate it into it. Okay. I'm gonna tell you something you're not gonna like it. Ready? Okay. Yeah. , what's the theme of the next 20 years? We talked about earlier, one of the things, um, it's, uh, focus, uh, ooh, I have it written down. I'm sorry. Hold on. It's okay. No problem. I'm, I, this is, I like to just throw out. Anybody else wants to answer popcorn style? There's no

Creativity. Yeah. Technology. Technology, yes. Technology. Yep. Buyer. Yep. Virtual speed. Virtual, yes. Mm-hmm. . So if you want to start a brick and mortar business, I would think very carefully about that before beginning. Okay. It's not, it's not impossible, of course, I would never say that. But I would just think about it in terms of, um, when I think about speed, I think about scale.

What can you scale as fast as possible? Um, and you know, you might just tell me like, Hey, my goal is I don't care about scaling. I just wanna have this like one store, one caffeine. I'll be happy. You might, I mean, that could be your truth. Um, what are you generator manifesting? Generator. I'm a projector.

Yeah. So that's an additional layer of complexity because, uh, projectors are not designed to run something day in, day out. I don't know if you knew that. I didn't. Yeah. Projectors are here to guide people actually. And the, the, the, the coach and the therapist archetype is the projector. So what I would ask you to do, and again, everybody else please do this exercise, um, especially if you're a projector, , uh, what does starting this cafe do for you emotionally?

So right now, um, I help admin, a Facebook group for mothers mm-hmm. , um, for, uh, mothers of all stages of life. So I moved here a couple years ago during the pandemic and didn't any friends. Um, so I started this Facebook group and it's grown to almost a thousand follow, uh, members, which is amazing. Nice. Um, we work on, um, getting moms together, collaborating, plus setting up play dates for moms, for the kids, um, getting them all together, um, so everybody can meet friends, like in the same area.

And the thing that we were lacking is like a play place, like mm-hmm. , uh, like that in like, here, so we have to travel 30 minutes this way or that way. So I was just like, we could have something central, more moms could meet here and we could keep it here. So that's where my thought with the, with that idea was going.

Uh, Laura, you already have a leg up. You already have your toes in the virtual space. You already grew your membership, sorry, the Facebook page two a thousand members. Um, what I'm feeling like is, is I get the word rescue. I don't know, it's kind of weird. I'm not, I don't think you're trying to rescue people.

That's, that's not what it is. But there is an element of like trying to create a safe haven for people, for like children. I'm assuming you could do that virtually. I, I would pull on that thread and explore that a little bit. You know, what does it feel like for you to run something virtually as opposed to like being in the exact same, you know, environment every single day.

You're a sure person. I don't know if you're gonna be happy with that. Just letting you know. Okay. So, and this is, this is a good exercise, you guys. This is, this is the types of stuff you gotta think about before you start anything. . You don't wanna commit this shit in like two years. I'll be like, fuck, why'd I do this?

Okay. So, uh, it's also a lot of upfront investment. Mm-hmm. to get a retail space. Um, But that's awesome that you grew that Facebook page, 2000 to a thousand. Mm-hmm. . That's, that's amazing. And I think that if you can take that core d n a, that core engine of what it is you get by cre creating that space for people and translate into a business that be powerful.

Just don't do it. Like in the context of like brick and mortar. You, you can do that later when you make bank. Okay. You can create memberships, you can create, um, you can create like a network, right? Um, you can monetize a network. You could, there's, there's a million different things You could even actually, even, yeah.

I'm sorry. I was gonna say, we've been trying to figure out how to monetize our group and, um, cause I coad admin with a couple of other girls and we are, we're trying to figure out how we get those perks, how we, um, monetize it, how we do things on a larger scale, how we have larger events and, and what have you.

Amazing. And you could also partner with local stores. Like local, like Exactly. Yeah. Yeah. Mm-hmm. . Awesome, awesome stuff. Okay. Was that helpful? Yes, extremely. All righty. Who would like to go next?

Kelly. I love how none of the gentlemen are volunteering.

Well, um, I was trying to remember what I made my goal when I was in the dms and everything and both of my arrows point to the left. And I'm pretty sure my goal was kind of like very vague and everything. It was a lot of like getting out of like survival mode and mm-hmm trying to find a career where I could have passion and just feel like I'm more thriving in that position in general.

And finding my soul tribe. There's a lot of vague stuff that I was looking for. . Uh, okay. Uh, awesome. Um, what do you do now? Um, I am an epigenetic sales rep, so like life science, sales. Wow. That's kind of cool. Yeah, it's very complex. You're, you're sort of, you're sort of connect to the, the future of the wellness space, not sort of Yeah, definitely connect to it.

Yeah. Yeah. I work for a big women's health company and I desperately wanna leave my job , but unfortunately that's the future. So they're gonna thrive. Um, I'm, I'm sure it's, it's soul sucking to work there, but that industry's gonna thrive, so. Okay. So you, okay, so what do you wanna do? Do you wanna start a business?

Do you wanna get a new job? How, what's your definition? Or do you care how you make your money? Like where, what's your relationship with the, a path? Um, I mean, my, I think for one thing it's, yeah, financial abundance is like a big thing. I have a fear about letting go of this job because of how much money I make and how inflation has gone.

Mm-hmm. . And I don't have like a partner like to lean on for support. I could lean on my parents, but at this point, like, it's not something that I wanna do. Mm-hmm. . Um, so I'm definitely not in that place, um, for what I wanna do. I just wanna feel like, I'm in the right thing where I'm thriving. Mm-hmm. , like, I feel like it fits who I am, and right now I'm stuck at home, very isolated, and it just doesn't feel like me.

All right. For every single person in this room who has left arrows, um, when you, when you set specific goals and it doesn't happen, I, I understand how crushing it is. It happened to many, many times. It doesn't mean that you should stop setting specific goals, unfortunately. I just keep gonna keep doing it.

Um, that's how you increase your chance of manifesting, especially if your errors are point to the left. So Kelly, what I'm hearing from you is like, I'm open-ended and that's not okay. Right. So sounds to me like you might, it's the right industry, wrong position, like sales or Yeah. Do you enjoy sales? . I enjoy parts of it, but a lot of it is very tedious and I'm still newer in sales. I'm, I have, like, I've been at this company for two years now, so I have about three years of sales experience. Before I was like a trainer, a field application specialist, where I would create training programs and stuff like that.

Mm-hmm. and that was a better fit in a sense, but it was much more of a toxic company. Mm-hmm. and I had a goal of going into sales. Mm-hmm. . Okay, got you. For every single person in this room that wants to get a new job or a better job, or, you know, if you're employed and you and you want something better, I would, I would start looking at, I would start thinking of, um, I would start from the lifestyle actually.

How do you want your lifestyle to be?

So that means what kind of apartment do you wanna live in or condo or home or, you know, um, How many hours do you want to work? How do you want your morning to look like? The minute do you wanna wake up and like immediately be blasted with emails? Maybe you love that. I have know people who love that shit.

I do not. Um, do you want to be responding to people until like, into the midnight? You know, it's like, it's totally, there's no right or wrong answer here. Um, do you want to be working based on off of commissions and do you want quotas? Like these are things to like tactically think through. I have a lot of, um, so real talk when it comes to money, which is related to energy.

So energy, like gains momentum. You, the goal is to gain momentum. So what that means is, same thing with money. Cuz money is energy. You have to look at an opening where you can quickly gain momentum. So if you're super dogmatic about, no, I wanna do this, and if it's not this, I'm not gonna make a dime. I don't care.

Like that's, you know, be careful of, of thinking about like that because that, that could like, Create whatever the opposite of momentum is, it could be blocking you. Right? So that's why I was asking, um, Kelly, like, do you care about this industry? Do you care about this position? Because you already created momentum, right?

With like the, with the money situation. Now it's about, okay, let's preserve that momentum, but direct it somewhere else. So I know hairdressers, by the way, who knew weren't gonna make a lot of money being a hairdresser, but guess what, uh, this one lady that I know, she was a hairdresser in la, she got a lot of contacts from being a hairdresser.

You know what she does now? And she makes a, like a lot of money. Like her clients pay her like $600,000. Like per client. She's a matchmaker. Do you think she set out wanting to be a matchmaker? No. That's not what she had in mind. She, but she had the momentum going. She, she literally looked at her life and what she was doing.

She was like, okay, where am I getting the fast momentum? Oh, it's the contacts. It's the people that talk to me when they come in for a haircut, that's where her network was game momentum. So she figured out how to like monetize it based on their need. Now, she didn't completely sell her soul because she, that's why she was a hairdresser cuz she liked people that, I mean, that was a common denominator.

So for everyone in this room who wants to, um, get a new job or make more money, or even start a business, I would look at where do you spend your energy right now and where is like the highest amount of momentum? And if feel like, I don't know what that is, then look at what people come to you for. Even at your job, what do people come to you for?

And if you, huh, I was gonna say, they come, uh, all of my coworkers come to me for help all the time. Right? So if so, I mean, that's kind of hard to monetize if you're in a job. Yeah. If you're in a corporate space. However, there are a million ways to ask a raise for that from your boss and be like, Hey, if I achieved X for you, for example, if I answered all these questions for my coworkers, don't you agree that it would increase the productivity by 30%?

And if you, and they're probably gonna like, yeah. Then, then you say, okay, therefore I think I deserve a 30% raise. Like, always like work it backwards and justifying it from like, I spend my energy on this and it's helping you do this, so pay me for it. Did everybody catch that? So you gotta take a look at what people come to you for, what you're good at.

Um, and don't start from like something like super outlet feel. Look at what, from what you're currently doing and start from there. There's, there's so many stories like that where I know people just like pivoted. Like one of my, um, biggest clients before they're mischief and they start out doing, um, I think like advertising, but then they pivoted into.

They really, really wanted to be like mad men, you know? But, uh, they realized they were better at merchandise or something like that, something like unsexy from their opinion. But they were able to create a merchandise for, I think I, I forget now, might have been like Lil Nas it or Lil Nas X. It was like one of those like rappers.

And then they realize they're actually really great at making viral merchandise. So they became like the viral merch guys. That's not what they start out. So I need everyone to, you know, just take a step back and do that for yourself, you know? Um, what, what do people come to you for that you may think is a little bit unsexy, but there's a lot of potential there that you could tap into.

Thank you. I will see you at the next call. That was that helpful, Kelly. Yeah, no, I think it's helpful. I mean, I still kind of think I need to figure some things out cuz my, uh, company had already has done some restructuring. My boss was let go today. Mm-hmm. and it's not, I, it's, it's not sustainable, honestly, I don't think.

For me, I also got, I'm sorry, before I forget, I also got teacher and engineer archetype for you. Okay. That's why I asked earlier that you enjoy sales cuz, and you, and you can very much enjoy it. But I get like, you actually like to build things and talk and, and, and explain why the way, why things, the way they work.

I mean, I am an engineer or projector. Oh yeah. I don't know if projectors like being in sales, I'm just being honest. Um, I like the money in sales. Yeah. That I believe. But you know, sales is like, I see sales like athlete, like an athlete job. You gotta like run sprints constantly, like right. And that can be really taxing. So I would look at, I mean, you're in a really cool field, Kelly.

I would look at what are some educational roles, what that you could take on, kinda like what you were doing before, but um, but like in a different capacity I would kind of explore. There's also sales educators. Well that's what I was thinking, like, yeah. Um, putting together training programs for sales reps, um, that kind of thing.

I could do stuff with Salesforce. Um, so yeah, there are some ways to pivot by and I'd be look into it and I'd be very specific with that. And if you gain momentum in that educational space, you might be able to start an online business teaching people how to do this stuff. You know, like how to become better salespeople or there's lots of niches can go into, yeah.

I'm also very into like the digital tech stuff, so. Mm-hmm. . I could see we're, we're almost at time here, you guys. I know a lot of y'all showed up at a really inconvenient time. Do we, um, do you guys wanna stick around for one more person or should we wrap? Should we do one more person? I probably need to go cause I'm still on working hours.

Okay, great. Uh, who, who would like to, yeah, I thank you for showing up for everyone. To everyone who had like corporate hours. Um, I think Krista raised her hand first.

Yeah. Hi, I'm Krista. Hi Krista. I'm from Reg, it's Europe. It's night, it's dark outside. Oh wow. Thank you for showing up. Thank you. So, uh, my goal is to grow in my career and income, uh, of course. And, uh, but the thing is, I, I want to be brave and I want to be not afraid of losing and not afraid of trying things because I'm afraid to lose.

And yeah, that's, that's that. And when I, when I looked at my chart, I see that, um, well, very interesting thing for me was, uh, a delta feeling that what happens when you're not living your design is frustration. Mm-hmm. . And, and, and, and I feel like, like that's, that's where I'm, that's where I'm feeling right now, like this complete frustration feeling.

What, uh, what are your arrows? Uh, they're both right. Got it. Okay. Okay. Um, and I'm the generator. Right. That's why the signature is frustration. And what do you do now? I'm project manager in a field of, uh, renewable energy. And I like it. It's, uh, it's not bad at all, but there is this sense of, of being stuck and, uh, yeah.

Of that. Let's break that down. Why, what, why exactly do you feel stuck with that job? Um, I don't really feel stuck like would with, with the job because it's something where, where, um, where I can apply myself. But I feel like I, I want to go up and I, I dunno how I feel like there is this, this, this, uh, uh, this ceiling on me because there is no really ceiling in the company or in the industry.

Uh, you know, the, the renewable energy is growing. Uh, it's, I think it'll be growing, uh, pretty much a lot. Mm-hmm. for, for the next years. Yeah. But I feel like I'm, I have this feeling about me that I attract, like the. The wrong, uh, wrong decision, the wrong choices and the wrong Mm. Like, uh, I, I, I feel like it's something within me, like within my energy field, something.

Okay. It, it might, yeah. Um, raise your hand, by the way, if you can relate to this, you're at a job that you know you're okay with it, but for some reason you feel stuck and you don't know why. Okay. I have an answer for all of y'all. Um, you ready? So, so kind of what I get for you, uh, Krista, uh, part of the, part of the issue is that you, you don't know what you want.

That that literally came up. Um, yeah, I'm, I'm hearing that you're a blank canvas and there's many ways to tra many rows to travel down, and I feel like there is. , I feel like a part of you understands that. Like, I think you understand like the power of sacrifice. I know that's kind of random, but it's almost like, you know how to like work hard, you know, how to like, um, help other people be of service.

Like, I think, and I think that's kind of, and this is very common, but in your case, you're kind of confusing that with your, your own purpose. You know, just because you show up and you're good at what you do and you fulfill your duties, that doesn't mean it's your purpose. And I feel like for so long you've been at a role or at a job or an industry where like your skills and your talents were well received and well utilized, and so you kind of thought, oh, maybe this is my path, but really know you were servicing them but not yourself.

So now you've reached a point where you're like, oh wait, why do I feel like this? And it's because, yeah, it's, you, you, you know, you were using your skills for others but not yourself. If that make, if that makes sense. It does. So, so you have, so the, the first step is to decouple the, like separate, uh, what you do for others.

The, this belief that you have to be useful. There you go. This belief that you have to be useful versus, uh, you following your purpose. They're not always related. Did a lot of people think like, um, so for example, a lot of people think like it's wrong to pursue their purpose because it means that they don't, they can't help certain people anymore or they won't be useful anymore.

It's, it's true.

It's a little bit like, oh, if I quit this job, who's gonna do it? Or if I leave this role like you, It's gonna happen. Like I have so many responsibilities. So basically, in other words, you know, in order for you to start really getting very clear about what it is you want, you have to be really, really selfish.

That's the bottom line.

What's going through your mind? You're smiling. It's, uh, it's an advice that I haven't received before. That's, and it sounds, uh, it sounds, uh, yeah, , I guess it's, it's, it's a lot to think about, but yes, I, I, um, yeah, I, I, I, I, I'm just really shocked about, about this cuz I, I haven't, uh, I haven't had advice like that.

So what's funny is this, um, I don't, I really don't think I say or give groundbreaking advice ever. I really don't think I do. But the point is, from the receiving end, it's usually their, their first time hearing. It's all about like, who are who, like, you know, who's around you. It's right, it's true. So I, I don't know if anybody else can relate to this, but, um, be selfish is, is not like a international advice, like, culturally, like I think only in America people give like, you know, be selfish advice when it comes to your career.

Right. And even then, I, I, I would say it depends about city too. It's not like that nationwide. So you have my permission, Krista, to literally envision exactly what it is you want to do and exactly how you wanna spend your time. Because right now you're only at your job because you know you're being, you're being helpful slash useful.

That's the only reason why you're there. But that doesn't mean it's expansive to you.

That is true. Okay, we're gonna, we're gonna go deeper next week. Look at the astrology. Okay. Thank you. Of course. Thank you. Um, all right, so we're, we're going to wrap only because I think we went over time and I'm just mindful of everyone's time here. Okay. Any questions, comments, feelings? We did not get to 10 people.

We, we, we did get to like six, which is still a decent number.

Fire in Diamond. I'm gonna be sending out homework. Uh, Alina, you raise your hand. I'm curious what you, yeah. Um, quick question. It's not really related to today's topic, and thank you so much for hosting this, but moving forward, I know you said there's a possibility of different times I just happened to be working from home today.

Um, when do you think you may be able to sh will you, are you thinking about shifting to possibly like evening hours for those that are on the west coast? Or what's, what are your thoughts? So, I'm gonna keep this time slot, but I might offer, I'm, I mean, not my, I'm definitely offering like more evening slots, like two or three that you guys can opt into instead.

My only concern was that, you know, there's, I, I want it to be like a group, so, um, like I don't know how many people will show up in the evenings, but I think I'm willing to do that just because I want everyone to obviously make it. Um, great question. Anybody else?

Is everybody energized or close to being energized?

I think, I think people have to go. Okay. Well thank you very much. I will see you guys next week and, uh, keep a lookout for the emails, okay. For next steps. Thank you. Take care. Bye.
